Sevenker receives prestigious award

by Kana Gleson
Antelope Staff Writer

Several University of Nebraska at Kearney Sigma Tau Delta English honor society members stationed at the annual international convention held March 24-28 in Daytona Beach, Fla. Jeannin Senker was honored by her academic pursuit of ”The Muse in William Blake's 'The Poet'” from her English 380 course. Senker was also awarded the prestigious Henry Regamy Scholarship, which was endowed in 1992 by the Senker Foundation.

Each year, this award is presented to one outstanding student scholar. We are so proud of Jeannin for winning it,” Dr. Kate Benzel, professor of English at UNK, said. Additional representatives of UNK’s Xi Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta praised Senker, who internalized the concerns of the English language and literature.

Congratulations to all who participated

by Amber Benton
Antelope Staff Writer

What is Generation Y? Just look in the mirror. The majority of UNK students enrolled right now are part of the largest social group since the Baby Boomers. To understand Gen Y, UNK students have to go no further than just knowing their own lives and dislikes, every day habits and their views about the world.

Several members of Gen Y are commonly believed to have been born between 1979 and 1994. At a population of around 60 million, Gen Y is the largest social group since the Baby Boomers. To understand Gen Y, UNK students have to go no further than just knowing their own lives and dislikes, every day habits and their views about the world.
Pleasanton student was acting suspiciously while cars in Lot 28.

Pleasanton student was acting suspiciously while cars in Lot 28.

Baseball vs. Colorado State-University.

violin, and James Cook, piano, cert features John Browand,

Central.

Campus, community and tives and received multiple coursework, according to a

and three full-time lecturers are

and alumni.

alumni and promotes interac-

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.

and alumni.
Always keep the “honey” in who think they might have a drinking problem, and tips for those individuals, you could have a drinking problem.

The night scene is another good opportunity to drink responsibly. You should enforce when planning an event that no one under the legal drinking age can attend, even on your birthday or when the alcohol is provided by the host of the event. You should be sure for your own safety and the safety of others around you. If you set your own limits and keep track of how much you are drinking, you may have a problem.

Every college student knows who has special skills on what nights, but if you plan your week and drink accordingly, those special nights may also be a problem.

For those students who are not sure when they should start drinking again, just to avoid the problem, be sure to:

- Be aware of who you are drinking with.
- Set your own limits on the amount of alcohol you will consume.
- Be aware of what is going on around you.
- Don’t let anyone pressure you into drinking.
- If you feel uncomfortable, it is okay to leave.
- If you think you have a drinking problem, seek help.

College student meets friends old and new

The movie “The Prince and Me” was released on television on April 2.

This movie tells the story of Prince Edward (Treat Williams), a prince played by Julia Stiles ( Alias) who is determined to gain your heart without the aid of a love spell. “I Hate About You” and “The Prince and Me” are both family favorites.

If you continue to lie or blame others for your actions, you may want to seek help. If you do not think trying to stop drinking is worth your time, you are not alone.

At this time, Candy and I have decided to see what we can do to help raise money for Candy and Lu.

We are hosting a grill out, a silent auction, a fashion show, and a benefit concert. Candy is also helping with the aspects of reality. Eddie is expected to return to Denmark to take his place as king while Peggy struggles between the life of a future queen and her dreams of becoming a success in the entertainment industry.

We are hosting a grill out, a silent auction, a fashion show, and a benefit concert. Candy is also helping with the aspects of reality. Eddie is expected to return to Denmark to take his place as king while Peggy struggles between the life of a future queen and her dreams of becoming a success in the entertainment industry.

As the finishes her last year of college, she has many run-of-the-mill responsibilities, including taking care of her family’s dairy farm in rural Mankato.

When I was in college in Kearney, I signed up as an Antelope, not as a Loper. Remove yourself from the college community and ask a stranger on the street what a Loper is: blank stares will abound.

I grew up in Comstock county, in a town where debate was the name of the game. If you had a topic, you could debate it. I loved the idea that the author(s) may be doing a public service by recommending the project and how to proceed with it.

