NEBRASKA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
KEARNEY, NEBRASKA

FOREWORD

When days have passed, and faces we once knew are all but forgotten, and pleasant memories of the campus have faded away, this volume will recall the associations, the happy hours, the activities, and the proud achievements of the students of Kearney College—such has been our purpose in creating the Blue and Gold of 1928.

DEDICATION

To Nebraska-

Who protects our rights, guarantees our liberties, upholds our traditional ideals, perpetuates the cause of our people—to the State, creator of this college, do we dedicate this volume.

Dr. Hans C. Olsen.

Dr. Olsen, one of the two sponsors of the senior class, is a graduate of Kearney College, and at the present time is Director of Teacher Training. This is the second time he has been officially connected with this institution, having served as critic and supervisor in the training school after receiving his A. B. in 1920.

Two years later Dr. Olsen left for Columbia University, where in 1923 he received his M. A. Degree. While working on his Doctorate Mr. Olsen assisted on several school surveys under the direction of Dr. Strayer and Dr. Engelhart, in cities of the east. He received his Ph. D. in 1926.

Other than his official connection with Kearney College Dr. Olsen has gained considerable renown by his published reports on educational subjects.

Miss Jennie Conrad.

A Kearney College graduate, and now holding a professorship in the Department of Social Science, Miss Conrad's co-sponsorship of the senior class is vitalized with a thorough understanding of the campus. She received her degree from the college in 1920. Columbia University granted to her the A. M. Degree in 1922, and since that time she has been in the social science class rooms of Kearney, even functioning for a time as head of the department during the absence of Mr. Anderson.

Miss Conrad's interest in the History Club, an organization which aims to study present day history problems, is typical of her. And her interest in the alumni, of which she served as president for two years, is expressive of her interest in college affairs.

M. S. Pate.

In the fall of 1926 the present junior class chose Mr. Pate as one of the class sponsors. Mr. Pate has been an instructor in this institution for twelve years. Before coming to Kearney he had positions as superintendent of schools in both Nebraska and Oregon.

He received his two year diploma from Kearney College in 1907. In 1913 he graduated from the University of Oregon, receiving his A. B. degree; the next year he obtained his A. M. degree from the University of Nebraska.

While an instructor in this college he has been secretary and treasurer of the State Inter-collegiate Athletic Association. He has been chairman of the Advisory and Athletic Boards for a number of years.

Miss Marion C. Smith.

Miss Smith was born in Lincoln, Nebraska, where she also graduated from high school. She received her higher education in the University of Nebraska, working in the art department under Miss Parker. She taught in the Lincoln public schools for several years.

Since teaching in Kearney Miss Smith has attended various classes in painting, design crafts and public school art. She spent one summer in New York and half of the following year in the Philadelphia Art School. She has also studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Minneapolis Handicraft Guild, New York Art League Landscape School, and has studied under Chase, Anshutz, Breckenridge, Hawthorne, Carlson and Johnnot.

Junior Class.

The class of 1929 is one that is worthy of mention—one that boasts of many leaders in scholastic and inter-scholastic activities. Among the junior athletes who carried Kearney colors to the fore during the past football season are: Ihling "Brick" Carskadon, all-state half-back, captain '26; John Waldmann, honorable mention all-state half-back, captain-elect '28; and John Roberts, end, a three year man. Gwen Swift was the girl yell leader for the year.

The two people chosen as the most representative students of the year were both juniors, Theresa Grantham and Clarence Lindahl.

Many of the presidencies of the school organizations were held by juniors.

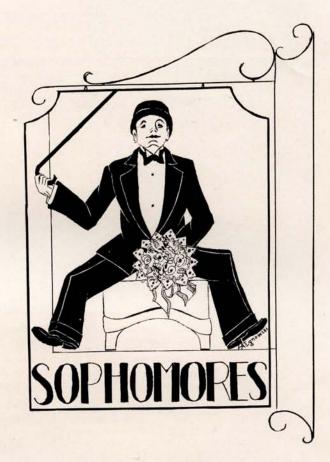

Theresa Grantham, president of Women's League. Clarence Lindahl, president of Student Government Association. Sidney Mosser, president of Manual Arts Club. Mabel Predmore, president of Academy of Math. and Science. Clarence Lindahl, president of Caledonian Fraternity. Elizabeth Loomis, Acting Director of Extension.

The juniors had an enjoyable picnic at the country club in the early part of the school year. During the second quarter, a party was held in the gymnasium. Everyone enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. Dancing was the main diversion of the evening.

The juniors enjoyed an afternoon "Sneak" in the spring. This was one of the outstanding events of the quarter.

The Junior-Senior Banquet was held early in May in the Crystal Room of the Hotel Fort Kearney. This was the concluding event of the junior year.

J. H. Hale.

When the class of 1930 assembled for the first time in the fall of 1926, Mr. Hale of the Commercial Department was one of the sponsors. He has been connected with the college for eleven years, and has charge of the shorthand and secretarial training classes.

Students who have received distinction in the business world, or yet while in his classes, reflect his ability as an instructor.

Not only in his classes, but also in the active part which he takes in promoting athletic contests is the worth of Mr. Hale shown. He is an enthusiastic supporter of the Commercial Club, and can be depended upon to give his best to the needs of the students and the organization.

Miss Ethel Hill.

Miss Hill, the other sponsor of the class of 1930, is head of the Department of Spanish. She took her degree, Bachelor of Arts, at Hastings College, and later her Master of Arts at Columbia University, where she also received a diploma in Spanish. In the summer of 1923 she did graduate work in the University of Colorado.

Miss Hill came to Kearney College in the summer of 1920, after having taught in the Kenesaw and Kearney high schools. She organized and sponsored the Spanish club. For two years she was advisor of the finance committee of the Y. W. C. A. and has served on the advisory board of this organization, in addition to various other extra-curricular campus activities.

Mrs. Romayne Webster.

Mrs. Webster was graduated from the State Agricultural College at Fort Collins, Colorado with a B. S. Degree and a Smith-Hughes Certificate in 1919. Before coming to Kearney in January, 1922, as an assistant to Mrs. Wellers she had taught for two and a half years in a Smith-Hughes Consolidated High School. When Mrs. Wellers retired, she became head of the Department of Home Economics.

Her work in Home Economics is widereaching. Since she came to Kearney she has been president of the State Home Ec. Ass'n; is a member of the State Home Ec. Club and the National Home Ec. Club. She was one of the committee to revise the food course for the High School Manual.

John I. Engleman.

Mr. Engleman has been connected with Kearney College for many years, having graduated with a two year diploma in 1910, before the four year course was available. In 1914 he received his B. S. Degree from the University of Nebraska. He has taught for twelve years at Kearney, but next fall plans to go to the University of Southern California to work on a higher degree. For many years Mr. Engleman has been sponsor of the local Y. M. C. A. In addition he sponsored the class of 1924, having been with his group for six years, during the period when the college work changed from a two to a four year course. # BOOK III ATHLETICS

Coach F. R. Fulmer.

