Trayless Tuesdays an effort to ‘go green’

BY JENNY GIERHAN
Antelope Staff

Beginning in November, Charter’s staff will pack away all the trays on Tuesdays in an effort to cut down on waste. No trays will be given to any person eating in either the Charlton or the Nebraska Student Union, LSR and LSRN.

Director of Dining Services James Paul II said he had heard the idea for Trayless Tuesdays from an article he had read that had been shared via email by both self operated and contract food service management corporations that showed how these kinds of actions reduce water, chemical and waste consumption.

This is another way companies are trying to go green.”

Paul II said he had heard the idea from an article that he had read that showed how these kinds of actions reduce water, chemical and waste consumption.

This is another way companies are trying to go green.”

Trayless Tuesday I thought it would be easy to try. All change is hard in the beginning said, “At first when I heard about the idea of trayless Tuesday because he believes it will help save water, chemical and waste consumption.”

If that is the case, then the percentage of the youth who are first-time voters who plan to vote is relatively low. This leaves potentially 88 percent who are first-time voters who plan to vote. This leaves potentially 88 percent who are first-time voters who plan to vote.

The race has been extremely close over the past 16 years and the national level of youth support, McCain certainly has historically favored the Democratic Party. But what does this mean for the nation as a whole?

In the UNK student survey, 90 percent say that Nebraska will remain a red state this year, even if the youth do come out in record numbers. However, Nebraska is one of only two states in the country that can split the electoral vote between Democrats and Republicans depending on how the residents vote. This is why every vote counts, and why the youth have the capacity to make their voices heard, especially in Nebraska.

The political parties continue to worry about the youth vote. The youth is a crucial voting bloc, especially in Nebraska. According to Gallup Daily Tracking, 62 percent of young people support Obama, while only 34 percent support McCain. Compare that to the tiny one percent lead Obama holds among those 65 years old and older. Who, according to the Federal Election Commission, is the largest minority group in our society.

Political pundits speculate whether the youth of the nation will reach their voting potential during this closely contested election.

The country is getting younger. The United States’ 2007 birth to death ratio was 14.2 to 8.3, respectively, and Young Democrats of America estimates that by 2015, the youth will make up nearly one-third of the electorate. What makes the youth demographic even more interesting is that they are more diverse than ever before in the country, with 39 percent currently identify as non-white. They have been massive efforts by the Democratic campaign to encourage the youth to vote. The youth vote is crucial because it is the first time many young people will have a chance to make their voices heard, especially in Nebraska.

The results of the UNK student survey are based on 120 students’ opinions, all U.S. citizens, in a volunteer two-sample survey held between Oct. 22 and Oct. 24.

See more results of Flaherty’s campus survey on page 4.
FALL 2008 STAFF

Any opinions expressed in column, columns, submitted column or advertisements are the views of the submitted writer, editor or writer. Any submitted column or advertisements must be appropriate. Advertisements
exceeding the size of the view
must be approved by the Advertising Manager. Advertisements
with more than one advertisement
must be printed one at a time for verification. Deadline for publication is Monday, at noon.
Each advertisement is punched out at the time of publication. Letters to be printed are the responsibility of
the individual writer.

Antelope News Staff
Amanda Baff, Monday-Career; Carla Linder, Tuesday-Editorial; Bobbi
Kearney, Wednesday-Sports; Drew
Nunn, Thursday-Features; Matt
Tesch, Friday-Society; Bobbi
Kearney, Saturday-Editorial; Anna
Wright, Saturday-Features.

Ad Staff
Amanda Baff, Emma Hinkle, John
Riel, Brandi Flowers, Michael
Gummert, Korys Kato, Kori
Kato, Amanda Goodenberger, Cara
Farnham, Sara Goodenberger, Mike
Hays, Sarah Sweney-Mulder,
April Baf.