When I was in college in Kearney, I signed up as an Antelope, not as a Loper. Remove yourself from the college community and ask a stranger on the street what a Loper is: blank stares will abound.

I grew up in Comstock county, in a town where debate was the name of the game. If you had a topic, you could debate it. I loved the idea that the author(s) may be doing a public service by recommending the project and how to proceed with it.
Seven game win streak shattered

by Amy Jo Hart
Antelope Staff Writer

If you ask UNK’s baseball team, they may have played 13 innings this past weekend, but it felt like 57. "The [Highlands] played a great game," said UNK Athletic Director, Doug Kristensen.

On the hill, lefty Luke Miller started the game off with a bang, giving up only two earned runs on five hits and two walks through six innings. Miller added three more runs and struck out the first two hitters he faced. Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak.

Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak. "It was a tough win," said coach Matt Webster. "I think we’re good enough to win a lot of games but in order to win them we have to play well every single day.

Senior Travis Kerkman continued the rally in the seventh inning with a fly ball single to left field. He advanced to third with a throw to the plate. bricks breached the plate for Kerkman.

This was his arm’s first debut in a game for two days. The Lopers walked away from it all with two victories, two losses, and one split.

Wednesday afternoon, UNK took the loss 6-4. Ten hits, five of which slided over the left fielder, Johnson. On the hill, lefty Luke Miller started the game off with a bang, giving up only two earned runs on five hits and two walks through six innings. Miller added three more runs and struck out the first two hitters he faced. Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak.

"The [Highlands] played a great game," said UNK Athletic Director, Doug Kristensen.

On the hill, lefty Luke Miller started the game off with a bang, giving up only two earned runs on five hits and two walks through six innings. Miller added three more runs and struck out the first two hitters he faced. Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak.

Senior Travis Kerkman continued the rally in the seventh inning with a fly ball single to left field. He advanced to third with a throw to the plate. bricks breached the plate for Kerkman.

This was his arm’s first debut in a game for two days. The Lopers walked away from it all with two victories, two losses, and one split.

Wednesday afternoon, UNK took the loss 6-4. Ten hits, five of which slided over the left fielder, Johnson. On the hill, lefty Luke Miller started the game off with a bang, giving up only two earned runs on five hits and two walks through six innings. Miller added three more runs and struck out the first two hitters he faced. Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak.

"The [Highlands] played a great game," said UNK Athletic Director, Doug Kristensen.

On the hill, lefty Luke Miller started the game off with a bang, giving up only two earned runs on five hits and two walks through six innings. Miller added three more runs and struck out the first two hitters he faced. Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak.

Senior Travis Kerkman continued the rally in the seventh inning with a fly ball single to left field. He advanced to third with a throw to the plate. bricks breached the plate for Kerkman.

This was his arm’s first debut in a game for two days. The Lopers walked away from it all with two victories, two losses, and one split.

Wednesday afternoon, UNK took the loss 6-4. Ten hits, five of which slided over the left fielder, Johnson. On the hill, lefty Luke Miller started the game off with a bang, giving up only two earned runs on five hits and two walks through six innings. Miller added three more runs and struck out the first two hitters he faced. Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak.

"The [Highlands] played a great game," said UNK Athletic Director, Doug Kristensen.

On the hill, lefty Luke Miller started the game off with a bang, giving up only two earned runs on five hits and two walks through six innings. Miller added three more runs and struck out the first two hitters he faced. Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak.

Senior Travis Kerkman continued the rally in the seventh inning with a fly ball single to left field. He advanced to third with a throw to the plate. bricks breached the plate for Kerkman.

This was his arm’s first debut in a game for two days. The Lopers walked away from it all with two victories, two losses, and one split.

Wednesday afternoon, UNK took the loss 6-4. Ten hits, five of which slided over the left fielder, Johnson. On the hill, lefty Luke Miller started the game off with a bang, giving up only two earned runs on five hits and two walks through six innings. Miller added three more runs and struck out the first two hitters he faced. Junior Adam Kreuger went 1-3 in the series against New Mexico Highlands ending their seven game win streak.
It was a high-energy performance, filled with a sense of community and connection, brought together by the power of music. The Nebraskats, a 10-member student group from UNK, provided an evening of music and camaraderie that left a lasting impression on the audience.

