CLASSES

BLUE & GOLD

Why a Four Year Curriculum?

"Why are not Normal Schools content to present two years of college work and present that well?" is a question often put by two classes of people. One of these is composed of those who profess to be sticklers for "scholarship" by which they mean "the three R's" or some other factual exercise. The other is composed of those who are jealous of the rapidly increasing prestige of the Teachers Colleges.

To the first of these classes it should be pointed out that teaching is hourly becoming intensively and actually professional and that the mere academician is never so. Two college years is not enough time to acquire more than a perfunctory thoroughness in academics and not enough of that.

To the second class it should be apparent that the people at large, patrons of the public schools, are becoming increasingly competent to criticise the art of teaching and are not going much longer to tolerate the domination of high schools by embryo druggists, civil engineers, veterinary surgeons and the like. The public is demanding professional services in the ranks of high school teachers.

Furthermore, it should be observed that there is a wide spread tendency all over the nation to raise the qualifications of teachers. California already has demanded two college years of training as a condition of eligibility to teach. That state now is in the midst of an effort to raise that standard to four college years. Hence, the anxiety of the former Normal Schools everywhere to broaden their curriculum rather than circumscribe it.

In connection with the above it should be remembered that school authorities everywhere rapidly are getting away from the fallacy that "anyone can teach a primary grade." More and more educational authorities are coming to the sane view that the necessity for teachers of broad scholarship and splendid technical skill is most urgent in the elementary grades. The pupil who has been well trained in the beginning of his elementary school course frequently is able to continue his education in spite of poor instruction in the high school. Hitherto the greatest amount of treasure of the supporters of the public school has been poured into the high school. The day is not far distant when the preponderance of support will be lodged where it logically belongs, in the elementary grades. State Teachers Colleges have, therefore, but made wise preparation for future demands in broadening their curriculum to four college years of training. Most of their product will naturally gravitate to the ranks of teachers of elementary grades. With the provision that has been made for obtaining baccalaureate work in these institutions the outlook for the future of the school children of America is bright.

Senior History.

To tell in full the glorious history
Of the class of twenty-four
Would be a burden most stupendous
We'll tell the chief things, nothing more.

In September, nineteen-eighteen
One hundred Freshmen of true blue
Started out upon the journey
With their sponsors brave and true.

In this year we had two picnics,
Joined a class in Red Cross work,
Had a party with the Sophomores,
And our studies did not shirk.

Nineteen-nineteen found us Sophies
That year coal was a scarce thing,
Hence we had but one lone party
And a picnic in the spring.

Next year as Jolly Juniors
A hardtimes party was enjoyed.
And to entertain the Seniors
A formal banquet was employed.

Now a very strange thing happened,
We were Sophomores as of yore
For in twenty-one was added
Senior College, two years more.

Of the many happy functions
We will mention only two—
The party given by our sponsors
And the jolly oyster stew.

We also went in for dramatics
(It should have been our Senior year)
Twice the "Scarecrow" was presented,
And drew many a round of cheer.

A breakfast in the morning,
We were Juniors now at last.
A banquet for the stately Seniors
And the next mile post was passed.

A picnic in the early Autumn
Of our glorious Senior year;
A kid party in the winter
Offer memories we'll hold dear.

At last the time has come, we're leaving,
Upon you the burden rests
To keep faith with K. S. T. C.
We trust that you will do your best.

Senior Prophecy.

Last night as I sat in my study
Watching the firelight dance,
My sense of the present day left me,
And sitting as one in a trance—
I saw each one of my classmates,
But not as I knew them of yore—
For it seemed that I dwelt in the future
At least twenty years, maybe more.
I discovered that Josephine Sadler,
And Charles Neale as well
Have been successful in movies
And in Hollywood they dwell.
The Schrack sisters own a tea garden;
Murphy and Toll, a girl's school;
Ila D. Weeks is a preacher;
Verne Grothe runs a cream parlor cool.
Mae Cruise is a settlement worker;
Ruth Thomas charms all when she plays;
Kimmel and Larson are nurses;
Miss Clark says that lecturing pays.
McVane and Graham are teachers;
Petsch draws realistic cartoons;
Pelikan still works at science
And talks to the world of typhoons.
McHale's in the diplomat service;
Caryle Weinbrandt's become a great nurse;
Miss Brauer was made dean of women;
Glenn Denton, bank funds does disburse;
Belle C. owns a fine beauty parlor;
Miss Cady is head of a Dorm;
Clay Daggett pleads many law cases;
Mrs. Bone works for social reform.
John Myers' community singing
Has won him a name far and wide;
Alma Clark owns a millinery parlor;
Dunder and Franke in real homes abide;
Styskal's a great dancing teacher;
Irma, fame by her pen has achieved;
Mrs. Jacobs inherited riches,
By her gifts, the poor class she relieved.
Gertrude Bedford reports social functions,
By Chicago's "Tribune" she's employed;
Miss Tollefsen now is in China,
Her journey she greatly enjoyed.
And now what the voice from the fire
To me in the dusk did relate,
I've repeated to you as I heard it,
To discover its truth, we must wait.—LEONE JACKSON.

Junior Class.

Under the efficient tutelage of Mr. Phillips and Miss Craig, the Juniors, then as green Freshmen, in fact almost as verdant as the present crop, took their first timid step into the school life of K. S. T. C. That first weinie roast proved conclusively that a balmy, moonlight night in early September, plus an abundance of good "cats" forms an unbeatable combination for the promotion of good fellowship. The finale of the year's activities was a bacon and egg breakfast in "Mint Hollow," early one beautiful spring morning. Incidentally this event threw the class into a turmoil deciding the propriety of a Sunday morning hike. The sponsors had a most enjoyable time arguing the matter out.

The second year found pep undiminished. During the early part of the year the Sopholope was perpetrated, representing the crowning achievement of the present Senior class. How they paid for it is still a mooted question. Our Sophomore play, "The White Headed Boy," netted a neat profit and extracted a terrible toll from our sponsors nerves. Miss Ann Johnson, taking the character of an unreasonable, aggressive, Irish woman, did a type of acting worthy of honorable mention.

The third year found us losing in number but gaining in pep. Already plans for a real entertainment in honor of the graduating class are under the consideration of an enthusiastic committee. With the continued co-operation of our faithful sponsors we expect our Senior year to be the most successful of all.

By way of school tradition the Juniors have a story to tell. In the early days of our history the school's first president, Dr. A. O. Thomas, visited at Peru Normal School. As a mark of respect he was asked to lead the chapel devotional exercises. At that time the rivalry between the oldest normal school and the rising Kearney school was bitterly keen, especially when it came to securing legislative appropriations, which both schools sorely needed.

After Dr. Thomas had prayed somewhat at length, a Peru student was heard to remark somewhat as follows: "That man prays for things our President doesn't even know God has."

Sophomore Class.

The most wide awake and interesting class of the K. S. T. C. was the 1922-23 Freshman class. We think green urchins came dancing and leaping up from the valleys, from across the treeless prairie and some even jumped from the sand hills right into these vast halls that were to list our clear ringing voices.

If you had put your ear to the key hole while a few of the teachers gossiped, you would have heard spinsters and old bachelors remark, "What are we going to do with such a wild lot of untrained animals?" They haven't succeeded in helping the manners of a few yet, though many have had their minds, souls and hearts repaired and established on higher grounds.

Our first class meeting was held in room 322. The room was crowded and the windows even held hanging plants. It was one beautiful green house.

The class was indeed fortunate to have two of the wide awake members of the faculty, Miss Patton and Mr. Otto Olsen, for sponsors. These dignified persons did their best to show us that we were supposed to be dignified. After much hardship Ruth Scoutt was elected temporary president and Rae Weimer temporary secretary.

Mr. Olsen called on President Martin that afternoon to converse upon the important subject, "The Freshmen." The conversation ended with the statement that the dear creatures should be allowed the great privilege of meeting in the beautiful auditorium. Two weeks later the vast multitude thronged into the meeting place and elected the following officers who ruled throughout the year.

NELLIE STEPHENS	President
LYNN WINSLOW	Vice President
CARL CROZIER	Secretary and Antelope Reporter
LUCILLE SNYDER	Treasurer
WALLACE LANGDON	Yell Leader
RAE WEIMER	Freshman Editor of Blue and Gold
ALMA VAN BUREN	Women's League Council

The nine months were so completely filled with joys and pleasures that they passed by as swiftly as snow at the equator. Our first social function was a weinie roast out northeast of town. Some folks can recall the new acquaintances they made under the spreading cottonwoods where the camp fire sent flickering lights now and then.