Affiliates
Sarah Sweney-Mulder, Editor
Kristen Breckenman, Assistant
Editor/Photo Editor
Abyla Hubbard, Advertising
Manager
Megan Gernagolch, Design Editor
Karrie Flaherty, News Editor
Mandi Bahn, Copy Editor
Kaitlyn Neume, Features Editor
Josh Kaufman, Sports Editor
Anthony Will, Web Manager
Kayla Fischer, Social Media
Brandon Manager
Terrill Diffenbacher, Art Director

Sarah Sweney-Mulder, Editor
Kristen Breckenman, Assistant
Editor/Photo Editor
Abyla Hubbard, Advertising
Manager
Megan Gernagolch, Design Editor
Karrie Flaherty, News Editor
Mandi Bahn, Copy Editor
Kaitlyn Neume, Features Editor
Josh Kaufman, Sports Editor
Anthony Will, Web Manager
Kayla Fischer, Social Media
Brandon Manager
Terrill Diffenbacher, Art Director

The Antelope is a publication of the University of Nebraska at Kearney. The Antelope is published Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, during the academic year. All contents, including, but not limited to columns, columns, and advertisements are the views of the submitted writer, editor or writer. Any submitted column or
advertisements must be
appropriate. Advertisements
exceeding the size of the view
must be approved by the
Advertising Manager. Advertisements
with more than one advertisement
must be printed one at a time for verification. Deadline for
publication is Monday, at noon.
Each advertisement is punched out
at the time of publication. Letters to
be printed are the responsibility of
the individual writer.

Antelope News Staff
Amanda Baff, Monday-Career; Carla Linder, Tuesday-Editorial; Bobbi
Kearney, Wednesday-Sports; Drew
Nunn, Thursday-Features; Matt
Tesch, Friday-Society; Bobbi
Kearney, Saturday-Editorial; Anna
Wright, Saturday-Features.

Ad Staff
Amanda Baff, Emma Hinkle, John
Riel, Brandi Flowers, Michael
Gummert, Korys Kato, Kori
Kato, Amanda Goodenberger, Cara
Farnham, Sara Goodenberger, Mike
Hays, Sarah Sweney-Mulder,
April Baf.

Affiliates
Sarah Sweney-Mulder, Editor
Kristen Breckenman, Assistant
Editor/Photo Editor
Abyla Hubbard, Advertising
Manager
Megan Gernagolch, Design Editor
Karrie Flaherty, News Editor
Mandi Bahn, Copy Editor
Kaitlyn Neume, Features Editor
Josh Kaufman, Sports Editor
Anthony Will, Web Manager
Kayla Fischer, Social Media
Brandon Manager
Terrill Diffenbacher, Art Director

The Antelope is a publication of the University of Nebraska at Kearney. The Antelope is published Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, during the academic year. All contents, including, but not limited to columns, columns, and advertisements are the views of the submitted writer, editor or writer. Any submitted column or
advertisements must be
appropriate. Advertisements
exceeding the size of the view
must be approved by the
Advertising Manager. Advertisements
with more than one advertisement
must be printed one at a time for verification. Deadline for
publication is Monday, at noon.
Each advertisement is punched out
at the time of publication. Letters to
be printed are the responsibility of
the individual writer.

Antelope News Staff
Amanda Baff, Monday-Career; Carla Linder, Tuesday-Editorial; Bobbi
Kearney, Wednesday-Sports; Drew
Nunn, Thursday-Features; Matt
Tesch, Friday-Society; Bobbi
Kearney, Saturday-Editorial; Anna
Wright, Saturday-Features.

Ad Staff
Amanda Baff, Emma Hinkle, John
Riel, Brandi Flowers, Michael
Gummert, Korys Kato, Kori
Kato, Amanda Goodenberger, Cara
Farnham, Sara Goodenberger, Mike
Hays, Sarah Sweney-Mulder,
April Baf.

Affiliates
Sarah Sweney-Mulder, Editor
Kristen Breckenman, Assistant
Editor/Photo Editor
Abyla Hubbard, Advertising
Manager
Megan Gernagolch, Design Editor
Karrie Flaherty, News Editor
Mandi Bahn, Copy Editor
Kaitlyn Neume, Features Editor
Josh Kaufman, Sports Editor
Anthony Will, Web Manager
Kayla Fischer, Social Media
Brandon Manager
Terrill Diffenbacher, Art Director

The Antelope is a publication of the University of Nebraska at Kearney. The Antelope is published Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, during the academic year. All contents, including, but not limited to columns, columns, and advertisements are the views of the submitted writer, editor or writer. Any submitted column or
advertisements must be
appropriate. Advertisements
exceeding the size of the view
must be approved by the
Advertising Manager. Advertisements
with more than one advertisement
must be printed one at a time for verification. Deadline for
publication is Monday, at noon.
Each advertisement is punched out
at the time of publication. Letters to
be printed are the responsibility of
the individual writer.