The group's latest album, "Rain Home," has been well-received, and the audience was eager to hear the new material. The concert began with a medley of songs from the album, including "Surface," "Rain Away," and "And So It Goes." The group's harmonies were smooth and seamless, and their arrangements were intricate and imaginative.

The Nebraskats' music draws close ties to the Omaha scene, as evidenced by the local references and material that is woven throughout their work. Their sound is a blend of pop, rock, folk, and country, with a touch of jazz and blues thrown in for good measure.

The group's musicianship is top-notch, with each member bringing their unique talents to the table. The vocals are clear and crisp, with a range of emotions that are truly heartfelt. The guitar work is intricate and detailed, with solos that are both technical and emotional.

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and demand for performances on campus, and in Kearney and surrounding communities,

Eileen Jahn, Director of UNK, is a Nebraska native, and the group's name directly refers to the place that is dear to her heart. The group's name is Shelter Belt, and the album has been produced by both

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.

Photo by Jennifer Peters

Omaha's Shelter Belt provides musical experience

by Kent Laut

The Shelterbelt Settlements that make up the Midwest are full of historic charm and unique cultures. Unlike urban cities where noise is the norm, the hills, trees, and fields of the shelterbelts are dependent on the land. The big business and busy lifestyle of the coast do not exist there. Farming and tireless traffic of the coast on the land. The big business and

For its grand finale, the entire group retook the stage with an a capella version of "Mack the Knife." The audience was swept away by the musicians' passion and commitment to their craft.

The Nebraskats are a testament to the power of music to bring people together. Their dedication to their craft and their ability to connect with their audience make them a force to be reckoned with in the Omaha music scene.
THE LOPER Programming and Activities Council reminded us the 2003-04 Misschus and Musa series last Friday night with singer/songwriter Zane Williams.

Williams has been playing for colleges for about 3 years while traveling with his wife, sightseeing and singing country music.

Before he started his traveling music career he lived in Texas, Kentucky, West Virginia and California. Williams has stayed true to these country roots as he moved around the U.S., which has made it easy for him to make a living while on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.

In the immunity challenge Wednesday night, we were to see how this quarter's survivor get's on the road.

The small crowd was feeling the challenges the Morning's new name doesn't mean they can't win. And in the winning, the Loper voted out Jeri at tribal council.
Men’s golf finishes eleventh

The UNK men’s golf team finished 11th out of 18 teams today in its finish in 18 holes of play at the par 71 UC/Cherry Creek Classic. In Edmond, Okla. The Lopers were back in action at the 27th Annual UNK, Loper Invitational. "I think they enjoy playing the remainder of the season. It is not overconfident going into the remaining opponents Colorado Christian and Metro State," head coach Ken Fischer said. "Even though the men’s team improves its score to 8.3 to 3.0, they will help us improve in the future." Fischer said. The Lopers face off against Metro State and Colorado Christian this weekend.

Grand Island senior Clark Spanl was a double winner for the Lopers taking first in the 200-meter dash and the long jump. UNK dominated in the throwing events having seven out of the top eight finishers in the shot put, discus, and javelin. "It seems to be that we were better for the gold throughout the event. There were other teams at the meet, but with the biggest competition is Ft. Wayne State. We were the top two competitors for first place," Kolar said. "For the UNK men there were seven first place finishes throughout the event.

UNK track sweeps 18 events

UNK will continue at the Division III Challenge next weekend in Emporia, Kansas, and hopes to do well at this big meet.

For the UNK men, there were eight first place finishes out of the top eight finishers in the shot put, discus, and javelin. "This is a goal for any UNK track team," Fischer said. "We're out of the top eight finishers in the long jump. Women included Kansas senior Natalie Wheat in the shot and Grand Island senior Scott Jorgensen on the discus. Kansas sophomore Kellen Jacobs was second in the hammer. Other winners for the Lopers were Lexington junior John Loe in the triple jump (45.40), Bertrand junior Mike Find in the pole vault, and Kearney sophomore Drew Tompkins in the 3,000-meter steeplechase.”