The Freshman class proved its originality at the hard time party which was held in the Gym, November 17. The dilapidated condition of some of the garments worn afforded much amusement. The "Kid Party" on January 27 was one of the most unique and enjoyable events of the year. Games in accordance with the nature of the party were played.

November 24 the Antelope appeared printed in an extraordinary and attractive color. This, of course, was the Freshman issue of the college paper.

The Freshmen presented their convocation program February 7. It consisted of a reading, a cornet solo, a piano solo, and a solo dance. The concluding number consisted of a representation of by-gone days. We closed the year by holding a picnic out at the 1733 Ranch. Many of the youngsters furnished entertainment by accidentally falling into the muddy canal and others by quarreling over eats and boat rides. All went back to the Gym to dance, then retired joyously tired.

Freshman Class History.

It is always more desirable to look forward to the future full of hope and unrealized ambitions than it is to look backward upon the accomplishments of the past, however glorious they may have been. The freshman class is always fortunate enough to be in the former position and we may congratulate ourselves in consequence.

It is well to be a senior, for a senior may retrospect with joy to those four years in which his noble efforts have been rewarded. It is even better to be a junior for a junior has the anticipation of finishing the last lap in the race with glorious victory and he may make a supreme effort for the final score. To be a sophomore is of yet greater moment, for here one may pause, review the events of the past year and profit by that experience.

But think of the advantages of being a freshman! Here one stands on the threshold of success and is able to plan with delight and wonder the course which will bring the coveted knowledge and power he is seeking, in order that he may do the work he has purposed in his heart to do.

Other classes may boast of their achievements, may cite to us their deeds of valor, but they have only the dull past from which to quote their lines while we possess all the brilliancy and splendor of an untried future.

On November 6, 1923 the Junior and Senior Preps organized as a class with Miss Conrad and Mr. Skinner as sponsors. The officers for the semester were elected at the first meeting.

It was apparent that the class had real "pep." A party was held in the gymnasium December 8, and a full evening of real fun was enjoyed. December 13 the girls organized a basketball team. Two games were played, one with the Training School girls and the other with a picked team from the W. A. A. In each case the Preps "brought home the bacon" by more than a double score. We challenged the other classes but were "turned down flat," an indication that although the upper classes may not be able to play basketball, they at least show good judgment in their effort to avert defeat.

The boys too, showed their "pep" when they entered the District Basketball Tournament and though they had no practice, they gave a good account of themselves.

The Preps did not confine their activities to athletics however. Our class play, "The Elopement of Ellen," was the first play to be staged by any class this year. Several faculty members remarked that it was as good as any play that had ever been given at the college which speaks well for the ability of the Preps. Our Prep orchestra accompanied us to Wood River where we also staged "The Elopement of Ellen."

Then again a high honor came to our class when one of our members, Blanche Myers, took second place in the school popularity contest.

In fact it must be admitted that the Preps are the liveliest, peppiest class in school. Our motto is: "GROWTH." Watch us next year, and the next, and so on. In the next four years we are going to put K. S. T. C. on the map.

Teachers! Teachers!

TUNE—BARNEY GOOGLE.

Who up-holds the flaming torch of knowledge and of truth,
Who controls the future of the nation through its youth?
It is not the pious preacher, nor the wily diplomat,
It's the earnest lass who tells her class that C-A-T spells cat!

CHORUS

Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!
Teacher, teacher, the end is up to you!
If you teach them as you should
They'll grow up both wise and good
Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!

Who taught us our A B C's when we were only six—
Who taught us the tables from our old arithmetic?
And a very few years later, on a starry night of bliss,
Who-o showed us Mars and other stars and taught us how to kiss?

Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!
Teacher, Teacher, the end is up to you!
If you flirt and spoon and pet,
Next year's contract you won't get!
Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!

Every place you go to teach, you'll find some mean old cat,
Talks about your conduct and your clothes and things like that,
If you wear a hat that's nifty, or a gown de-col-let-te
You're a "movie vamp," she knows the stamp. You're fired without delay.

Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!
Teacher, teacher, the end is up to you!
Don't go back from Institute,
In a one-piece bathing suit!
Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!

When a man starts out to teach he may do fairly well
Till he's called Professor, and his head begins to swell,
Then he thinks he has knowledge, up above and down below,
There's not a thing that you can spring he won't profess to know.

Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!
Teacher, teacher, the end is up to you!
Some professors "get in Dutch,"
'Cause they just profess too much!
Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!

Higher education must be every teacher's aim,
Here's the place to get it, for we're mighty proud to claim,
That our tall professor Martin, who is six-feet-three in height
Is the highest educated man that Nebraska has in sight.

Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!
Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!
If for heights you don't aspire
Take a course from Stoutemyer!
Teacher, teacher, be careful what you do!

Girls' Glee Club.

OFFICERS.

CLAIRE SCUDDER	President
JOSEPHINE SADLER	Secretary and Treasurer
LOIS GRAMMER	Pianist
GEORGE H. ALLER	Director

The Girls Glee Club, thirty in number, was a big feature in the music department of our college this year. On January 30 the Girls Glee Club gave a Ducky Minstrel in the K. S. T. C. auditorium. Dressed uniformly in blue overalls and shirts, with black faces, good music, lively songs, snappy jokes and yells, they received enthusiastic approval from the well filled auditorium.

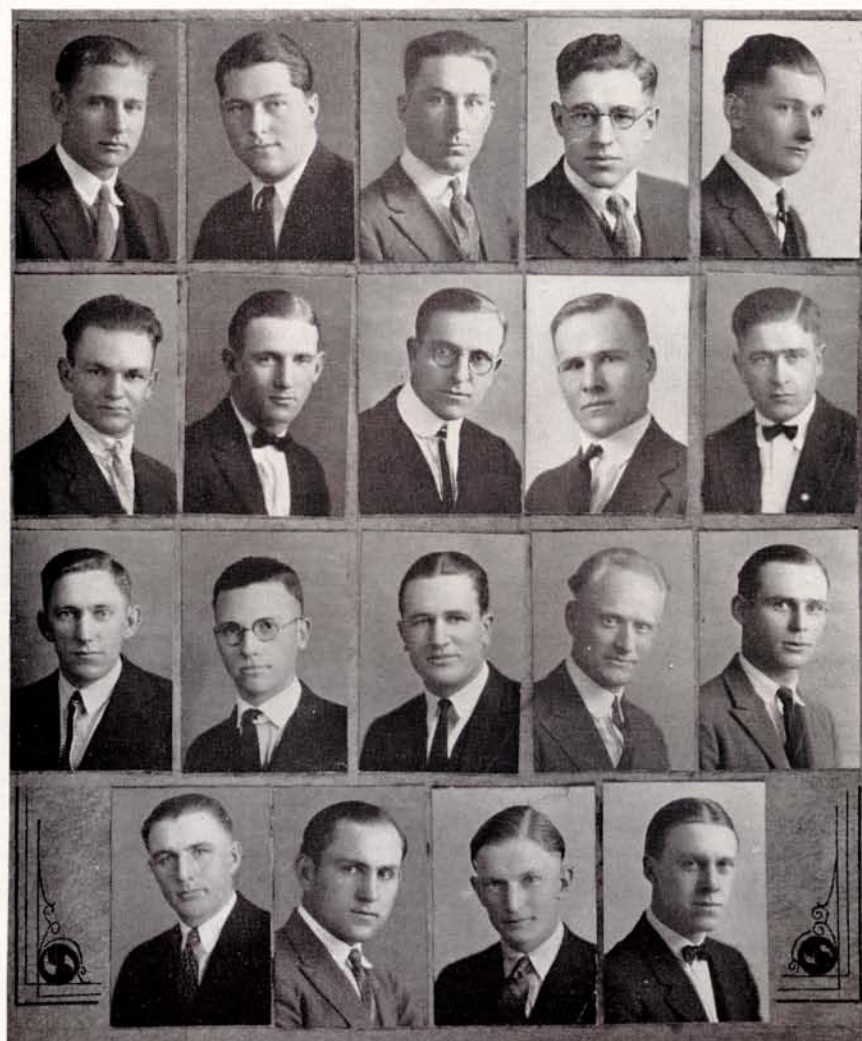

They not only supplied a good share of the music for the college in convocations, commencements, concerts and the like, but also were successful entertainers in many neighboring towns and schools, as State Industrial School, Logan, Elmcreek, Newark, Friend, Hastings, Minden, Upland, and Franklin, where a full evenings concert including fifteen minutes of white minstrelsy was given.