Antelope News Staff
Amanda Baff, Monday-Career; Carla Linder, Tuesday-Editorial; Bobbi
Kearney, Wednesday-Sports; Drew
Nunn, Thursday-Features; Matt
Tesch, Friday-Society; Bobbi
Kearney, Saturday-Editorial; Anna
Wright, Saturday-Features.

Ad Staff
Amanda Baff, Emma Hinkle, John
Riel, Brandi Flowers, Michael
Gummert, Korys Kato, Kori
Kato, Amanda Goodenberger, Cara
Farnham, Sara Goodenberger, Mike
Hays, Sarah Sweney-Mulder,
April Baf.

Affiliates
Sarah Sweney-Mulder, Editor
Kristen Breckenman, Assistant
Editor/Photo Editor
Abyla Hubbard, Advertising
Manager
Megan Gernagolch, Design Editor
Karrie Flaherty, News Editor
Mandi Bahn, Copy Editor
Kaitlyn Neume, Features Editor
Josh Kaufman, Sports Editor
Anthony Will, Web Manager
Kayla Fischer, Social Media
Brandon Manager
Terrill Diffenbacher, Art Director

The Antelope is a publication of the University of Nebraska at Kearney. The Antelope is published Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, during the academic year. All contents, including, but not limited to columns, columns, and advertisements are the views of the submitted writer, editor or writer. Any submitted column or
advertisements must be
appropriate. Advertisements
exceeding the size of the view
must be approved by the
Advertising Manager. Advertisements
with more than one advertisement
must be printed one at a time for verification. Deadline for
publication is Monday, at noon.
Each advertisement is punched out
at the time of publication. Letters to
be printed are the responsibility of
the individual writer.

Antelope News Staff
Amanda Baff, Monday-Career; Carla Linder, Tuesday-Editorial; Bobbi
Kearney, Wednesday-Sports; Drew
Nunn, Thursday-Features; Matt
Tesch, Friday-Society; Bobbi
Kearney, Saturday-Editorial; Anna
Wright, Saturday-Features.

Ad Staff
Amanda Baff, Emma Hinkle, John
Riel, Brandi Flowers, Michael
Gummert, Korys Kato, Kori
Kato, Amanda Goodenberger, Cara
Farnham, Sara Goodenberger, Mike
Hays, Sarah Sweney-Mulder,
April Baf.

Affiliates
Sarah Sweney-Mulder, Editor
Kristen Breckenman, Assistant
Editor/Photo Editor
Abyla Hubbard, Advertising
Manager
Megan Gernagolch, Design Editor
Karrie Flaherty, News Editor
Mandi Bahn, Copy Editor
Kaitlyn Neume, Features Editor
Josh Kaufman, Sports Editor
Anthony Will, Web Manager
Kayla Fischer, Social Media
Brandon Manager
Terrill Diffenbacher, Art Director

The Antelope is a publication of the University of Nebraska at Kearney. The Antelope is published Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, during the academic year. All contents, including, but not limited to columns, columns, and advertisements are the views of the submitted writer, editor or writer. Any submitted column or
advertisements must be
appropriate. Advertisements
exceeding the size of the view
must be approved by the
Advertising Manager. Advertisements
with more than one advertisement
must be printed one at a time for verification. Deadline for
publication is Monday, at noon.
Each advertisement is punched out
at the time of publication. Letters to
be printed are the responsibility of
the individual writer.
Features
Laidy by Katrina Noccus

PLATE LAKE BREWBURY

HOP GARDEN IS OPEN

11720 Platteview

Press PAUSE to stop

Photo by Sapana Upadhyay

It’s the great pumpkin”

Photo by Katrina Noccus

Congratulations to the seniors of Conrad Hall who will be moving out. We’ll miss you! Enjoy your years ahead, and have fun! Heading to a great new chapter of your lives, we wish you success and happiness in the future.