"Hopefully these four practices that we get in this week will help us improve a little bit on those negatives things and we will just get ready mentally. I think we're at the point now where we can see the finish line coming up and we know what we're doing for the running of it and I think that will give us a little extra motivation," Fischer said.

The UNK women’s tennis team is swinging into the final stages of their season. The women will face off against Metro State and Colorado Christian this weekend.

"I think they enjoy playing the remainder of the season. It is not overconfident going into the remaining opponents Colorado Christian and Metro State," head coach Ken Fischer said. "Even though the men’s team improves its score to 8.3 to 3.0, they will help us improve in the future." Fischer said. The Lopers face off against Metro State and Colorado Christian this weekend.

"I just try to remind them every week that things can fall apart quickly. I find them at the beginning of the year that you know we’ve always been a team of talkers and not really doers and I wanted to change that." The Lopes face competition represents Colorado Christian and Metro State next weekend, and the key is to improve in practice if we want to accomplish the goals of winning the RMAC conference matches so far. The Lopers are ahead of 3W Oklahoma (352). "It's a goal for any UNK track team," Fischer said. "We're out of the top eight finishers in the long jump. Women included Kansas senior Natalie Wheat in the shot and Grand Island senior Scott Jorgensen on the discus. Kansas sophomore Kellen Jacobs was second in the hammer.

"I think they enjoy playing the remainder of the season. It is not overconfident going into the remaining opponents Colorado Christian and Metro State," head coach Ken Fischer said. "Even though the men’s team improves its score to 8.3 to 3.0, they will help us improve in the future." Fischer said. The Lopers face off against Metro State and Colorado Christian this weekend. For the UNK women, there were eight first place finishes out of the top eight finishers in the shot put, discus, and javelin. "This is a goal for any UNK track team," Fischer said. "We're out of the top eight finishers in the long jump."

"I think they enjoy playing the remainder of the season. It is not overconfident going into the remaining opponents Colorado Christian and Metro State," head coach Ken Fischer said. "Even though the men’s team improves its score to 8.3 to 3.0, they will help us improve in the future." Fischer said. The Lopers face off against Metro State and Colorado Christian this weekend. For the UNK women, there were eight first place finishes out of the top eight finishers in the shot put, discus, and javelin. "This is a goal for any UNK track team," Fischer said. "We're out of the top eight finishers in the long jump."

"I think they enjoy playing the remainder of the season. It is not overconfident going into the remaining opponents Colorado Christian and Metro State," head coach Ken Fischer said. "Even though the men’s team improves its score to 8.3 to 3.0, they will help us improve in the future." Fischer said. The Lopers face off against Metro State and Colorado Christian this weekend. For the UNK women, there were eight first place finishes out of the top eight finishers in the shot put, discus, and javelin. "This is a goal for any UNK track team," Fischer said. "We're out of the top eight finishers in the long jump."

"I think they enjoy playing the remainder of the season. It is not overconfident going into the remaining opponents Colorado Christian and Metro State," head coach Ken Fischer said. "Even though the men’s team improves its score to 8.3 to 3.0, they will help us improve in the future." Fischer said. The Lopers face off against Metro State and Colorado Christian this weekend. For the UNK women, there were eight first place finishes out of the top eight finishers in the shot put, discus, and javelin. "This is a goal for any UNK track team," Fischer said. "We're out of the top eight finishers in the long jump."
Psychology students take honors at conference

by Jonas Stinson
Antelope Guest Writer

So here’s the deal, cats and kittens. I had planned to write up this last piece just like the ones before it, detailing the history of post-punk, which it came from, where it went, and where it is now, what it sounds like and who carried the torch. I was going to lay out all its major roots, pick the most important part of its influence, and show you where that little mincing ponce post-punk platters to chow down our throats while the bands love toil in relative obscurity, the more helpless I feel in the face of a music industry that seems to value product over art style. Over substance. Everywhere you look, it seems that in order to make it in the music business, you have to be as blank and unfeeling as possible, and above all, you have to be C-MERCIAL. Well, music, commercial is a dirty word. I want my music to offer something that isn’t me, to make me think and feel. I want music with heart, soul and emotion. I don’t think that’s appropriate. I don’t want to sound too much like any of the people that are connected in any way to the music business. It’s not that I’m a music snob. But, it is true that I’m not interested in the pop music business. I’ve been called a punk, and I’ve been called a rock musician, but I’ve always been interested in the pop music business. I’ve always been interested in the pop music business.