The regular concerts consisted of vocal solos by Claire Scudder, and Ruth Gormley, soprano; Mrs. H. A. Sawyer and Mable Miller, contralto; piano solos, by Lois Grammer; whistling solos by Melva Scudder and Professor L. E. Burton; cross cut saw solos by Otto Hasik; readings by Josephine Sadler and Aurylon Orchard and chorus work in four part harmony. Beside the regular concerts named above the Glee Club sang for the program of the district meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers Association, held in Kearney, November 1, and also for the state meeting of the Association held in Lincoln, March 14.

Members of the club were taken for individual work and chorus for several radio programs broadcasted from Hastings by the college which proved a decided success.

Le Cercle Francais.

Le Cercle Francais was substituted in 1914 for the German Club which was organized in 1908.

The purpose of the club is to give practical drill in the direct use of the language and to broaden the minds of the students, through getting a better knowledge of the French people, and their literature. Anyone enrolled in French classes is eligible to belong.

The club holds monthly meetings conducted entirely in the French language.

At these meetings very interesting programs are rendered, consisting of French songs, recitations, stories and plays. The club has completed a very successful year due to the careful guidance and ready interest of Miss Hosic, together with the co-operation of its members.

THE LATIN CLUB.

Mary Arnold, Tillie Falk, Nellie Graham, Glen Harden, Agnes Hogg, Hazel Hosfelt, Bernice Hutchinson, Gilbert Johnson, Irvin Keim, Clarence Lindhal, Mayme Lund, Homer McConnell, Carroll McKim, Mary Mastin, Lucile Millhouse, Royal Nelson, Claude Smith, Elsie Van Horn.

Soliditas Latina.

MISS MARY MASTIN	President
MR. IRVIN KEIM	Vice President
MISS ELSIE VAN HORN	Secretary and Treasurer
MR. CARROLL MCKIM	Antelope Reporter

This has been an all around good year for the Latin Club. The meetings which have occurred on the second Monday of each month have generally consisted of some serious material, either by members of the club, or outside talent, and some Latinized games which the students of the Teachers College can use in the Latin Clubs which they may organize later in high school.

Membership in the Latin Club is invaluable to those who intend to teach this subject. A feeling of good fellowship has been engendered in the meetings as well as in classical knowledge. One of the events that will perhaps live longest in the memories of those present was when Miss Edith Rundle entertained the Latin Club with a tasty luncheon. After the luncheon she related many of her experiences as a tourist in and about Rome. Her talk was accompanied by a multitude of photographs most of which she took to show certain features of the ruins.

Last year the Latin Club founded a loan fund through the profits of its motion picture, "Julius Caesar."

This fund will be added to this year by the picture, "The Last Days of Pompeii." These pictures not only give genuine entertainment but are of great educational value.

SPANISH CLUB.

La Sociedad Espanola.

The organization of the Spanish Club in the fall of 1923 marked another step in the development of our college. Miss Ethel Hill, director of Spanish, is responsible for this progressive move. Though the club is but one year old, it boasts of a membership of fifty students.

The aim of the Spanish Club is threefold: To give the student a broader knowledge of the Spanish speaking people through a study of their history, customs and mode of life; to afford a means of making practical that which is learned in the class room and to enrich the lives of its members by their association with one another.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE COUNCIL.

Renetta Bird, Zella Borland, Oma Cady, Alma Clark, Amie Condell, Katherine Feather, Maude Good, Mrs. Elliott, Sponsor, Marcia Hazlett, Gladys Hutchins, Thelma Robinson, Hazel Schrack, Stella Schrack, Marjorie Smithey, Caryle Weinbrandt.

Women's League.

The Women's League is an organization which includes every woman who is registered in this college.

The League was organized in the fall of 1921 under the wise and able sponsorship of Miss Wirt with the loyal co-operation of the women students of the school.

The purpose of the organization is to promote the social and intellectual activities among the women of the school; to co-operate with the college officials in the regulations of college conventions; to foster the spirit of loyalty to the Kearney State Teachers College; to aid in preparing for greater world service; and in establishing higher ideals in the women of tomorrow.

The League is accomplishing these aims. It sponsors parties and receptions, recommends improvements about the buildings, and helps with all progressive movements in the school.

In the spring of 1923, a reception was given for the Kearney Women's Club, in acknowledgment of the affiliation of the Women's Club of the city and the Women's League of the school.

The Student Loan Fund, maintained by the dues of the members of the League, has been the means of assisting many girls by making it possible for them to remain in school. The Loan Fund now amounts to $280. Nine loans have been made, five of which have been made this year.

The Stexy, a student secretarial service, was organized in the spring of 1923 under the auspices of the Women's League. The successful organization and management of the Stexy was due to the originality and business ability of Miss Fern Everitt. During the first year, $250 was cleared with which was purchased necessary equipment for the Stexy quarters, twenty-five hundred handbooks for students were published, and $64.69 was added to the Student Loan Fund.

RURAL CLUB.

The Rural Club.

The Rural Club was organized because of a need for the training of teachers along the lines of social service, or a need for leadership. Especially does this need exist in the rural school and rural community. So to meet this need the Rural Club was organized in the year nineteen hundred sixteen. The organization must also be thought of as a co-ordinating agency of the Rural Department, in order to fully appreciate its mission and service.

This club should naturally be one of the strong organizations of our college. First, because almost the entire human material trained in our school is rural in its experience and outlook; second, practically all the teacher out-put of the school is turned back to the places from whence they came, namely, rural school, village and town schools supported by rural interests and economics. Suffice it to say, that the Rural Club does serve a large membership.

Our organization endeavors to cultivate the ability of leadership latent in its membership. The actual practice which this necessarily requires is obtained in the regular weekly club meetings. Not that all meetings are given over to student activities, for members of the faculty often have a part in the programs, telling of the work along their various lines. Speakers outside the college, and oftentimes outside the state are secured to address the club. Also, some of the programs are given by the affiliated Rural Schools. In this way the teachers in training may see just what can be developed along the lines of activities the club fosters.

During the summer term the rural club fulfills one of its largest responsibilities by giving to those teachers in the field a new vision, a better type of service to their school and communities. Because of the rural club we believe that they go back to their work with renewed enthusiasm and zeal for socialized education and better community service.

The Rural Club believes not altogether in talk, but in getting down to real work. So each year we try to carry out some project which will actually help the club and the school. The big project carried out by the club this year was the purchase of a combination projector-movie machine. This machine is put to many purposes—advertising the school through the school reels; education and entertainment purposes at the weekly meetings; co-operating with other departments for a similar purpose; serving the Rural Affiliated Schools, as well as the entire surrounding country. Other activities of the organization in the past are too numerous to mention. Next year we expect to put out a Rural School Magazine once a month. We also expect to have the Annual Demonstration Day for the Affiliated Schools next year. This will be the second annual meeting of this kind. On this occasion patrons, children and teachers come in for the purpose of carrying on and observing class room instruction according to modern methods of teaching.

Finally we wish it understood that our club is democratic and public. Except for one or two meetings during the year, non-members are as welcome as are the regular members. Oftimes the crowd is about equally divided as between members and non-members.

Through the careful leadership of our sponsors and the faithful work of the officers the club is so conducted that something well worth while is received by those in attendance.

The Rural Club is recognized by the administration and the faculty of the College as a most valuable organization. "Long Live the Rural Club."

THE MARLOWE DRAMATIC CLUB.

The Marlowe Dramatic Club was organized in October, 1923. Mr. Phillips was chosen as sponsor and advisor for the club. The purpose of the club is to further the development of dramatic ability and to promote the general expressional interests of college students.

Theater Arts League.

The Theater Arts League has always been considered an important organization owing to the fact that many successful plays are given each year by its members. The membership in this society is restricted to thirty.