Having produced conference champions in basketball and runners-up for conference honors in football, Coach Fulmer has established a reputation for his good work in college athletics. Throughout his six years at Kearney he has always insisted upon good sportsmanship and a strict adherence to eligibility rules, and Kearney's records in the college conference seems to justify his position.

Mr. Fulmer came to Kearney in 1922 from the Boulder, Colorado high school where his winning football and basketball teams had won him recognition. Through his efforts athletics in this institution have been placed upon a high plane that cannot be questioned.

His motto, "A winner never quits and a quitter never wins," has been instilled into every athlete under his supervision. Unfortunately he has been forced nearly always to develop practically a new team each year, which undeniably has handicapped his efforts.

In addition to coaching, he takes charge of the men's swimming classes, gymnastics, physical training, and personal hygiene.

Coach Dunlap.

Coach Dunlap has assisted Coach Fulmer three seasons in developing a football team at Kearney College. His past experience both as a player and as a coach has made him a valuable helper in developing backfield men and teaching freshmen the art of college football. He played football at Hastings College, St. Viator in Illinois, and the University of Tulsa in Oklahoma. Coach Dunlap spent much time two years ago in developing a good second string team. The "scrubs" began the season with a lineup of mostly green and inexperienced men but by the close of the football year they were able to defeat the strong McCook Junior College eleven by the close score of 3 to 0.

This year the instruction was divided, Dunlap spending most of his time working with the backfield. The success of the team as a whole is a tribute to this end of the instruction under Mr. Dunlap.

Jackson, Lundberg, Swift, Lucas.

Yell Leaders.

No athletic team can win a game without the support of the student body. And for a student body to lend able support to their teams they must have able cheer leaders. Tryouts for these were held early in October during a convocation hour. There were six contestants. From this group the student body selected Jay Lucas, Gwen Swift, with Archie Jackson and Marie Lundberg as alternates. The election as cheer leaders automatically made them members of the Zip Club, the "Pep" club of the school.

When the awards to the basketball men were given in early April Jay Lucas and Gwen Swift were each awarded a leader's sweater for their good work.

"Doc" Roadruck, Trainer.

DAVIS R. "Doc" ROADRUCK acted as trainer of the 1927 football squad. Mr. Roadruck's chosen profession is medicine. Prior to his registration at Kearney college he attended the University of Nebraska, School of Medicine. His knowledge of human mechanism and his personal interest in each member of the squad made him a valuable asset. On several occasions regular players were able to participate in important games although they had been injured the week before, due to "Doc's" untiring efforts.

Athletic Board.

ATHLETIC BOARD—M. S. Pate, chairman; B. H. Patterson, secretary; Ethel Craig Sutton, F. R. Fulmer, Edith M. Smithey, R. W. Powell, Carrie E. Ludden, Roland Owens, football captain, and Frederick Meyer, basketball captain, members.

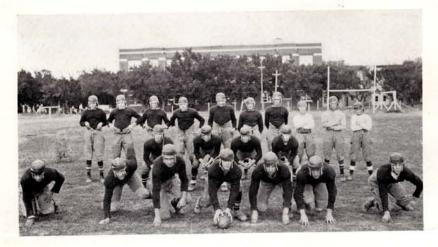

We saw great games of FOOTBALL

"I once admitted—to my shame— That football was a brutal game." —Alfred Cochran.

Training High Football Squad.

The Training High School football squad went through a successful football season in 1927. A squad of sixteen men reported to Coach Odum for the initial practice and this number increased to twenty-four. Captain Harlan Allen was the only senior, hence the Trainers have a right to anticipate another successful season in 1928.

The following is the result of the 1927

schedule:
Walnut J. H., G. I 0	Trainers	26
Holdrege Reserves0	Trainers	50
Minden Reserves6	Trainers	28
Overton H. S12	Trainers	12
Mason Reserves 44	Trainers	6
Litchfield High0	Trainers	40
	Trainers	47
K. H. S. Reserves 6	Trainers	7

Total opponent points 68 Trainers ____216

One of the best games of the season was with "Pop" Glen Harden's Overton team. Overton led 12 to 0 at the half, but the Trainers came back in the last half to score 12 points, the game ending a tie.

The Kearney Reserve game, the biggest game of the year to the Trainers, was played under a handicap as five regulars were forced to watch the game from the side lines. The Trainers were unable to score until the last two minutes of the game. A blocked punt by R. Weidner and Williams, a 22 yard run by Bingle, a four yard plunge off tackle by Pat Elliott, and a try for point by Lucas gave the Trainers the needed seven points.

With at least eighteen or twenty experienced men returning, the season of 1928 promises to be as good or better than that of 1927.

Mr. Winsor Odum.

Mr. Winsor Odum, of Grand Island, has been Training School athletic coach for the year 1927-28. Prior to coming to Kearney, Mr. Odum taught in the high school at Clarks for two years. During his school days he was an athlete with considerable ability. He attended Grand Island College, University of Nebraska, and Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

Captain Roland Owens.

Owens, of Stockville, was a hard-fighting tackle and captain. He was well liked by all the men and he had the friendship and faith of the team at heart. He was willing and ready to give a teammate a helping hand, spurring him on with his own cool smile.

Roland was a constant menace to the opposition, and proved often that it took more than brawn to keep him out of the play. With his speed and fighting spirit he made many opposing backfield men wish that they had not tried to go through his side of the line.

Captain John Waldmann.

"Johnnie," a native of Comstock, Nebraska, does not need an introduction to the fans and "fannettes" of Kearney College. For three years John has proved to be a capable leader and a man who does not know the word "quit." He can hit the line and gain necessary yardage when called upon; he is one of the hardest, deadliest tacklers that Kearney has. With his speed John skirted ends and threw off many would-be tacklers.

Football Resume.

SEPTEMBER 23-McCook 6; KEARNEY 7.

Although the Antelopes won the first football game of the season, when they met the McCook Junior College on the home field, the final score indicates that the McCook eleven was harder than expected, a bunch of fighters and hard tacklers. The first touchdown was theirs, during the second quarter, when they blocked Kearney's attempt to kick out of danger and fell on the ball back of the line. They failed to make their extra point.

Kearney tied and bettered the score during the second half, after several long runs, when Howard Boswell carried it across, and Carskadon booted it over for the extra point which made the victory ours.

OCTOBER 1-HAYS 25; KEARNEY 6.

The second game of the season not only was a defeat for Kearney, but left several of the Antelopes a bit battered. The Kansas gridmen considerably outweighed the visitors. After the battle Captain Owens was out with a fractured shoulder, and Chadwick with a bad knee. Stark, sub-center, cracked an arm in the first five minutes, but it was taped and he finished the half.

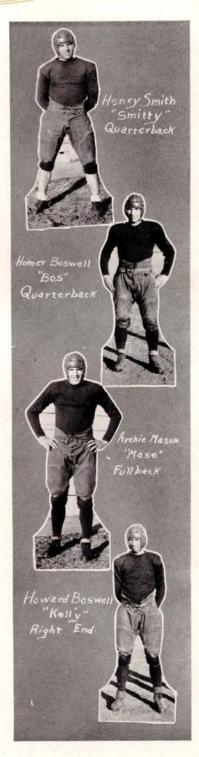

Despite the casualties, Fulmer's squad held tight, and in the third quarter made their only goal, a pass, "Brick" to Mason; but failed in the try for point. Hays plunged through for half her points in the first two periods, and passed their way to victory in the last half.