But most of the time, my love of music and art in general makes me feel like an alien. The more I see how many people have a shallow understanding of pop music, the more I realize that we are not all the same. I want to sound too much like any of the people that are connected in any way to the music business. It’s not that I’m a music snob. But, it is true that I’m not interested in the pop music business. I’ve been called a punk, and I’ve been called a rock musician, but I’ve always been interested in the pop music business. I’ve always been interested in the pop music business.

But enough of my whining, I don’t want to sound too much like any of the people that are connected in any way to the music business. It’s not that I’m a music snob. But, it is true that I’m not interested in the pop music business. I’ve been called a punk, and I’ve been called a rock musician, but I’ve always been interested in the pop music business. I’ve always been interested in the pop music business.

A Brief History of Punk Part III: Post-Punk

by Jonas Stinson
Antelope Guest Writer

Psychology students take honors at conference

by Jonas Stinson
Antelope Guest Writer

Neve’s The Week of April 8, 2004

A Selection of Panel Discussion On First Glance—A Discussion Concerning the Importance of Field Experience in a Student’s Career. (Faculty Mentor: Krista Fritson)

Panel Discussion Not Judged

Lauren Kate Nickell’s The Relationships of Personality as an Underlying Effect of Eating Disorders. (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach, Awarded 1st Place)

David Plantz & Brent Hamilton’s Addicted Personality Disorder: Fact or Fiction? (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach)

Nayanna Costa’s Analysis of Conflict in College Roommates based on Family Size and Sibling Relationships. (Faculty Mentor: Bob Rybeck, Awarded 1st Place)

Kristen Halpine’s ‘The Effects of Gender, Personality Characteristics, and Self-Esteem on Jealousy. (Faculty Mentor: Rick Rybeck, Awarded 2nd Place)

Chadie Soudi’s ‘A Comparison of Laypersons and Law Enforcement on Predictions of Psychology and Law Research Outcomes. (Faculty Mentor: Kristen Forrest), Awarded 1st Place.

Jenna Fitzer’s ‘Females’ Perception of Another’s Body Size. (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach), Awarded 2nd Place.

Brett McCandless’ ‘The Effects of Group Cohesion on Dissociated Eating in Athletes. (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach), Awarded 1st Place.

Most of the research that was presented were research projects that were com- pleted last semester. The results of the conference are as follows:

David Plantz: Internship Panel Discussion On First Glance—A Discussion Concerning the Importance of Field Experience in a Student’s Career. (Faculty Mentor: Krista Fritson)

Panel Discussion Not Judged

Lauren Kate Nickell’s The Relationships of Personality as an Underlying Effect of Eating Disorders. (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach, Awarded 1st Place)

David Plantz & Brent Hamilton’s Addicted Personality Disorder: Fact or Fiction? (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach)

Nayanna Costa’s Analysis of Conflict in College Roommates based on Family Size and Sibling Relationships. (Faculty Mentor: Bob Rybeck, Awarded 1st Place)

Kristen Halpine’s ‘The Effects of Gender, Personality Characteristics, and Self-Esteem on Jealousy. (Faculty Mentor: Rick Rybeck, Awarded 2nd Place)

Chadie Soudi’s ‘A Comparison of Laypersons and Law Enforcement on Predictions of Psychology and Law Research Outcomes. (Faculty Mentor: Kristen Forrest), Awarded 1st Place.

Jenna Fitzer’s ‘Females’ Perception of Another’s Body Size. (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach), Awarded 2nd Place.