It is the purpose of the Theater Arts League to promote a better appreciation of Dramatic Art and skill along that line. Three successful one-act plays were given the first quarter, under the direction of Miss Grace Wead, the Dramatic Art teacher. These plays were: "Fourteen," "The Finger of God," and "The Little Shepherdess."

The most notable production of this year was the play "Violet Under the Snow," which was given at the Holiday Festival. The entire performance was delightful and was presented with such an atmosphere that it will always be remembered by those who saw the play. Mr. Carrol Morrow played the leading part as the Master Shepherd and was ably supported by the following members:

The Old Shepherd	Clarence Strand
The Young Shepherd	Charles Neale
The Teacher	Robert Best
The Woman	Doris Fuller

KEARNEY SCHEDULE.

DUAL DEBATE

	Affirmative	Negative
March 1—Central City	won	lost
March 8—Hastings	won	lost
March 12—Cotner	won	lost
March 13—York	won	won
March 14—Grand Island	won	won

The flames of debate spirit were kindled early in the fall of 1923 at the first meeting of the Forensic League at which time a representative from the league was elected to go to the State Forensic League meeting at Lincoln for the purpose of deciding the question for debate. Josephine Sadler was elected to go and was also elected Correspondent Secretary to schedule debates for the year. The debate coach, Mr. Matthews, also attended this meeting.

Thirteen schools were represented at the state meeting. The question decided for debate was in substance taken from the list proposed by the Pi Kappa Delta, Resolved: "That the United States Should Join the League of Nations." Various other questions relative to debate were discussed as to judges, awards and the like.

Tryouts in our college brought added interest. Nine enthusiasts tried out in the presence of the Rural Club and other interested members of the college. With Mr. Ralph Noyer, Miss Carrie E. Ludden, Miss Jennie Conrad and Mr. A. L. Phillips as judges, the following teams were chosen: Affirmative: I. D. Weeks, Carroll Morrow, Clay J. Daggett and Evans C. Vandegrift, alternate. Negative: Homer McConnell, Hazel Hosfelt, Walter McClure, and E. T. Casey, alternate.

Before debate season was over Mr. Vandegrift left school and Earl Dyer took his place as the alternate on the affirmative team.

Reward comes through much effort and our debate teams certainly were rewarded this year. They did not receive the honor of championship, but ran a close race with the winners. Seven victories were won out of ten debates, the affirmative team going throughout the season undefeated. Not only were rewards received by scores obtained, but the greatest reward came through the experience and work connected with the debating. The idea of debate is to make truth prevail over opposition, thus giving the debater the opportunity of fighting for his beliefs. In order to make his proposal prevail, he has to test his own reasons and those of his opponents, thus developing in the speakers a habit of clear and thorough thinking, careful investigation and forcible presentation. Loose thinking, lazy study, halting presentation, cannot withstand attack. Debate puts a man on his mettle. He has to know his reasons and find ways of recommending them. Fortifying his convictions, he learns how to make others at least respect them, and if he succeeds further, adopt them. Thus of all kinds of public speaking, debate calls most for thoroughness, directness and practical adaptation. So our debaters were proud winners after all, in each and every one of their contests although the decision of the judges was not always in their favor.

We were able to obtain five dual debates this season, making ten debates in all. Five of which were in our own auditorium, two by the affirmative team and three by our negative team.

The Forensic League and the three Literary Societies of the college entertained both the home teams and the visiting teams, also the judges and faculty, at a reception after each of the debates. Sometimes no less interesting debates would follow the regular performance at these social affairs where both teams, with the judges, met in good fellowship and discussed the subject of much interest to all.

The two college teams were invited to debate for the Kiwanians. By the reports given, the debate was greatly enjoyed by the Club and not dry and uninteresting as debate often is, but rather as the "Kearney Kiwanian" expressed it, "full of some real kick." The Kiwanians fully realized their opportunity in securing our varsity teams, thus giving them all a clearer understanding of a disputed matter by hearing both sides. This trip was also very beneficial to the teams in further developing them for their work.

The affirmative team made a three day tour throughout the eastern part of the state, debating three consecutive nights at Cotner, York, and Grand Island, each resulting in a victory for Kearney. The negative team took two trips, one to Hastings. They were however, more successful on their 'home floor' so far as decision was concerned. But it is often stated and is truly evident, that the losers are really the greatest winners after all.

K. S. T. C. is mighty proud of her debating teams for the 1924 season.

Vandegrift, Charles Walters, Rae Weimer.

Emanons.

The Emanon Literary Society was organized September 29, 1905. It always has been, and still is, one of the strongest of the school organizations. The Emanons have some ideal traditions to live up to as well as a future to adorn with records of great work.

The purpose of the work of the Emanons is the training of the members for logical thinking and effective public speaking. Another valuable objective, which is really a natural result of the first, is the development of prospective debaters. The success of this work is shown by the fact that six members of this year's debating squad are Emanons and received much of their training in this society.

This organization consists of a large group of real live men. There is no room in the Emanon society for disinterested persons and experience has shown that such people are soon eliminated.

Aspasians.

The school organizations that have stood the test of time must possess true qualities.

The Aspasians, a literary society for women, is but a year younger than our Alma Mater. As a younger sister, she still stands, as feminine qualities should, undaunted by the fleeting years. Not only undaunted but in the full bloom of womanhood. Aspasia with her commanding intellect came to Athens that she might cultivate the friendship of the Grecians who were pre-eminent in genius and intelligence, and might associate with them on terms of equality and freedom.

Socrates with his friends visited her and it is said that he was a pupil in the art of eloquence which she taught. He, in common with a host of discerning men, who flourished at that period, courted her notice. The name of Aspasia has passed into a synonym for accomplishments and womanly charm of endowments. It is not so much for personal beauty as for grace of expression, for skill in all intellectual attainments, that Aspasia was especially noted. She was an accomplished mistress of oratory. Her usual talk was distinguished by noble expressions and an original turn of thought. The conversation at her home was earnest in opinion, graceful and eloquent in diction.

Pericles, himself a fine orator, perfected his style under her influence. With these qualities of Aspasia for an ideal, Miss Gertrude Gardner organized the Aspasian Literary Society. Miss Cora O'Connell, Miss Mary Crawford, Miss Ethel Langdon, and Miss Blanche Riggs have each given a big sister's hand and sponsored us with untiring efforts. Miss Ludden, our present sponsor, has been with us every meeting but one since she has been sponsoring. Her constructive criticism, given in her tactful way, coupled with her keen sense of fairness makes the meetings profitable to all.

We come on Thursday evening of each week, as Aspasia went to Athens, with the purpose and aim of cultivating the friendship of alert minds. Through this association we meet our equals in debates, extemporaneous speaking, the discussion of literary selections and in musical numbers. Through our current topics we encourage an original turn of thought and enlightened views of the subjects of the day.

The Aspasians, with the two other literary societies, meet once a month for the Forensic League.

At the beginning of the first quarter enough new members were added to fill in the quota of active members. At the initiation the candidates thought we were a backward society from the number of times they had to shift into reverse. Part of the time they could not tell which way they were supposed to be going. However, all are going in the right direction now. Another deviation from our work was the Valentine party.

In the triangular debates, with a representative from each Literary Society, Thelma Robinson, our representative, won.

When we have completed our association with the thinkers of our school days, and no longer stand hand in hand with our big sister, though we may not hope to be recorded as famous women, we hope to be classed with those who have something to say and know how to say it effectively. We hope to have attained in some small degree the attainments of womanly eloquence of expression, the quality for which Aspasia has become symbolical.

This organization was founded October 11, 1923 by the girls of the school who felt that another literary society was needed in the Kearney State Teachers College.

Miss Neptune, who was appointed sponsor at the first meeting of the organization, has aided greatly through careful guidance, in making the meetings successful.

CAMP FIRE.

Camp Fire.

Camp Fire is a band of girls who appreciate the highest values in life and wish to live so that their daily lives may be the application and expression of their ideals. It is an organized effort to find romance, beauty and adventure in every day life. It seeks to make the homely task contribute to the joy of every day living.

Camp Fire presents many phases and is wide in its appeal. To some it represents the social life, to others the life of the great out-of-doors. Then again, there are those to whom the ritual and ceremony make the strongest appeal. Some consider it a channel for personal and community service. Yet, all the girls find through Camp Fire the romance and adventure of the life in the home.