Features
Laidy by Katrina Noccus

PLATE LAKE BREWBURY

HOP GARDEN IS OPEN

11720 Platteview

Press PAUSE to stop

Photo by Sapana Upadhyay

It’s the great pumpkin”

Photo by Katrina Noccus

Congratulations to the seniors of Conrad Hall who will be moving out. We’ll miss you! Enjoy your years ahead, and have fun! Heading to a great new chapter of your lives, we wish you success and happiness in the future.
UNK Student Senate urges you to be informed and vote

The survey asked respondents to rate what they thought were the top five most important issues facing the country today. Overall, the economy was the number one most important issue, with over 90% of students saying they were concerned. Education, the war on terror, taxes, and issues surrounding the abortion debate rounded out the top five.

The survey respondents were also asked to rate their top three sources of information. Television took the number one spot, with nearly 90% of students saying they use that medium. Official news websites and local newspapers followed.

The youth (college) vote has suffered low-voter-turnout since its conception. It seems that every year the participation and voting level drops more as the years progress. However, this year may be an exception. It is well known that this year will, in fact, be a history-making presidential election. So far, this election promises to yield high voter turnout according to CNN and FOX news.

The Government Liaison Committee, a committee in the UNK Student Senate, has held civic engagement symposiums for college students to inform them about this year’s election and how important it is to vote and make a difference. One of their most recent campaigns has been printing and distributing “VOTE” posters around all the UNK residence halls to remind all the students to register and vote! Jordan Gonzales, a UNK Student Senator and Chairman of the Government Liaison Committee, said “No matter what party you are or aren’t affiliated with, it is imperative that you vote on November 4. This election might create a tidal wave of civic engagement and encourage all potential voters to register and actually vote.”

He went on to say, “In order for an effective democracy to work, you must have effective citizens who will take the time to learn about the candidates and their platforms. It is our duty as U.S. citizens to know what the candidates stand for and then vote.”

Everyone on the Government Liaison Committee is working in a non-partisan way to help get students registered and to vote! Gonzales also stated, “Even if your candidate doesn’t win, democracy wins because it demonstrates that you really care about your government and that want to voice your own opinion.”

So as Election Day draws nearer, get to know the candidates, on the local, state and national level. And remember Nov. 4 is Election Day!

---

\[\text{Graph showing vote according to field of study.} \]

\[\text{Graph showing what issues are most important to UNK students.} \]

\[\text{Graph showing where do UNK students get their election information?} \] Q: At this point in the election, which candidate are you leaning towards?
A: “I’m definitely voting for McCain. His views on both the conservative and faith issues mean a lot to me.”

Erik Miller
Campus Crusade

Q: Which candidate will be elected for vice president?
A: “I don’t know about her being vice president, but it is neat that Sarah Palin is in the position she is in with her experience.”

Kelly Brown
Formerly Buckeye, Azr.
Admissions Processor

Q: What issues will affect how you will vote in the upcoming election?
A: “How each party plans to handle the war overseas is a major issue that will hold a lot of weight in my decision.”

Sophomore Danny Becker
Omaha
Exercise science

Q: What candidate are you leaning towards?

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 29, 2008

Q: Which candidate is the best choice for college students?
A: “My family is traditionally Republican, but I’m voting for Obama because he wants to increase the Pell grant. He supports tax credits for college students and middle-class tax cuts that will affect real families.”

Sophomore Jordan Gonzalez
Morrill, Neb.
Political science

Q: Do you think Sarah Palin is a good candidate for president?
A: “More power to her. She’s a governor, therefore she must know what she’s doing.”

Sophomore Blake Milliap
Kearney
Construction Management

Q: Of the two presidential candidates, whose views do you disagree with and why?
A: “Obama’s. He is too liberal. He’s pro-abortion and has statistoc tendencies, and I don’t think he’s nearly as experienced and capable of handling foreign affairs. I think he’s unreliable. He doesn’t have firm convictions.”

Sophomore Cheri Theesen
Hastings
Social Work

Q: Who will you vote for in the Presidential Election and why?

Rochelle Krueger
Curriculum associate

Q: After watching the presidential debate how did you feel about the candidates?
A: “I decided to vote for McCain because I agreed with more of his views and goals than I did Obama’s.”

Sophomore Paige Wixel
Lincoln
Forensic science

Q: What is the most important issue that will affect who you will vote for in this election?
A: “I’m a pre-med student, so health care is an important issue because it involves my future career.”