OCTOBER 6-CENTRAL 0; KEARNEY 13.

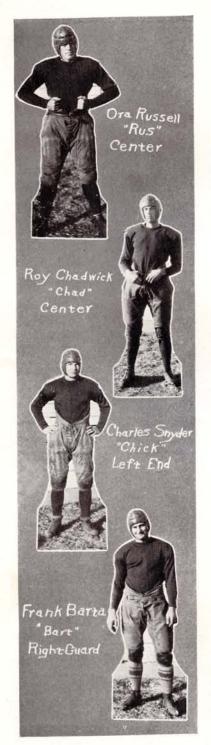

Playing away from home and in ideal weather, the first conference game was a victory for the Antelopes. Profiting by a stiff week of practice and the Kansas struggle, the team was in good shape, despite the fact that Owens, Stark and Chadwick were still on the sidelines from the week before, but Reilly, end, injured in the first struggle of the year, was back in position.

Kearney's counters came as a result of long runs. The Antelopes were in position for a field goal early in the game, but Homer Boswell fumbled the drop and the kick was short. The aerial work was effective. Meyers made the down in the third quarter, Howard Boswell carrying it later for the other six points.

OCTOBER 15-WAYNE 13; KEARNEY 13.

This second conference game with Wayne was a big game, it being held on the latter's Homecoming Day. Wayne recovered a fumble during the first quarter, deep in Kearney territory, and fought and plunged the ball through. During the last part of the second period, the Antelopes opened up an aerial attack that carried them to within four yards of the goal.

Beginning the second half, Kearney received, but soon lost the ball on downs. Wayne took to the air and scored again, and passed it up for an extra point. Nothing spectacular happened until the fourth quarter when the Antelopes began passing their way to a tie score. Three minutes sufficed for the last seven points.

OCTOBER 28—HASTINGS 10; KEARNEY 12.

Undoubtedly the most interesting game of the year because of spectacular playing and traditional rivalry. The Antelope carried a full-page p'ay-by-play story of the first defeat of Hastings by Kearney for the first time since 1913. We quote the headlines: "Thrilling Battle One of Best Ever on Local Field. Bronco Team Loses Game to Fulmer's Squad in Last 15 Seconds—The Hastings College Broncos met defeat at the hands of the Antelopes at the local gridiron last Friday afternoon before a large crowd of enthusiastic rooters. The score stood 12 to 10 in Kearney's favor as the smoke of the fray cleared. Carskadon, of the Antelope line-up, was the star player of the game, doing excellent punting, passing, and carrying the ball. Chadwick and Smith and the Boswell brothers also shone brightly, each playing real football.—McCrady proved to be the outstanding player of the Bronco team."

NOVEMBER 4-YORK 6; KEARNEY 6.

Although York was probably outplayed in this local game, Kearney was able to score only one touchdown against them to tie the score in the fourth quarter. York in the second period opened a Voyless Kuntzelman passing attack that took them within three yards of the goal, and then smashed the ball across.

Kearney advanced to within five yards during the last half, but lost on a fumble; later they shoved their opponents to within a yard of the York goal, but were held. Smith broke his shoulder in this period. Kearney, in the danger zone, opened up a surprise passing combination, Carskadon to Roberts, that carried them the length of the field and across, but failed to make the point.

NOVEMBER 11-COTNER 6; KEARNEY 13.

On Armistice Day a football battle was waged between the Cotner Bulldogs and Kearney Antelopes. Two important factors governed the contest to some extent. One was the fact that the game was carefully scouted by Peru (Kearney's opponent the next week in the all-important game); and the other was the strong north wind sweeping the length of the gridiron.

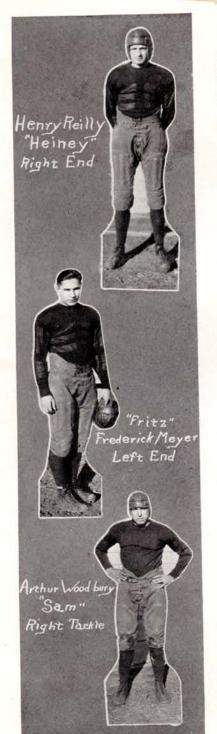

Early in the game Cotner forced Kearney to punt against the wind. The ball blew back and Cotner recovered. There followed a series of successful plays which resulted in a touchdown for Cotner. Late in the first half a double pass behind the line of scrimmage and then a long forward pass, Boswell to Roberts, resulted in a 30 yard run by the latter for a touchdown. The try for point was missed and at the half the score was tied, 6 to 6.

From the opening of the second half the Antelopes played a clever open running-passing game. Another pass to Roberts resulted in a sixty yard run, a Cotner player bringing him down on the Cotner eight yard line. Carskadon scored the second touchdown on an end run, from this point.

NOVEMBER 18-PERU 19; KEARNEY 7.

This, the last game of the year, and the tilt for championship, was played at Kearney on a snow-covered field. Graff's Bobcats, knowing that this game only stood in the way of a championship, and with a perfect record of 330 points to their opponents' nothing, had to win.

Neither team scored during the first quarter. In the second a well-placed Peru punt put Kearney on their 7-yard line, where they were forced to punt, only to be forced back and over, Peru failing in try-for-point.

Early in the third quarter the visitors plunged through for another seven points, and very shortly intercepted a Kearney pass and duplicated the gain. After this Kearney tightened, began to drive, but were forced to punt. Resolved to break Peru's un-scored-on record, a spectacular passing attack carried the ball to within five yards; a quarterback sneak subtracted three, and Carskadon went through left tackle for a touchdown. Boswell added a point with his toe.

This last fight was a wonderful battle. Undoubtedly the Antelope's hardest game; not so spectacular perhaps as the Hastings tilt, but plain, dogged fighting.

Picking Out His Man.

Conference Champions!

Captain Frederick Meyers.

Frederick (Fritz) Meyers, a former Hastings High school man, was chosen to lead the 1928 Antelope basketball squad. Meyers played his first games for Kearney last year and there he, with the other guard, Glen Harden, made up a defense difficult to penetrate. There also he became known for his accurate long range basket shooting, and his ability for steady, dependable guarding has carried through his year as captain.

Meyers' undying fighting spirit was a source of encouragement to the team at all times. He was an example for and a leader of his squad always.

1928 Basketball Team.

Barta, Coach Fulmer, Lovell. Kisling, Howard Boswell, Skov. Homer Boswell, Captain Meyers, Morse, Dusek.

Ranking three men on the mythical allconference team by the State Journal proves the calibre of the Kearney squad. These three are Howard Boswell, Elmer Skov and James Lovell. The latter would probably be picked locally if an individual star were to be picked from the five. Lovell, of Hastings, guard, is keen to penetrate defense, and a good basketball player.

Howard Boswell, last year center for Ravenna, holds the same position on the Antelope quintet. Sure on the tip, his play is easy and smooth.