Camp Fire girls learn to share, to work together. By living the Law of the Camp Fire and following the slogan, "Give Service" the girls grow in spirit and in mind. The ideals of Camp Fire, rich in promise and wide in scope, are kept alive by active service in concrete and definite ways. Camp Fire girls consider their health a sacred thing. By wholesome habits of living, they develop in bodily strength and vision.

Academy of Science and Mathematics.

About the middle of February, 1916, there arose in the Physical Science Laboratory a discussion as to the forming of a Physics and Chemistry Club. Probably this was suggested by the forming of other clubs within the school. However, when the talk of this club drifted to the other Scientific departments they begged to be admitted also. Thus on March 4, 1916, the Academy of Science and Mathematics was formed having as those eligible for membership anyone working in the Physical Science, Biological Science, Earth Science or Mathematics departments. Early in the fall of 1923 the Domestic Science department was added to this list.

The Academy was formed for the purpose of promoting an interest in science and for keeping the students up to date in current scientific research.

The meetings were first held once a month on a Thursday evening, but later that was changed to the third Tuesday evening of each month. The last meeting of the regular school year has been the annual good time for the Academy.

All of the meetings are of an educational turn of mind dealing with some phase of science. Thus at the first meeting of this year Mr. Mercer of the Earth Science Department gave a talk on his trip to the Pacific Coast. At another meeting Mr. Sutton, of the Physical Science department, gave an interesting lecture on "A Days Work in an Analytical Laboratory." At the next meeting Mr. Skinner, of the Training School, gave a talk on the place of Science and Mathematics in the High School curriculum. Later in the evening Mr. Pate, of the mathematics department, lead a round table discussion based on Mr. Skinner's talk. At the February meeting Dr. Skeffington, of the city, gave a talk on "Visual Photo Chemistry, which is one of the newest things along the line of science.

Thus the Academy has tried to add to the knowledge of its members and because of this it has grown rapidly and today is one of the largest and most active of the school organizations. Its members are among the best students.

Catholic Students' Association.

Education does not consist merely in intellectual culture, in the teaching of arts and sciences, games and bodily exercises, but above all in sound moral training and character formation. It must include the training which develops the whole man,—body and soul, will and intellect, character and conscience. The Catholic Church loves education. She has always fostered art, literature, sculpture and scientific research.

Moral education without a religious basis will not suffice in building the character of the youth. Definite teachings of religion are the only secure foundation for adequate moral training. Morals are living and actual realities which determine the relations between Creator and the creature.

The Catholic Student's Association was organized in the early history of this school with such a purpose in view. Prof. B. H. Patterson, who has acted as sponsor for this organization for the past fourteen years, always has at heart the best interests of the Catholic students. His unfailing care and attention have been directly responsible for the past accomplishments of the Catholic Students Association.

The association holds a meeting each Thursday morning. The program committee plans the meetings to interest the Catholic students in the great fields of thought and history connected with their religion.

Meetings of a social nature are held in the homes of the resident members throughout the year. Social affairs affording an opportunity for outdoor amusements are arranged for at appropriate times.

Prof. John F. Matthews, who became a member of the college faculty last September, is taking an active part in directing the activities for the spiritual welfare of the Catholic students.

The civilization which we enjoy today is ours largely through the self-sacrifice and devotion of our early pioneers. May we ever preserve this heritage.

CATHOLIC CLUB ROOM QUARTERS.

The club room is used for the Thursday morning meetings each week as well as a reception room and reading room at any time during the day. Pleasant surroundings, inspirational pictures, the best of books and magazines furnish a suitable background for the evident good results of the regular meetings.

The club is fortunate in having such a room which has been so beautifully furnished. A piano and a Victrola also help to make the room a home-like place for students to entertain their relatives and friends.

The Cabinet.

The cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. is composed of the president, secretary and undergraduate representative and the chairmen of the seven committees. These committees are finance, membership, publicity, program, social, world fellowship, and social service.

Every member of the Y. W. C. A. belongs to one of the seven committees. In this way each person has some work to do and becomes a part of the association.

The advisory board consists of the Dean of Women, and the seven other women of the faculty. One faculty member is chosen as an advisor for each committee. This board meets with the cabinet once a month.

The cabinet meets every Monday to carry on the business of the Association. At these meetings the book entitled, "The Manhood of the Master," was studied and found to be very helpful.

Members of the new cabinet and advisory board go to Lincoln to attend the Cabinet Training Conference in April. This conference is very valuable in that it adds enthusiasm to the work and develops Y. W. C. A. leaders.

Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association has more than one hundred seventy-five members. It is the largest organization in the school that has voluntary membership. The purpose of this association is:

- (1) To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
- (2) To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.
- (3) To promote their growth in Christian faith and character especially through the study of the Bible.
- (4) To influence them to devote themselves in united effort with all Christians in making the will of Christ effective in human society, and to extend the kingdom of God throughout the world.

Any woman of this institution may become a member of the Y. W. C. A. provided she is in sympathy with the purpose and is willing to make the following declaration: "It is my purpose to live as a true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ."

In October, the regular annual membership banquet was held in the gymnasium. Cabinet members gave toasts in which the association was represented as an auto and each cabinet member as a necessary part of the equipment.

Outside speakers have been obtained for several of the weekly meetings. During January the discussion course on "Race Relations and the Christian Ideals," was taken up; the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. co-operating. Various groups met under the leadership of senior college students who had previously been coached by faculty members. Eight girls were sent to the Estes Park conference last summer. They received a great deal of benefits from this conference and came back to school full of enthusiasm.

They have worked to make the Y. W. C. A. bigger and better than it has ever been. Early in October they started the Student Relief Campaign. Miss Inskeep, the Y. W. C. A. secretary for the Rocky Mountain Region, gave a wonderfully illuminating talk in convocation on the needs of European students.

Huldah Jensen was sent as a delegate to the Quadrennial Student Volunteer Convention which was held in Indianapolis during the Christmas vacation.

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. co-operated this year in promoting the annual "Holiday Festival" on December fifteenth. Booths of home made candy, handkerchiefs, art craft, etc., were open from five o'clock until the evening program at eight. The various clubs and organizations in the school furnished side shows. The main program for the evening was the play, "Violet Under the Snow."

"The Nativity" was presented in convocation the Friday immediately preceding the Christmas holidays. The play was coached by Faye Meadows and it was very impressive and attractive.

The Y. W. C. A. has contributed to the general social life of the college. Besides giving several teas in the Y. W. C. A. room it sponsored an all school mixer in the fall and a St. Patrick's party in the spring.

During the week of November 11 to 17, the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. observed a week of prayer. They met during the noon hour for a quiet hour of prayer and meditation.

Y. M. C. A.

There are many reasons why men attend college. They are too numerous in fact to mention, but there is one which is indeed one of the most important and of which some college men boast.

They answer when asked why they are attending college, "We are here to fit ourselves for a life of greater and better service for others."

Class room education will supply the student with facts and practical knowledge which go to make up the tools that he works with later in life. But this materialistic education alone is insufficient to fit the student for a life of service.

For four years during the period in life when character is being formed, the student is practicing a life of selfishness, a life which is ingrowing and self-centered. This is what he is doing when he is attaining only an education of materialism, and still he says he is in college to fit himself for a life of service.

Every man in college is living, on a small scale, the kind of a life he will live when he steps out to fill his place in the industrial world. What shall he do, while attending college, to establish in his character the value and meaning of service?

The Young Men's Christian Association answers this vital question and makes available the opportunity of securing and practicing the ideal of service.

Our aim in the Y. M. C. A. of the Kearney State Teachers College is to search continually for the teachings of Jesus and apply them in our life in college. Here the Christian ideals and principles are made practical and when closely interwoven with the securing of knowledge, the true meaning of the word service is learned and practiced. In sports as well as other activities the ideals of brotherhood and good will must dominate. Our Y. M. C. A. at Kearney does not overlook this fact, closely associating the devotional and social programs.

It is customary for the Y. M. C. A. to give an annual watermelon feed for all the men of the school. On Monday evening, September tenth, 1923, the "Y" invited all the men of the college to the Gymnasium for a get acquainted time and a real feed. They met in the Y. M. C. A. room and after a few talks by the "Y" cabinet members and Professor Engleman, the faculty advisor, they adjourned to the main floor where they were entertained by a performance of tumbling acts and other gymnastic feats given by Coach Fulmer, Mr. Fisher and Chris Holt. Then followed the big feed that helped to carry out the purpose of the "Y" in making bigger and better men. At least each man felt bigger after the feed.