Brett McCandless’ ‘The Effects of Group Cohesion on Dissociated Eating in Athletes. (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach), Awarded 1st Place.

Dr. Miller said, “Our students are three times more likely to lay out all its major roots, pick the most important part of its influence, and show you where that little mincing ponce did remarkably well, with nine awards out of a total of 13 judged papers. This ratio of suc- cess was the best at the conference and the total number of awards was also the highest, even though we were not the largest contingent. UNK stu- dents also participated in a non- professional conference.

So here’s the deal, cats and kittens. I had planned to write up this last piece just like the ones before it, detailing the history of post-punk, which it came from, where it went, and where it is now, what it sounds like and who carried the torch. I was going to lay out all its major roots, pick the most important part of its influence, and show you where that little mincing ponce post-punk flag, but mostly, I want feedback from you. I want to know what you thought of your own music, the music with heart, soul and emotion. I don’t think that’s appropriate. I don’t want to sound too much like any of the people that are connected in any way to the music business. It’s not that I’m a music snob. But, it is true that I’m not interested in the pop music business. I’ve been called a punk, and I’ve been called a rock musician, but I’ve always been interested in the pop music business. I’ve always been interested in the pop music business.

But enough of my whining, I don’t want to sound too much like any of the people that are connected in any way to the music business. It’s not that I’m a music snob. But, it is true that I’m not interested in the pop music business. I’ve been called a punk, and I’ve been called a rock musician, but I’ve always been interested in the pop music business. I’ve always been interested in the pop music business.

Effects of Gender, Personality Characteristics, and Self-Esteem on Jealousy. (Faculty Mentor: Rick Rybeck, Awarded 2nd Place)

Chadie Soudi’s ‘A Comparison of Laypersons and Law Enforcement on Predictions of Psychology and Law Research Outcomes. (Faculty Mentor: Kristen Forrest), Awarded 1st Place.

Jenna Fitzer’s ‘Females’ Perception of Another’s Body Size. (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach), Awarded 2nd Place.

Brett McCandless’ ‘The Effects of Group Cohesion on Dissociated Eating in Athletes. (Faculty Mentor: Jean Mandernach), Awarded 1st Place.

Dr. Miller said, “Our students are three times more likely to lay out all its major roots, pick the most important part of its influence, and show you where that little mincing ponce post-punk flag, but mostly, I want feedback from you. I want to know what you thought of your own music, the music with heart, soul and emotion. I don’t think that’s appropriate. I don’t want to sound too much like any of the people that are connected in any way to the music business. It’s not that I’m a music snob. But, it is true that I’m not interested in the pop music business. I’ve been called a punk, and I’ve been called a rock musician, but I’ve always been interested in the pop music business. I’ve always been interested in the pop music business.

But enough of my whining, I don’t want to sound too much like any of the people that are connected in any way to the music business. It’s not that I’m a music snob. But, it is true that I’m not interested in the pop music business. I’ve been called a punk, and I’ve been called a rock musician, but I’ve always been interested in the pop music business. I’ve always been interested in the pop music business.
The Nebraska Young Democrats knocked off their aggressive 2004 election activities with a 12-county road trip around Nebraska from March 29 - April 2.

A big yellow school bus pulled campus-to-campus from central and eastern Nebraska. The big yellow school bus was in the lead on Wednesday, March 30, and from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. the Nebraska Young Democrats congregated around the campus fountain.

The Nebraska Young Democrats main focus was to highlight issues important to younger voters and emphasize the Democratic Party’s commitment to Nebraska’s youth.

“Our week long bus trip is meant to energize the young voter, and try to get them excited about the election,” Kevin Bormann, a Nebraska Young Democrats representative from Lincoln, said.

The UNK Campus Democrats met with the Nebraska Young Democrats and voted to hand out voter registration applications, information about the democratic process, and gave students the opportunity to join the UNK Campus Democrats.

Approximately 15 students were in attendance, representing the Democratic Party.

A couple students walked around the fountain carrying American flags and telling students “to give peace a chance” while John Lennon’s “Imagine” played in the background.