As forward Elmer Skov, the only second year man on the winning outfit, is worthy of his ranking, and Riverdale ought to be proud of him.

Hastings furnished another guard in the person of Captain Frederick Meyers. Steady, dependable, his fighting spirit was an asset to the team.

After playing on the Pleasanton team Frank Dusek, as forward, won honors in his freshman year for his excellent basket shooting. Dusek is considered the greatest promise of the future.

Homer Boswell, also of Ravenna, won renown as a substitute player for accurate basketing and shiftiness on defense. Frank Barta, substitute center, is the only man who will be lost by graduation, and Ohiowa should know of his hard working sincerity to the team. Marcus Morse, otherwise "Kenesaw Red," relieved several times at guard and played a steady, heady game always. Dale Kisling, a product of Litchfield, was early handicapped by injuries, but came through later as a substitute forward.

The Basketball Season.

For the first time in history the Antelopes have won a conference championship. This in spite of the noteworthy fact that the team was made up entirely of freshmen, with the exception of one sophomore.

The value of early season games with teams which perhaps outclassed the local quintet was made plain in the conference battles. An early-struggle with the McCook Juniors, and other practice games held during the holidays with town teams from Grand Island, Ravenna, Holdrege, and other groups, gave much necessary experience and training. The scheduled games of the season follow:

University of Colorado At Kearney 43, Kearney 14.

The Antelopes dropped the first game of their official schedule, principally because of failure to take advantage of their chances when they got the ball. Kearney's offensive was usually delayed until Colorado's five-man defense was formed.

Kansas Wesleyan At Kearney 40; Kearney 23.

Although playing better basketball than in the Colorado game, nevertheless the locals suffered a second defeat. Kansas' infallible shooting during the first half earned a big lead, but the Antelopes tightened their defense in the second period. Tilka and State were Wesleyan stars. Dusek, Howard Boswell and Barta were outstanding figures in the tilt.

St. Joe Hillyard's At Kearney 45; Kearney 24.

CENTRAL CITY AT KEARNEY 5; KEARNEY 51.

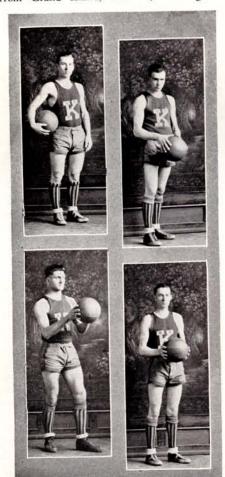

The Central City five was rather overwhelmingly crushed on its invasion of the Antelope camp. Lovell, Kearney, guard, was high point man. Kisling and Skov tied for second honors.

Omaha University At Kearney 12; Kearney 29.

This, the first conference game, exhibited a strong defense which forced Omaha to long shots, mostly wild. Omaha was outplayed from the first, but their forward and captain, Steele, and center, Prather, each earned three points for the visitors. Dusek, forward, led the local scoring with 10 points. Lovell earned five.

WAYNE AT WAYNE 27; KEARNEY 45.

Battling on fairly even terms this second conference game was won only after a stiff fight. Wayne held the lead at times during the first half, but during the latter part Dusek and Skov principally, ran up a large tally. Boswell at center, Captain Meyers and Lovell as guards, each showed creditable unison and teamwork.

PERU AT KEARNEY 24; KEARNEY 32.

Not only breaking the record of nineteen years of consecutive wins for the Bobcats, but pushing themselves to the top of the scale in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic association, the fast-working Kearney quintet crushed Peru in the most spectacular contest ever seen on the college floor. Both teams were in excellent form, going at top pitch from the whistle to the gun.

The spectacular playing of Dusek and Skov was especially noticeable, although Boswell at center and Lovell and Meyers at guard played excellent basketball. Krijci, the tall visiting center, starred with thirteen of the 24 points of his team.

Even before their game was lost the visiting Peruvians admitted that this was the best basketball team ever developed by the college.

OMAHA AT OMAHA 14; KEARNEY 29.

Demonstrating their defensive power in the second game with the Cardinals on the latter's floor, the team held the Omaha quintet scoreless during the first three quarters of playing time. In the last, however, the Cardinals staged a rally and tallied fourteen points, largely on free throws.

DANA AT BLAIR 13; KEARNEY 30.

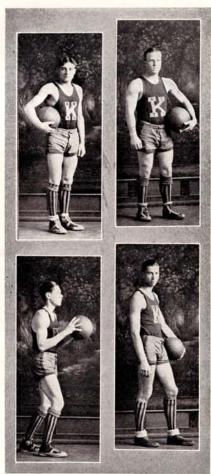

This game was the first played in the new gymnasium at Blair. Second string men, with only Captain Meyers to support them, did most of the playing.

CHADRON AT KEARNEY 17; KEARNEY 33.

By drubbing the Eagles on the local floor, Kearney closed the season with a perfect conference record and won the title, the first basketball chmpionship in the history of the school. Kearney clearly outplayed the visitors. Chadron tightened after the intermission, but couldn't hold the locals from increasing the lead. Lovell, and Dusek led the Kearney scoring.

KEARNEY ANTELOPES VS. HIGH SCHOOL BEARCATS.

February 29, a benefit game played between the conference champions, the Antelopes, and the Class A tournament champions, the Kearney High Bearcats, in the Junior High gym, was a win for the college. This game, ending the season, was not particularly fast nor outstanding.

High School Basketball Tournament.

Kearney "Bearcats," Class A Winners.

The eighth annual "K" Club high school tournament held at Kearney February 23-25 was won by the Kearney high school Bearcats. The final encounter with St. Paul Saturday evening got under way amid an uproar of enthusiasm. For seven minutes and forty-five seconds the ball moved furiously without either team registering. During the second quarter St. Paul earned eleven points, a five point lead, which Kearney overcame in the third period. In the last few minutes furious playing put first one and then another in the lead. At the height of intense cheering from the galleries, the gun caught the game with Kearney one goal ahead, 17 to 15. It is the second consecutive championship for Coach H. C. Eberhart's squad.

Nelson had little trouble defeating St. Mary's of Grand Island for class B honors, with a tally of 21 to 12. Due to the fact that last year Pleasanton won class B honors for the third consecutive time, they became permanent owners of the trophy. The A. C. Killian Clothing Company presented the new award which goes for the year to Nelson high.

In class C, Brady won the cup by defeating Loup City 14 to 10. Honors in the D section went to the Kearney Junior high, 15 to 10, winning from Hazard.

In all there were 62 teams entered, matched to provide keen competition in all classes. Probably the Kearney-St. Paul tilt was the most thrilling, but the Grand Island-St. Paul match in the second round was indeed lively. In the class C semifinals it took Brady four extra periods to defeat the Kearney Midgets.