About a month later, at the close of the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign, a banquet was given to all the members. This was the first event of its kind given in the college. It was served in the dining hall of the dormitory. Each cabinet member gave a toast after which Professor Mercer made a splendid address.

During the first term of the school year the regular meetings were held each Wednesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. room but were changed to Thursday morning for the second term giving Wednesday evening to an athletic class in which any member was privileged to enter and take part. He could swim, wrestle, box, work in the apparatus, or play basketball.

The Holiday Festival is always one of the big events of the year. On December 16, 1923, the students and people of the city were invited to the college to spend an evening of holiday celebration and festivity. In past years the Y. W. C. A. has sponsored this festival, but this year they invited the Y. M. C. A. to co-operate in conducting the festival. With the returns from this festival, the Y. M. C. A. sent Mr. John Roberts to the great Quadrennial convention of the Student Volunteers of the world, which met at Indianapolis, Indiana, December 27 to January 1. We were indeed fortunate to be represented at this convention. Mr. Roberts brought back much help and enthusiasm to our organizations. He gave one of the best reports in convocation of the work of the convention which has ever been given.

For the first six weeks after Christmas, the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. made a co-operative study of the race problem in America. They divided into groups which were led by students. This was a new plan and proved to be very beneficial.

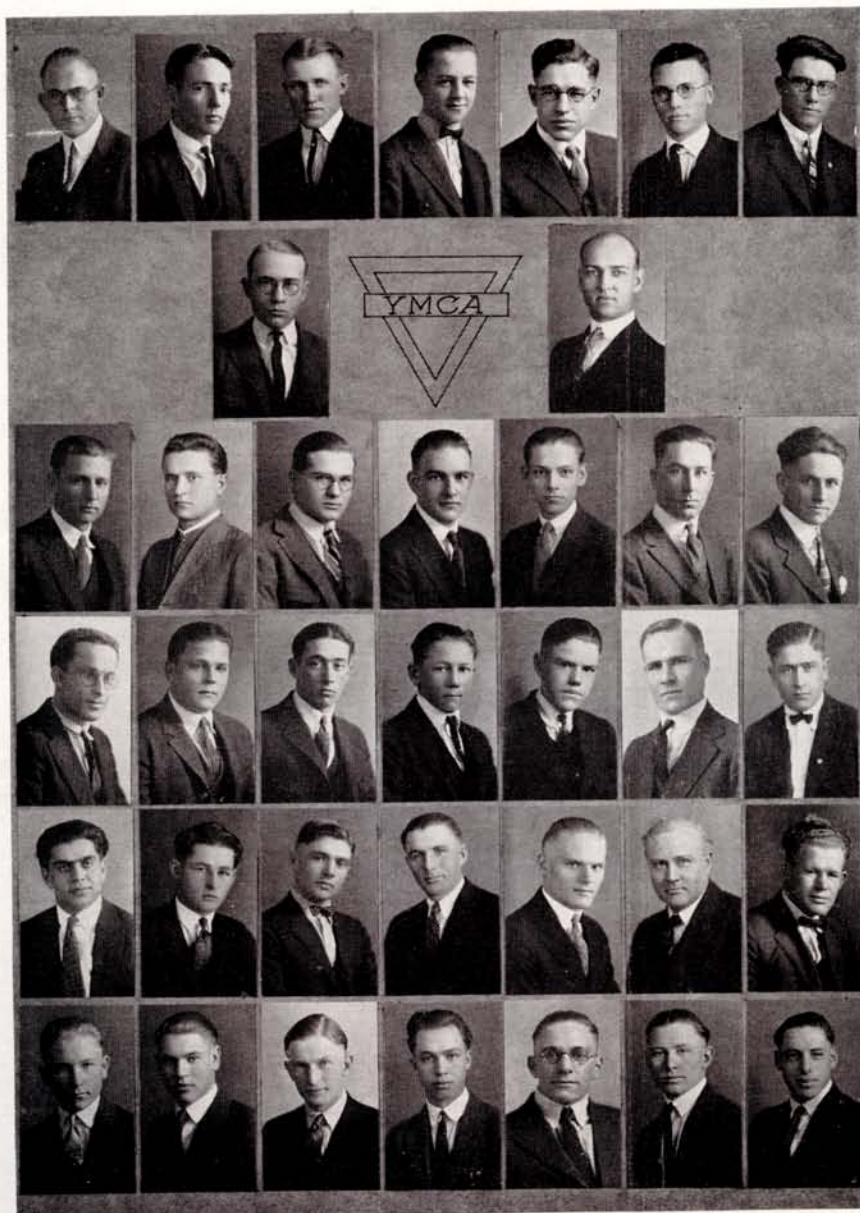

On February 25, we were glad to welcome Mr. B. M. Cherrington and Mr. George Collins on our campus. Mr. Collins, who is the National Secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, gave an excellent address in convocation, choosing as his subject: "Is War Ever Justifiable?" The next day Mr. Cherrington, who is the Rocky Mountain Regional Y. M. C. A. Secretary, addressed the men of the school on the subject: "Our Search for the Way of Applying the Teachings of Jesus." He emphasized the powerful factor of the spirit of brotherhood and good will toward all. Following his address he held a short discussion on the question: "What are some of the barriers existing on the campus which tend to break down this feeling of good will?"

Among many of the other good meetings of the year, a five weeks discussion course was conducted on "Our International Problem of War." These meetings were led by faculty members who conducted them in a very helpful way.

In putting on its program this year, the Y. M. C. A. has held to the highest standard. Much of its success has been due to the faithful service and judicial counsel of our advisor, Professor Engleman.

The Y. M. C. A. movement was organized in this college on January 25, 1906. For eighteen years it has stood as one of the most beneficial, practical and necessary organizations for the development of Christian manhood in the school. And as long as the K. S. T. C. exists it will continue to hold this rank, for it is one of those few places where men assemble for the consideration of real Christianity and its contribution to the development of men in "spirit, mind and body."

The Antelope.

The Antelope is the official organ of the students, faculty and alumni of the college. It has been a weekly publication since its first appearance on the campus, September 1, 1910. It was then 11x16 inches in size and was published only during the winter quarters. It made its first appearance in the summer of 1917.

During the first few years the Antelope existed entirely on receipts from advertising which made it necessary to devote fifty per cent of the space to advertisements. However, in 1920 the Contingent Fee was established which made it possible to cut the space given for advertising from 50 per cent to 33 per cent.

The Antelope has grown rapidly since the first edition was published, keeping pace with the great institution that it represents before the public. Each week the Antelope goes to the high schools and libraries of Nebraska and to colleges in almost every state in the United States.

Eight-hundred subscribers look forward each Friday during the school year to the arrival of The Antelope. Through reading this weekly publication the students keep acquainted with the affairs of the college and those who have gone from here keep in touch with their Alma Mater.

The 1923-24 school year has been a banner year for the Antelope. The space devoted to advertising has been reduced so that at present 75 per cent of the space is left for news. The issue published September 23, 1923, was voted the best college paper examined by the "Times" Staff, of Detroit State Teachers College, Detroit, Mich. A special edition was published November 1, 1923, for the Nebraska State Teachers Association meeting, then in session in Kearney. A Thanksgiving Number was published as a special edition, November 23, 1923. The "Blue and Gold" issue and the "Go-to-College" issue were outstanding editions of the year.

The Forensic League.

Half of a man is himself; the other half is his expression. This is an ancient saying that has lost none of its force in coming down the centuries. The Greeks and Romans spent the best part of their lives in learning to speak with skill and charm. We of today are realizing more than ever before, the value of learning how to speak clearly and convincingly, and are devoting a part of our energies to oratory both in the classroom and out.

The Forensic League, as the name implies, is a mobilization of all the speech forces of the school. It was organized in September, 1922, with Mr. Claud Weimer as president and Mr. Phillips as faculty sponsor. Its three main auxiliary societies are the Aspasians, the Emanons, and the Orophilians.