“This road trip is an opportunity to show Nebraska that the Democratic Party offers a progressive, common-sense alternative to the Republican status-quo agenda.”

The road trip began on March 29 with a rally on the UNK campus at 11 a.m. Former U.S. Senator J.J. Emerson joined various Democratic candidates and elected officials at the commencement event.

Students from the University of Nebraska at Omaha, University of Nebraska-Omaha, University of Nebraska-Kearney, Wayne State,Creighton University, Hastings College, Dana College, Nebraska Wesleyan University, and various youth organizations participated in this year’s road trip.

“We’re here today to prove that even in Nebraska there are young Democrats ready for a chance,” Craig Morey, UNK Campus Democrats president, said.

The UNK Campus Democrats meet every two weeks. Their next meeting is April 8 at 4 p.m. in the History Conference Room in Copeland Hall. Morey welcomes any student to attend and meet the rest of the UNK Campus Democrats.

The upcoming election is on May 11, and it is a critical time for Nebraska and for America. The Democratic Party’s platform includes providing better funding for education, responsive economic policies that create growth and opportunity, agricultural policies that increase rural development and protect family farmers, and lighting poverty and ensuring America works for everyone.

“Energizing Nebraska’s youth in affect to important elections up and down the ballot. This unprecedented event is going to be the catalyst in changing Nebraska’s political landscape,” Russell said.

Business Week printed an article predicting that the Election 2004 could not see an increase in votes between the ages of 18 - 24 because their attitudes are changing towards voting.

Information about the candidate is also available online. Internet creating easy access, and making it easier to decide whom to vote for and why. It has made a dramatic shift because of the wide use of the Internet among young Americans.

Young Americans becoming more involved in the voting process, and several ad campaigns are promising voter registration to the young age group.

On May 11, support your local candidates and go vote. For more information about the Nebraska Young Democrats visit their web site at www.nebraskayoungdemocrats.org.
Dr.s Kate and Mike Benzel

Faculty Spotlight

Women's studies program in 1999 and served as director from 1999 to 2003. The current faculty member of the year is Dr. Kate Benzel, who is also one of the contributors to this program. Dr. Benzel is known for her research in the fields of women's studies, gender, and human rights.

MBA program at the University of Toledo, where I completed my undergraduate degree. At the time, I was the night manager of a pizza place in Redlands, Calif., but they couldn't hire me because I didn't have an education degree. At the time, I was the night manager of a pizza place in Redlands, Calif., but they couldn't hire me because I didn't have an education degree.

I'm an English major, with a focus on literature and writing. I've always wanted to be a writer, and I started writing poetry when I was in high school. I went to several colleges: San Bernadino Valley College and the University of California at Santa Barbara. After I graduated from Riverside, I applied for a teaching job at the University of California at Santa Barbara, but I was turned down. I was turned down because I didn't have the proper degree.

I'm forever a fan of the Beatles. I joke with them that no, we named our son after William Blake. I believe in the idea that people should name their children after the people they admire. "The Marriage of Heaven and Hell" and "The Four Zoas" are fine works. People have asked if we named our son Mike after him, but I believe it's important to name children after people you admire.

I'm also a fan of the Beatles. I believe in the idea that people should name their children after the people they admire. "The Marriage of Heaven and Hell" and "The Four Zoas" are fine works. People have asked if we named our son Mike after him, but I believe it's important to name children after people you admire.

I'm also a fan of the Beatles. I believe in the idea that people should name their children after the people they admire. "The Marriage of Heaven and Hell" and "The Four Zoas" are fine works. People have asked if we named our son Mike after him, but I believe it's important to name children after people you admire.

I'm also a fan of the Beatles. I believe in the idea that people should name their children after the people they admire. "The Marriage of Heaven and Hell" and "The Four Zoas" are fine works. People have asked if we named our son Mike after him, but I believe it's important to name children after people you admire.

I'm also a fan of the Beatles. I believe in the idea that people should name their children after the people they admire. "The Marriage of Heaven and Hell" and "The Four Zoas" are fine works. People have asked if we named our son Mike after him, but I believe it's important to name children after people you admire.