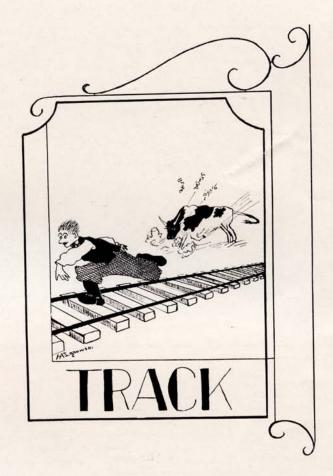

Space prevents mentioning all bookings, but the semi-finals in each class may prove interesting:

Class A—Kearney 16; North Platte 14; St. Patrick's 9; St. Paul 15. Finals—Kearney 17; St. Paul 15.

Class B—Bloomington 7; Nelson 26; Ord 8; St. Mary's 19. Finals—Nelson 21; St. Mary's 12.

Class C—St. Paul Midgets 11; Loup City 18; Brady 28; Kearney Midgets 19. Finals—Brady 14; Loup City 10.

Class D—Kearney Jr. High 16; Boelus 12; Smithfield 12; Hazard 13. Finals— Kearney Jr. High 15; Hazard 10. BLUEantGOLD

The 1928 Track Season.

INTRA-MURAL MEET, MARCH 29-30.

With the freshmen taking the intramural meet and a freshman, Lydic, of Farnam, high point man, the first year track delegation was privileged to fly its colors in victory after the practice meets around the last of March.

The best record made here was in the high jump, three men besting the intercollegiate record by half an inch. Second class honors went to the sophomores, with juniors, trainers, and seniors ranking in this order. Lucas was runner-up for individual honors.

Grand Island-Kearney Dual Meet— April 6.

Kearney dropped this meet by a margin of only six points, 71 to 65. After the second event Kearney held the lead up to the last event and the relays; but were nosed out in the broad jumping. The relays decided the meet in favor of Grand Island.

Lydic, Lucas and Raue showed unexpected strength. Lydic cut down the college record in the mile run to 4:56:5, and took first in the 880. Lucas took first in both hurdles, Raue in the vault and high jump, Pratt in the discus, and Barta in the shot

HASTINGS RELAY MEET-APRIL 14.

Although Kearney was unable to win a first, it placed in five events in this meet and was able to bring home eleven of the medals. The Kearney quartets placed; Skov, Dusek, Gilleland, and Samek coming second in the two mile relay, and Lucas, Skov, Carskadon and Lydic third in the medley.

The balance of the spring schedule: Dual Meet with Hastings at Kearney, April 21. Dual Meet with the Kansas Teachers at Hays, April 27. High School Invitation Meet at Kearney, May 5. Quadrangular Meet (York, Central, Grand Island, Kearney) at Grand Island, May 12. The N. I. A. A. Conference Meet at Kearney, May 19.

Trackmen, 1927.

JAY LUCAS—Kearney.

Specializes in high and low hurdles. Was a member of the 1927 half mile relay team.

HAROLD GALL—Eustis.

A distance runner that holds the Kearney College record in the mile run. Ran also the half mile, and was a member of the mile relay team.

CLARK GILLELAND—Kearney.

Worked especially on the 440 yard dash and the half mile runs. Belonged to the mile relay

JOHN WALDMANN-Comstock.

Put his efforts into both the sprints, 100 and 220 yard dashes, and field work. Holds the Kearney College record in the javelin throw. He had a place on the half mile relay team.

ELMER SKOV—Riverdale.

Long distance runs his specialty, entering in both the mile and two mile runs.

Trackmen, 1927.

ROLAND OWENS-Stockville.

Broad abilities in both track and field work. Tried for 220 yard dash, and held a position on the half-mile relay team. Good on the jumps, holding the Kearney College record in the broad jump.

JOE BENNETT-Kearney.

Another with a broad range of abilities. Worked on both high and low hurdles, and holds the Kearney College record in the former. Worked on the high jump, and was also a member of the halfmile relay team.

CLYDE Cox-Kenesaw.

Holds the double distinction of holding Kearney College honors in both the shot put and the half mile run. Competitor in the discus throws.

ORLA BURGESS-Gresham.

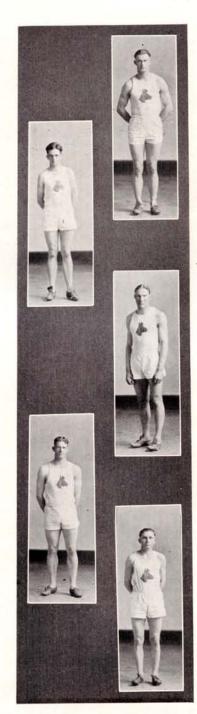

Specialized in field work, entering both the shot put and the discus throw.

ARTHUR OLSON—Sweetwater.

Long distance work only, entering only the two mile run.

IHLING CARSKADON (Not in pictures)—Gothenburg.

His distinction comes from 440 yard dashes and his relay work. Was a member of both half mile and mile relay teams, and holds Kearney College honors in the 440 yard sprint. Also works on the broad jump.

Incidental Features of the Athletic Year.

The Hillyard Team; An Advertising Poster.

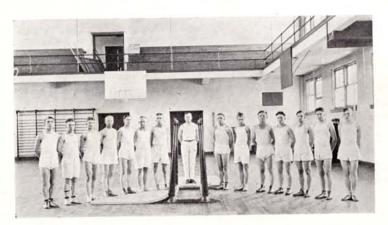

Despite the fact that great odds were on the champions, the Antelope five dug in, and surprised the galleries by an exhibition of basketball that held the visitors to a 16-16 score at the end of the half. With growing enthusiasm, the second half set out to be an even fight, but the Hillyard group began sweeping through the Antelope defense at will, building up a great lead, from which they coasted to an easy victory.

Hillyards.

Playing an inspired brand of ball far superior to anything shown so far in the season, the outstanding of the early season non-conference practice games was the frolic with the National Amateur Champions of 1927, the St. Joseph Hillyards. The team of the Hillyard Chemical Company was en route to the Pacific coast, but stopped over for a match with the Antelopes.

Nevertheless, the practice gained and the confidence aroused in this high-class match did much to build a morale and a machine which enabled the Antelopes to win conference honors.

The work of the physical education department, other than athletics, includes training in personal hygiene for both men and women, and courses for both in group exercises, swimming, calisthenics, and general gymnastics. The accompanying picture shows one of Mr. Fulmer's classes in apparatus work, taken last year, on the playing floor of the gymnasium. BLUE MIGOLD

Coaching School.

For five years a summer school for coaches has been held at Kearney College under the direction of Coach Fred R. Fulmer. Again next summer, from June 11 to 23, 1928, the sixth annual school will be held. These meetings attract men from all parts of the United States who are interested in that department of school work. In past years over two hundred coaches have been enrolled.

A statement will illustrate the pulling power of the various high rank coaches who have been on the instructing staff—men like "Pop" Warner, Dr. Meanwell, "Phog" Allen, "Indian" Schulte, "Bob" Zuppke, E. E. Bearg, and others, all of whom have given one or more day's instruction. In one year over one hundred students from eleven different states, including Florida and Texas, were present.