Sophomore Kendra Sills
Herndon, Kan.
Pre-med/Spanish translation

Q: What will you be voting for?
A: “I’m definitely voting for McCain. His views on both the conservative and faith issues mean a lot to me.”

Sophomore Blake Milliap
Kearney
Construction Management

FOR MORE INFORMATION:
www.collegevote.ne.gov
NOVEMBER 4th, 2008
The Nebraska-Kearney Women’s Swimming & Diving Team returned to the pool this past weekend, competing in four duals in Colorado Springs and Denver.

On Friday, UNK (1-5) beat Metro State, 85-50, and fell to the host Colorado College Tigers, 80-35. The next day in Denver, the Lopers fell to Colorado School of Mines, 120-58-85-30, and to the Division I Denver Pioneers, 174-63.

Junior diver Annie Moyer of Lincoln led the way Friday as she won both one (233.62) and three meters (216.30). Shallowing pool depth, freshman Jonathan McKeever of Wichita was runner up in both events, scoring 181.12 (three meters) and 181.18 (one meter) points. In the pool, UNK lost both efforts from Lincoln freshman Mandy Schuster in the 100 free (58.91) and from freshman Heather Gloss of Pierre, S.D. in the 50 free (26.84) and 100 backstroke (1:07.16). Also, freshman Shannon Bemis of Cheyenne defeated Colo. breaststroker in the 100 breast (1:25.43) and in the 200 breaststroke (2:51.44).

At DU, Moyer tallied 185.65 points to place second to Denver’s Elizabeth Votich on the one-meter board. Both she and McKeever (184.65) finished ahead of the Pioneers’ other diver.

Gloc led the way in the pool, having a third place effort in the 100 breaststroke (1:17.44) and finishing fourth in the 100 backstroke (26.39). Also making the finals in the 100 breaststroke was freshman Comer of Olalla, Kan. (48.01/20.94). UNK hosts UNO Nov. 7 at 5 p.m.

Volleyball keeps rolling despite loss of Clausen

BY CALLIE ERIKSON

It was a victorious weekend for the University of Nebraska-Kearney UNK) Volleyball Team as they picked up a pair of wins in their matches against Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference (RMAC) teams Regis and Metro State.

The Lopers defeated the Regis Rangers in four sets (25-7, 24-25, 24-25, 25-20) on Friday and conquered the Metro State Roadrunners (25-13, 25-16, 25-16, 25-24) on Sunday.

UNK is now 26-2 on the season and 14-1 in RMAC play, the longest streak since the 2005 season. The road to recovery may not be as easy as the Lopers would love, however, as they are undefeated this season and 14-1 in RMAC play.

After switching regions, the Lopers are matched with teams that are highly competitive. Defending National Champion Concordia-St. Paul and other highly ranked teams are now in the same region as UNK. Winning the RMAC Championships and regionals are at the top of their list.

With only five games of regular season play left before the RMAC Championships, the Lopers look to their team goals for the season and 14-1 in RMAC play.

“On Sunday, we are working on maintaining intensity throughout practice and getting better each day. Clausen said.

“They are working on five regular stage players. We are working on maintaining intensity throughout practice and getting better each day.”

Clausen said.

Coach has made some changes in the line-up, but that hasn’t changed the way we have been playing,” junior Shannon Bemis of Cheyenne defeated Colo. breaststroker in the 100 breast (1:25.44) and in the 200 breaststroke (2:51.44).
The Nebraska-Kearney Cross Country Teams each placed seventh at the 2008 RMAC Championships Saturday morning in Grand Junction, Colo., to earn All-RMAC honors.

Individuals. Top-distance runner tomatoes help 21st at the RMAC Championships Saturday in Grand Junction, Colo., to earn All-RMAC honors. Fruit is only the 8th UNK man to earn the honor.

Coach Chad Lydiatt.

"This was a very good way to start our season, building confidence in the girls and their abilities to compete," Lydiatt said.

The team will now work on their cardio and weight training, still going to the Kearney Country Club to work on their swing with an indoor hitting net.

The golf teams will kick off the spring season in February and are looking to build on what they accomplished in the fall.

The Nebraska-Kearney Cross Country Teams each placed seventh at the 2008 RMAC Championships Saturday morning in Grand Junction, Colo., to earn All-RMAC honors. Fruit is only the 8th UNK man to earn the honor.