The Forensic League, acting through its president, Mr. Rae Weimer, and secretary, Miss Josephine Sadler, secured for our college a charter for a chapter of the Pi Kappa Delta, a national honorary fraternity. Our chapter, known as Nebraska Zeta includes as charter members, the following:

CLAY DAGGETT

EDITH MCBRIDE

CARROLL MORROW

GROVER ROST

LAURA RUNDLE

ARNOLD TROTIER

ILA WEEKS

RAE WEIMER

Besides the management of the debate, the League has fostered an oratorical contest. In the Junior College Contest Mr. Gerald Humbert won first place. There were but four contestants. There should have been twenty, but we are just getting up steam.

The Placing Bureau.

RUTH E. ELLIOTT.

CARL H. SKINNER.

The Placing Bureau was first organized in 1919 for the purpose of filling a long felt need in K. S. T. C. Its purpose, from the very beginning, has been to serve our students and our State. Last year seven hundred eighty calls came for teachers and through the Bureau we succeeded in placing a goodly number of our candidates. It is the aim of the Bureau to observe professional ethics in every way. In no case do we practice underbidding or recommending of anyone but qualified people.

A faculty committee goes over each call and makes recommendations from the list of prospective teachers who are enrolled in the Bureau and in this way the best of service is rendered. The Bureau thus becomes a very definite part of our State Teachers College. It is rapidly gaining recognition throughout the state as is indicated by the increasing number of calls that come in from year to year.

Extension Department.

To supply Nebraska with an adequate number of trained and competent teachers and school officials, to assist in maintaining professional training of teachers in service, to carry to the tax payers the story of our college's service, to give remote and inaccessible school districts the advantage of high-grade professional help in all emergencies, these have been the outstanding purposes of the Extension Department.

Starting in the autumn of 1921, with an ancient desk, a chair and a home-made typewriter-table minus the machine, housed in a cloak room on the third floor of the main building, the department has expanded until it has secured much modern office equipment and adequate quarters in Room 213.

Twenty-one correspondence enrollments fell to the lot of the director when he opened shop September 1, 1921. At this writing an even 400 students are on the rolls, not counting a hundred held over from the previous year. From an original half-dozen available courses the number has increased to thirty-one. Once a financial liability to the college, the extension department now pays it own way.

Study center instruction reached its peak in 1922-23 when thirty centers were receiving instruction at one time. When financial conditions required a minimum of twenty paid-up memberships in each center, however, study center work was seriously curtailed. Today four centers are still flourishing for the benefit of four score teachers.

Nebraska teachers have learned to look to Kearney for help in solving their professional problems. A bureau of consultive service has been organized to answer the many inquiries addressed to the college by hundreds of troubled teachers. These inquiries touch almost the entire range of professional and personal relations. The same mail which brings inquiries about how spelling should be taught to a half-blind girl, brings requests for methods of silencing the village gossip and for advice on building and loan investments. Every inquiry is answered or acknowledged on the day of its receipt.

Such service produces a feeling of confidence among teachers, so that requests for faculty members by parent-teacher associations, Sunday school conventions, community celebrations and commencement exercises readily follow. No county teachers institute in Kearney's vicinity has been held without the presence of one or more representatives of the faculty on the program.

The wide-spread demand for quantitative measurements of school progress has led to the establishment of a bureau of tests and measurements. Every year has seen the service increase, especially because of the Kearney reputation for prompt and efficient help.

Kearney's interest in all debating and declamation contests, known afar for so many years, has led to an offer of help to high schools in all public speaking and dramatic contests. From the Extension Department, coaches, material and even judges are often secured. In this way many of Kearney's best students have been recruited and trained for state service.

That no Kearney student should fail of recognition for outstanding achievement and that no Kearney need should be lost from the tax payers sight, a publicity bureau is ever on the alert. News stories of student accomplishment are published not only in the Antelope but appear also in the student's home papers. During the year 1923-24 John Myers '24 has had much to do with the perfecting of the news service. Plans are being made to expand the service as soon as the director can be relieved from other duties.

Coach Fulmer

Mr. Fulmer's highest ambition is to serve men and boys in physical development and correct moral training. He is a specialist in all athletic activities, and a man of square dealings and clean sportsmanship.

Mr. Fulmer is not only an up-to-date coach but also a splendid organizer, which has been proven by the large crowds that have gathered to witness the athletic contests.

He is the type of a man who will go to the top of his profession.

What we need in this age is correct moral leadership and for this, Mr. Fulmer could not be too highly recommended.

ARTHUR M. PETSCH.

GEORGE RUBENTHALER.

Rex Reed

The football boys have shown a brilliant record under the leadership of Rex Reed. He was an all star center here in 1921, and was wisely chosen as the pilot of the 1923 squad. He was a very consistent worker, never failing to be on the gridiron. Rex suffered many bad bruises during the season and was forced out of the games once or twice on this account; but he never lost the fighting spirit.

He has had wide experience in athletics, having played on the army football and track teams during the war. Rex expects to be with us next year.

George Reed, Captain Elect.

It was in the fall of 1922 that George Reed played his first college football. That year he played the position of center, and won much praise as a line man. He received honorable mention at center the following year. Last season he filled the same place with increased vigor, and was elected captain for the 1924 season. We wish George the best of luck for a successful year of football.

Football Resume.

To the K. S. T. C. students who witnessed the games of the 1923 football season, there will always remain a vision and a memory of the fighting spirit displayed in the games.

The co-operation between the school and the team did much to develop the team spirit. Every man played for the honor of the school; a mark of a well-coached team. There were no individual stars in the season's games, but every man played to the best of his ability.

Seven letter men of the thirty-five candidates were on hand as the curtain arose for football practice. The next three weeks showed many new and promising men for the team.

The Antelopes met Central College at Central City, the game being played in a heavy rain. Both teams fought hard but were handicapped by the heavy downpour. At the end of the first half the coaches agreed to call the game a tie, as neither side was able to play any style of football under such unfavorable conditions.

October 6 our first home game was played, the Hastings Bronchos invading our field and taking the game by a score of 9 to 7. The game was lost as the ultimate result of a kick by Panek which went low, striking one of the Antelopes, thus giving Hastings a chance to recover the ball and a drop kick gave them their necessary points to win the game.

Kearney dropped her third game to the fast Grand Island eleven at Grand Island. The Antelopes held the Zebras during the first half, 3 to 0, but in the second half the Zebras opened up a different style of football using secret signals, and a mass formation play which won the game for them.

The next few days were put to hard drilling and scrimmaging for the big battle of the year. The Peru warriors came to Kearney fully believing that they would carry off the big end of the score. To their disappointment they went home recognizing the Antelopes as a hard team to defeat. The game was close and hard-fought ending in a scoreless tie. Peru was within striking distance twice but failed. Clinite was injured in this game putting him out for the season.

York was the next team to match their mettle against the fleet-footed Antelopes. The Blue and Gold warriors were too much for York, the game ending in a score of 76 to 0 in Kearney's favor. Panek and Mingus were the point-getters in this game.

The last home game was played with Midland. The Midland team carried off the conference honors last season and made their return visit to repeat their victory. Midland had no easy time of winning for the Antelopes displayed an excellent defense by holding the Midlanders several times when they were on the goal line. Rex Reed, the pilot of the Antelopes, was injured in the last half and forced to quit. The game ended 10 to 0.

The Chadron Eagles wonder machine also proved too much for the Kearney Eleven. However, the game was closer and harder fought than the Eagles had anticipated, the score ending 10 to 0.

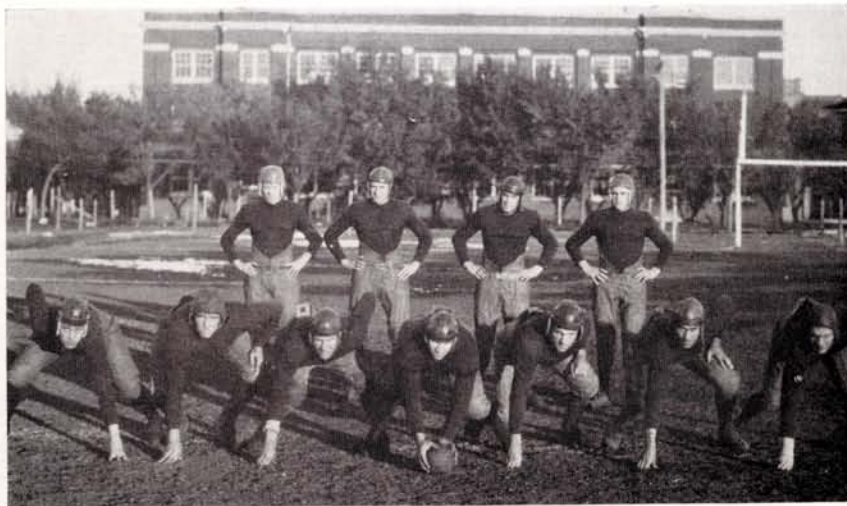

Smith, our reliable tackle, made a sensational run and tackle despite Chadron's good interference and downed the man who threatened our goal with another touchdown.