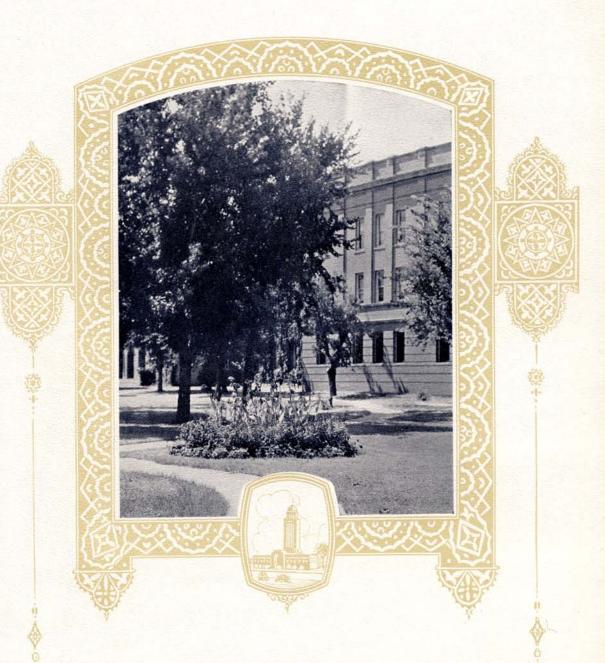

Koegan, of Notre Dame.

Zuppke, of Illinois.

In previous years the plan has been to concentrate on one subject at a time. This year Robert C. Zuppke, head football coach at the University of Illinois, will have charge of the football section. Mr. Zuppke is not only a leading football mentor of the day but is also one of the game's greatest teachers. Many of his former players and assistants are now successfully coaching large universities, colleges and high schools.

The basketball instruction this year will be given under G. E. Koegan, basketball coach of Notre Dame. Koegan's work at Notre Dame has been eminently successful; his squad won eighteen of the twenty-two games played last season. Since Koegan took over basketball coaching at Notre Dame his squad has won two western championships and has placed a man on the allwestern five every year. He has coached for sixteen years, part of the time handling also baseball and football.

The Zip Club of the Kearney State Teachers College was organized four years ago for the purpose of arousing the proper school spirit among the students, and directing the school enthusiasm in such a way as to best benefit the college. New members are voted in by the club; yell leaders, who are chosen from the student body, automatically become members.

The activities of the club are more apparent, especially to those who are not Zip Club members, during the seasons of intercollegiate contests. This is due to the fact that pep rallies and cheering are sponsored by the Zip Club. The work, at times other than athletic contest seasons, is to raise money to purchase awards for those who compete in the intercollegiate contests.

In order to acquire the necessary money, this organization, as it has done in the past, sponsors at least two drives a year, one during the summer term and the other during the winter term.

During the past year, the Zip Club sponsored "The Boner," during the summer session, and "The Antelope Round-up and Tag Day," during the second quarter. In addition to this, it conducted the publicity campaign for "Jes' Foolin' Around." and took part in both the Y. M. C. A. holiday festival and the Hallowe'en program. Several convocation programs were arranged by the club. The outstanding feature of these programs was the Zip Club quartet which also sang at other programs and on other occasions.

The Latin Club has been an organization in the college for many years. The purpose of the society is threefold: first, to bring Latin students into a closer and better understanding of the Latin language and its people and thus increase their interest in the subject; second, to furnish suggestions for Latin teachers that may be used by them when they go out to teach; third, to serve as a social means to increase the spirit of unity and brotherhood among all Latin students.

The meetings are held the second Monday of each month, at which time the regular business is transacted and a program is given, or Latinized games are played. BLUEWGOLD

The Catholic Students Club has been striving, in its humble way, to serve in providing ways and means for making student life in K. S. T. C. just a "little mite" more pleasant and agreeable than that life might be did the organization not exist.

Its watchword is "Service." While, like other human organizations, it has its "ups and downs," its prosperous and its stringent periods, still it ever believes in "rising after every fall" imbued with new life and new vigor.

The main object of the club is to develop and to give practice in community leadership. Each program is a suggestion for a similar program in a rural community. The programs usually consist of three parts: music, including community singing, a literary program, and plays and games.

The students get actual practice by appearing in Parent Teachers Association programs. P. T. A. and consolidation have been our main problems for the past two quarters. Speakers from the faculty and the city appear from time to time. Another object of the club is to keep in touch with the members in the teaching field and to render assistance in community work where possible.

Under the leadership of Wayne Danielson, as president and Mr. Engleman as advisor, the Y. M. C. A. this year has been an influential organization in the college. The Y. M. endeavors to help young men to realize what constitutes a complete life and a life of service.

The Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. combined their efforts and sent one delegate to the great Quadrennial Convention of the Student Volunteers of the World, which was held at Detroit from December 28 to January 1. The "Y's" were represented at this convention by Wayne Danielson who brought back many inspirational messages.

The Y. M. and Y. W. together planned one of the biggest events ever undertaken by the two organizations in this school. They brought Sherwood Eddy to the college for a three day conference on April 16, 17, and 18.

Mr. Eddy is undoubtedly one of the world's foremost Christian teachers today. He is a man of world-wide experience, having been associated with students in many different countries of the world. The "Y's" feel extremely fortunate in being able to bring such a man to Kearney.

The Women's League was organized in the autumn of 1927. This organization consists of all women students enrolled in the college. The dues paid by each member constitutes largely the loan fund which benefits many young women, and makes it possible for them to attend college. In addition, seventy-five dollars has been contributed to the Harriet Sutton Memorial Organ Fund. The Women's League endeavors to promote the larger social activities throughout the year.

Each year the Women's League makes some contribution to the school. Among the materials provided are attractive pictures, the tea service, drapes for the office of the Dean of Women, linen, and furnishings for the Stexy.

During the programs each month interesting problems are discussed. This year the Women's League has sponsored a drive concerning cleanliness and sanitation throughout the college. It has been very successful.

In response to a long felt need for a more thorough knowledge of the history of our state the history club was organized in our college in 1911 under the leadership of Professor C. N. Anderson. The primary purpose of this club was to collect and study material for Nebraska history.

During past years the club has collected many relics of interest. Among these is a gavel which is reminiscent of the pioneer days. These relics are on display in the history room together with documents gathered by the members of the club.

The club was disbanded for several years but was reorganized in 1924. Under the new organization the purpose of the club has broadened somewhat to include world problems as well as those dealing with our state.

During the past year the problem of world peace has been carefully studied. All of the peace conferences were discussed and evaluated with the purpose of finding some means of preventing war. The concensus of opinion favored the League of Nations as the best peace movement the world has ever known.

The club meets once a month at the homes of the various members and each meeting is followed by a social hour. The last meeting of the year consists of a picnic held at the site of Old Fort Kearney.

Le Cercle Francais was organized in 1914. Its aim is to give opportunity for practice in the use of the language, and to broaden the horizon of the students through a better knowledge of the French people and French literature; it broadens the sympathies of the members through contact with French manners, modes of living, and types of thinking. In this way the work of the club supplements the work of the classroom.

The meetings, which are conducted entirely in French, are held the second Tuesday of every month. After a short business meeting there is an interesting program of French songs, talks, stories, plays and games.

Any one who has had French, or any one registered in French classes is eligible for membership.