Coach Chad Lydiatt.

"This was a very good way to start our season, building confidence in the girls and their abilities to compete," Lydiatt said.

The team will now work on their cardio and weight training, still going to the Kearney Country Club to work on their swing with an indoor hitting net.

The golf teams will kick off the spring season in February and are looking to build on what they accomplished in the fall.

The Nebraska-Kearney Cross Country Teams each placed seventh at the 2008 RMAC Championships Saturday morning in Grand Junction, Colo., to earn All-RMAC honors. Fruit is only the 8th UNK man to earn the honor.

Coach Chad Lydiatt.

"This was a very good way to start our season, building confidence in the girls and their abilities to compete," Lydiatt said.

The team will now work on their cardio and weight training, still going to the Kearney Country Club to work on their swing with an indoor hitting net.

The golf teams will kick off the spring season in February and are looking to build on what they accomplished in the fall.
Recognition, appreciation and respect are a few reasons why several students are members of the UNK band, and they will receive all of these along with a warm welcome when they travel to Rome this December.

Clarinet player Eryn McBride, senior physical science and psychobiology major from Kearney, said that being a member of the band takes hours of practice and requires enormous amounts of dedication, and that in preparing for Rome she will have to put countless more hours in to be ready.

The band has selected the music that they will play in Italy based on what was most liked from the previous trip, and they will soon start practicing for the parades they will perform in.

McBride went on the trip to Rome her freshman year and said she had an awesome time. She said the most memorable experience from her last trip was the impromptu performance outside Vatican City. McBride said they were packing up their instruments, and the drum line was finishing their cadence when people started gathering around. Then, the crowds soon amounted to hundreds cheering on the drum line. People were dancing on top of cars, videotaping the band and hanging out of their apartment windows nearby. Italians bands don’t have percussion sections like we have, so they went crazy when they listened to us,” McBride said.

To prepare for the trip, McBride said that she is trying to immerse herself with the Italian culture and is trying to learn some of the language from a phrase book. She said the Italians appreciated and respected that some of the students took time to learn about their culture, history and language.

“People were dancing on top of cars, videotaping our band and hanging out of their apartment windows nearby.”

Senior clarinet player Eryn McBride

Pride of the Plains to march in Rome on New Year’s ‘09

“The culture is just so different in Italy, and visiting another culture just gives you so much more insight into seeing how the world works.”

BY TARA PURDIE
Antelope Staff

The UNK Pride of the Plains Marching Band marches toward St. Peter’s Square on Jan. 1, 2006, to the annual Papal New Year address and blessing. The band will again travel to Rome this December.

IF YOU don’t RECOGNIZE THE NUMBER, ANSWER WITH AN ACCENT.

With Free Incoming Calls, you never pay for the calls you get, no matter who they’re from.

getusc.com

©2008 U.S. Cellular

Features

Recognition, appreciation and respect are a few reasons why several students are members of the UNK band, and they will receive all of these along with a warm welcome when they travel to Rome this December.

Clarinet player Eryn McBride, senior physical science and psychobiology major from Kearney, said that being a member of the band takes hours of practice and requires enormous amounts of dedication, and that in preparing for Rome she will have to put countless more hours in to be ready.

The band has selected the music that they will play in Italy based on what was most liked from the previous trip, and they will soon start practicing for the parades they will perform in.

McBride went on the trip to Rome her freshman year and said she had an awesome time. She said the most memorable experience from her last trip was the impromptu performance outside Vatican City. McBride said they were packing up their instruments, and the drum line was finishing their cadence when people started gathering around. Then, the crowds soon amounted to hundreds cheering on the drum line. People were dancing on top of cars, videotaping the band and hanging out of their apartment windows nearby. Italians bands don’t have percussion sections like we have, so they went crazy when they listened to us,” McBride said.

To prepare for the trip, McBride said that she is trying to immerse herself with the Italian culture and is trying to learn some of the language from a phrase book. She said the Italians appreciated and respected that some of the students took time to learn about their culture, history and language.

“The culture is just so different in Italy, and visiting another culture just gives you so much more insight into seeing how the world works.”

Senior clarinet player Eryn McBride

Kearney

The culture is just so different in Italy, and visiting another culture just gives you so much more insight into seeing how the world works.”

Senior clarinet player Eryn McBride

Kearney