The football season of 1923 ended for the Blue and Gold; not a winning team, but a team worthy of praise for their loyalty and excellent sportsmanship.

Basketball.

The Antelope quintet opened their basketball season on January 18, when they trampled the Chadron Eagles to the tune of 23-16 on their home floor. In the second game with the Eagles, the Antelopes overcame a marginal lead and defeated the Chadron team 32 to 28. This game was the fastest and most exciting game ever witnessed on the local floor. Holland and Yates were the high scorers.

With a clean slate, the Antelopes took an eastern trip which netted them one victory and two defeats. They lost to the fast Midland quintet by score of 26 to 47. Omaha University lost to the fleet-footed Antelopes 21 to 18. Fate seemed to be against our boys at Wayne for though it was a hard-fought game Kearney should have won. The referee's decisions were in favor of the Wayne players who won by a score of 25 to 28.

The week following, Thursday, January 31, York experienced a decisive defeat by the Antelopes on our home floor. It was a one-sided game, many of the second men being substituted.

The Antelopes always look forward to the time when they have a chance to match their steel with the Hastings players. Hastings visited Kearney on February 8, and after a thrilling, hard-fought game, they carried away the honors, 19 to 17. This game was no "walk away," for first one team and then the other was in the lead.

Another road trip netted the Antelopes two victories and one defeat. In the first game of this trip, they swamped the Nebraska Central team 21 to 8. By the superior playing of the Antelopes, the Quakers were not able to penetrate the Kearney defense. Denton and Morris were the high-scorers.

The second game of this trip was with York, who were again humbled by the fast Kearney quintet to a score of 28 to 16. The first half was close, but the onrush of the Antelopes during the second half was too much for the York quintet. Holland bewildered the Yorkers with his long successful shots.

In the last game of this series the Antelopes lost to the fast Cotner Bulldogs by a score of 18 to 8. The boys did not show the pep in this game that they showed in the two former games because of the tiresome trip. Dillow scored five of the eight points for the Antelopes.

The Bulldogs showed their mettle the following week by defeating the Antelopes 26-19. This game was witnessed by the largest crowd that had ever assembled in the gymnasium. The first half was a back and forth game with Kearney leading most of the time. The last half of the game was featured by close guarding. Holland was high-scorer for the Antelopes and Manning for the Bulldogs.

Coach Fullmer's Antelopes played their return game with Hastings on the local floor. After leading the Bronchos until the last few minutes of play, Kearney was defeated 22 to 18. The first half ended with Kearney on the long end of an 11 to 6 score. Much substituting was done in the second half. Our team did not lose their pep when the Bronchos forged ahead, but kept on fighting until the final whistle.

Mingus and Cox, two ineligible men during the second quarter of school, became eligible for the Central City game which was the closing game of the season. Mingus showed unusual ability in this game at tossing baskets. He made 20 of the 48 points for Kearney. The Quakers were unable to penetrate the Antelopes defense. The second team men were used during the last half, and were able to pile up the scores just the same.

Thus the Antelopes closed a successful season, holding fifth place in the conference.

Physical Activities.

Physical training is a required subject in all courses for able-bodied men and women.

The courses for men include gymnasium, marching, calisthenics, corrective exercises, apparatus work, recreation, mass games, athletics, aquatics and playground activities.

The object of these courses is not only to provide sufficient physical activity to promote a healthy vigorous physique, but also to train teachers in the modern methods of physical education.

A large gymnasium, beautiful swimming pool, standard athletic field, tennis courts and modern equipment add to the enjoyment of all and make possible well developed courses.

"Earn"

"Earn" is work faithfully performed; a trust conscientiously fulfilled.

"Earn" entails the right performance of a job; doing it better with each trial.

"Earn" is looking the customer squarely in the face and being able to say truthfully, "The goods are of good quality and value."

"Earn" is selling the things people want at prices which they can afford to pay and which it is right for them to pay, leaving only a fair margin of profit.

"Earn" is so conducting a store that it deserves to have the patronage and the confidence of the people; never, for a minute, forgetting its sacred trust as a distributor of goods for personal comfort and the home.

"Earn" is to live up to spoken or printed promises, never permitting a pledge to remain unfilled.

"Earn" is the merit we strive for in all our dealings with you.

How to Enjoy the Springtime

Once a year Nature refreshes the earth. She adorns our land with pretty new frocks—apple blossoms, daisies, a wonderful new green on the hillside, a softer blue in the sky.

You can be as happy as Springtime; you will walk with joy; you will go out-of-doors and take from Nature the tonic that she offers, if those wonderful feet of yours are comfortably and sensibly fitted in the Cantilever Shoe!

This shoe is shaped to the natural and beautiful lines of the foot; it is light and flexible; it is well made and good looking. As a simple source of happiness, the Cantilever Shoe offers you the most prized thing in life.

Try it this springtime—this week—and see!

IT'S ALL THE SAME.

The Vocational inspector was here checking up on some of the special students. It seems that one man was in attendance only the first quarter.

Inspector—(To Miss Smithey)—“And what is the name of the man who left at the end of the quarter?”

Miss Smithey—“I think his name is Love.—Yes I'm quite sure it is Love.”

Inspector—“I don't seem to remember listing that name. Perhaps if we look over my list we can find it.”

They looked over the list as far as the D's. when Miss Smithey said: “Here it is. His name isn't Love at all, it's Darling.”

Which reminds us of another good one on Miss Smithey.

She was talking to a girl about her grades and addressed her as Miss Skinner. After several moments she noticed that the girl looked perplexed, so she asked her: “Isn't your name Skinner?”

The reply was: “No, it's Hyde.”

Margaret Murphy was planning a reception for the debators and she asked Stella Shrack, a Home Economics authority, “How many bricks for fifty people?” (Meaning Bricks of ice cream, of course).

Stella—“Twelve, if you're a good thrower.”

SHE WRITES POETRY.

Florian Q. says whenever she see's Rubenthaler this bit of verse goes thru her head:

"Grass cannot grow on a busy street.

Why? Cause it cannot come up thru the concrete."

A colored school teacher was teaching a class in grammar to parse. One of the sentences contained the word pants.

"Pants is an uncommon noun, children, because they are singular at the top and plural at the bottom."

Small boy—"Daddy, what's a Zebra?"

The Father—"A Zebra, my son, is a sport model of a jackass."

THAT KISS.

"That Kiss" (a definition)—A Kiss is a peculiar proposition of use to no one, yet absolute bliss for two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to steal it, and the old man has to buy it. It is the baby's right, the lover's privilege, the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl it is Faith; to a married woman Hope; and to an old maid Charity.

Two negroes were crossing a bridge. The first was the son of the second but the second was not the father of the first. What relation were they?

ANYTHING TO OBLIGE.

President Coffman of Minnesota is not a believer in spelling reform. Not long ago there was a student who was a candidate for the degree of doctor of philosophy. The student had adopted spelling reform as his particular line of work, and as commencement day drew near he went to President Coffman with the request. "You know, Mr. President," he said "That you are proposing to make me a Ph. D. Now I have made a specialty of spelling reform and I always spell philosophy with an 'f.' I therefore called to ask you if you could not make my degree F. D., instead of Ph. D."

"Begorra," said Pat. "If I were dead, I'd own up to it."

A TRAGEDY.

It was a dark and stormy night,
And the sun was shining bright,
His lips were sealed tight,
And he yelled with all his might.

"Shoot and kill me if you must
But spare my life," he cried.
The villain shot him with a knife
And killed him till he died.

Along the path a maiden came,
Her form was bent with years,
Her eyes were filled with laughter,
And her nostrils filled with tears.

She recognized the dying youth
And cried aloud, "Who is he?"
The youth raised up his headless corpse
And yelled, "By gosh it's Lizze."