The purpose of the organization is to promote leadership and scholarship among the college students, and to sponsor any worthy movement which the fraternity feels would be of benefit to the cause of education. The membership is limited to twenty-four active members and four honorary members.

This year, the Xi Phi sponsored a drive for the Harriett Sutton Memorial Organ Fund. In order to encourage scholarship, the fraternity offered an award of $10 to the student writing the best essay on a subject of his own choosing.

The Birthday Anniversary, December 17, was celebrated in the Italian Room of the Fort Kearney Hotel. This was also a farewell dinner for Dr. Noyer who has been an able advisor of the Xi Phi since its installation.

The Home Economics Club, sponsored by Mrs. Webster and Miss Enochs, was organized November 11, 1926.

This organization has been very active in the work of the college. This winter funds were raised by means of small booth sales. These were conducted in the main hall of the college. Tentative plans for a benefit tea are being made, the money to be used for club expenses.

Each year the club puts on a style show in convocation, displaying the work which the students have been doing in their classes and foretelling the latest spring styles. Discussions are given by a reader as to the suitability of these costumes for each occasion. Topics such as suitable clothes for school wear, for dining out, making applications, and attending formal teas are presented.

The club also plans to petition for nationalization into a professional sorority of home economics in the near future. The entrance fee is being raised by the activities of the different members. Pins which are very unusual and attractive may also be purchased upon membership.

The objectives of this club are to broaden and improve the lives of other young women. From time to time, short talks are given by the members, and also by outside visitors, on interesting subjects. At the monthly meetings delicious refreshments and musical programs help to make the gatherings even more enjoyable.

La Sociedad Espanola is one of the modern language clubs of Kearney College. This club was organized in 1923 under the direction of Miss Ethel Hill, instructor of Spanish, for the purpose of promoting sociability among the Spanish students of the college, to acquaint students with Spanish customs and modes of living, and to provide a means for practical use of the knowledge gained in the classroom.

Regular meetings of the club are held monthly. The hour is spent in entertainment of various kinds, including games, plays, lectures and readings furnished by the Spanish students and by instructors who have come in contact with the life of Spanish people. Refreshments are usually served at the close of the meetings.

At the first club meeting of the year, Pauline Jove, a native of Central America, gave an interesting account, in Spanish, of her trip to this country.

At one of the second quarter meetings, two well known Spanish stories were told by the club members,—"Ramona" by Helen Hunt Jackson, an interesting story of Spanish life in southern California was reviewed by Mrs. Golda Winn, and the story of "Chicken Little" was given in Spanish by Mildred Beadle.

One of the most interesting of the entertainments given by this club was a detailed account of life in Porto Rico given by Miss Culbertson, one of our present college instructors who has spent a number of years teaching in the Porto Rican schools.

The Manual Arts Club has for its purpose to supplement the work of the department of Industrial Education. The constitution of the club specifies general educational aims rather than special. The club recognizes the limitations of extremely specialized education and considers this to be one of its problems. For this reason, the work of the club is designed with the purpose of broadening the student, not only in his industrial outlook, but also in his general viewpoint.

The club meets once each quarter when the members gather around the banquet table. At each of these meetings a speaker from the school or from the industries is invited to deliver a message bearing upon some educational phase of the club's work.

It is not necessary that a student be majoring in industrial education in order to become a member of the club. He needs only to show a reasonable interest in the type of work carried on in the department of Industrial Education. In the very character of its general membership the club finds a broadening influence which tends to keep it from becoming too confined to its viewpoint.

The Academy of Math and Science was organized March 4, 1925. The membership is composed of students recommended from the departments of Physical Science, Biology, Earth Science, Mathematics, and Home Economics and of the faculty members of these departments.

The purpose of this organization is to promote an interest in science and mathematics, and to keep students up-to-date in current and scientific research.

The organization meets once each month. A program is given at each meeting, which deals with some phase of science. The programs this year have been unusually interesting. Miss Crisp talked on "Fall Coloration." A paper was read by Cleo Tourney on "Living Mathematicians." Florence Stewart discussed "Newer Materials on Minerals and Vitamines." "Know Nebraska" was cleverly discussed by Nolan Alexander. A talk was given by Leo Bosinger on "The Importance of Rubber." Mr. Anderson informed us on "The Gas Engine." "Radio" was the appropriate topic of a talk by Mr. Engleman. Sometimes the organization goes outside of its membership for talent. Mr. Ingram of the science department of Kearney High School gave an interesting discussion on "Research." Dr. Sidwell of the State Tuberculosis hospital discussed "Tuberculosis" for us.

The Aspasian Literary Society was organized in November, 1906, for the purpose of giving the young women of the college an opportunity to become more efficient in public speaking and in conducting various kinds of meetings. In the autumn of 1927 there were twenty-eight active Aspasians.

The meetings of the club are held regularly every Thursday evening from seven until eight o'clock, the regular program consisting of short talks, current events, debates, and parliamentary drill. Each member is expected to serve on the program committee and to contribute toward the success of the meetings during the entire year.

The Orophilians united with the Aspasians in the fall of 1927.

The events which took place during the school term of 1927-1928 in the Aspasian society were as follows: Initiation of new members; party at Miss Ludden's in December, and a picnic at the close of the school term.

BESSIE S. BLACK, Chairman; L. E. MANTOR, MARY CRAWFORD Antelope Board

In September, the Antelope started its yearly course under the leadership of Esther Krewson, a sophomore from Elmcreek, and Clinton Gitchel, a senior from Riverdale.

The classes in news writing and journalism furnish a large part of the copy for the paper. This year, as before, the members of the classes were assigned regular beats for news gathering in order that the school in all its activities might be covered thoroughly. In this way the paper is not only furnished with material from all activities carried on, but the journalism classes are given practical laboratory experience in newspaper work, undertaken on a small scale. Those who may teach journalism or sponsor school papers are enabled to come into actual contact with newspaper problems, and to acquire some of the knowledge requisite for their work.

The Antelope, in the years past has grown up with the school, this being the eighteenth year of its publication. Each week 1,050 copies of the Antelope are printed. A great many of these go to the high schools and libraries in Nebraska, many more to colleges in practically every state in the union. The exchange list has grown to large proportions. Besides students and faculty, there are many alumni subscribers to the paper.

The aim of the editor of the Antelope has been to publish news of interest to students and alumni and to keep before its readers any progress that Kearney college may make.

Debate.

Opening the season with a class of six students enrolled for debate, our tryouts numbered six people contesting for eight places. The mathematical problem was a complicated one:—How fill eight placements with six soldiers of argumentation. The group pondered long and "loudly" especially when one of the six was, owing to illness in his home compelled to "check out." Then, "How to fill eight openings with five live ones?" A "wild westerner" finally suggested the "lasso" as a means to a successful solution to the problem.

The affirmative team "locked horns" with six opponents, winning from the last two, and the negative indulged in five "head contests" winning two of the last three.

The teams were composed of the following "willing" workers:

Unique things attract us. Such was the case in a very different recital put on by the students of the State Teachers College, under the direction of Mrs. H. J. Hull. The recital was one of charming story book effect. The students costumed to represent either the nationality of the composer, or the title of the particular piece, easily transported the audience to scenes other than here and now. The wild beauty of the Hungarian dance was sensed not only through the music, but by the sight of the pianist in Hungarian costume. Composers, who before had been just names, lived again, as students appropriately costumed, represented them. The affair is remembered as one of the most delightful ever sponsored by the music department.

The above group, selected from the senior class, presented the English comedy, "Belinda," An April Folly, at the college auditorium Friday, April 13.

To quote the Antelope:

"Without doubt 'Belinda' was one of the most delightful and the most finished plays that has ever been presented by college talent in this school.

The whole atmosphere of the play was a light and airy one. It was a change from the ordinary type of play to which we are accustomed.

The enunciation of the actors was splendid. Even though it was a stormy evening, every word was clearly understood by the entire audience. Much credit and praise is due the director, Miriam Eckhart Drake, for the fine piece of work presented.

The story was of the return of an absent husband to woo and rewin his wife, whom he had left eighteen years before. He finds his wife surrounded by suitors, but he is successful. The action takes place in Belinda's country house in Devonshire at the end of April. The first act takes place in the garden and the second and last acts take place in the hall.

The lighting and stage settings were especially good. "Belinda" was almost the first big production in which the new spotlights have been used. In the second act spots were thrown across the stage as sunlight and in the third act, as moonlight. The latter was especially realistic.

"FASHION."

The Theatre Arts League play given Tuesday, March 6, was a costume play by Cora Mowatt; a five act comedy of the period of 1850, presented according to the style of seventy-five years ago. It was directed by Miriam Eckhart Drake.

The Serenade.

"The Serenade," a comic opera by Victor Herbert, was presented by The State Teachers College Chorus at the Auditorium December 9, 1927. This production under the direction of Professor Louis H. Diercks, marked a great advance in the musical training of the college. It was considered by many critics the greatest musical event in the history of the school and ranked high in comparison with the rendition of the original cast in New York City. From the standpoint of selection of cast, size of chorus and quality of performance, the audience had a great treat.

The stage setting of the auditorium never appeared to better advantage than it did in the artistic environment of the casts and gardens of the monastery and convent school of St. Ursula. The many special touches in appropriate scenery and colored lights along with beautiful and fitting costumes, designed by Miss Louise Enochs and advanced students of the Home Economics Department, presented most efective pictures.

The opera was accompanied most ably by the college orchestra under the direction of Professor R. C. Rogers.

Besides the production of "The Serenade" being a rare musical opportunity for the students, faculty, and residents of Kearney, its chief function was evidenced in other ways. The influence of the training and the personality of the director, Mr. Diercks, has been most apparent, not only at the time of the performance, but in the general presence of the students in many vital situations.

Nothing wins like success. The next opera is assured.—Miss Wirt.

Musical Highlights of the Year.

The College Symphony orchestra opened the musical season of the year Sunday afternoon, November 20, by presenting its fifth concert. An audience of one thousand two hundred turned out to hear the orchestra. As special numbers Morine Nyquist played a trumpet solo and Miss Ruby Morris read "The End of a Perfect Day." Their final Sunday afternoon concert was given March 18. Under the direction of Professor Rogers this group has grown greatly in the last three years, both in number and ability of personnel, and is now truly an effective organization.

December 6 the St. Olaf Quintet presented a varied and pleasing program, chiefly vocal. These five men are all artists, and formerly were members of the St. Olaf Lutheran choir. The singing by the quartette of Russian, Swedish, German and Norwegian folk songs was especially commendable.

The feature of the musical year, barring the Minneapolis Symphony concert in April, was undoubtedly Victor Herbert's light opera, "The Serenade," given December 9 by the Conservatory of Music of the college. A complete writeup of this feature, with a group picture of the cast, appears on another page. However, we wish to acknowledge that leading parts were carried by Mrs. Beulah Van Skike, Miss Irene Thorell, Winsor Odum, Kenneth Minor and Herbert Smets, a picture of the latter in costume appearing on this page.

Madame Renee Chemet, considered in the very first rank of great violinists, appeared in an unusual concert at the auditorium Monday, January 23.

On Sunday afternoon, February 19, the combined college chorus of fifty-five voices presented in costume the oratorio "The Seven Last Words of Christ," by the modern French composer DuBo:s. The chorus work was said to have been almost up to professional standards.

The Carey Sisters, well-known violin and cello artists, played their second concert in Kearney Monday evening, March 12. Their performance, aided by pleasing personalities and beautiful costumes, was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. This number followed a faculty recital given on the afternoon of the day before to a large group of music lovers.

The undisputed feature, musically, of the last half of the year was the appearance Wednesday evening, April 18, of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, who played a splendid concert to a full auditorium. This orchestra was brought to the city for a matinee and evening performance by the combined efforts of various groups in Kearney. Great numbers of the students and faculty who took advantage of this opportunity to hear Henri Verbrugghen and his group, reported "the best orchestra that has ever played in Kearney."

Herbert Smets, as the Duke of Santa Cruz.

The College Symphony.

An organization that is popular in Kearney musical circles is the College Symphony Orchestra. This orchestra was organized three years ago with a personnel of fifteen. Since that time there has been a steady growth, until now it may be called a true symphony. This development has not been in numbers alone, because numbers do not make a symphony. The most marked improvement, from a musical standpoint, has been an enlargement of instrumentation, an ever increasing fineness of technique, and the unwavering co-operation among the players, thereby giving excellent ensemble work. The orchestra has all the instruments found in a true symphony with one exception, the oboe. However, plans are being made to secure this all-important instrument, so our instrumentation may be

All of this is due to the splendid and very able conductorship of Professor R. C.

Rogers. The members of the orchestra owe the success of the organization to the excellent musicianship of the conductor.

As the orchestra has been increasing materially, there has been a decided change in the type of music played. Symphonies, symphonic poems, concert overtures and suites are now included in the repertoire of the orchestra. Many of these have been played at the concerts given, thereby making it possible for the citizens of Kearney and the students to hear these works of art which would have otherwise been unknown to them.

Great things can be expected from this organization in the future if it continues in the direction it is now going. Plans are already under way for the ensuing year and all can look forward to the symphony for bigger and better musical presentations each year.

Dramatic Highlights of the Year.

"Jes' Foolin' Around"—October 21.

—This vaudeville program, consisting of one act comedies, stunts, dances and musical numbers, opened the winter's dramatic program. It was sponsored jointly by the Theatre Arts League and the Zip Club. Over six hundred tickets were sold for the lively and varied program. Talent from outside the college supplemented local players in this vod-vil program. The new combination spotlights were effectively used.

DRINKWATER'S "ABRAHAM LINCOLN"—NOVEMBER 1.—The first number of the lyceum course, this play by the Englishman Drinkwater, held the audience tense throughout its six scenes. True to history in most respects, the play covers the Emancipator's political life from his acceptance of the Republican nomination to the presidency and through the Ford Theatre tragedy. Despite the automobile accident which bruised some of the cast and made the afternoon performance impossible, the evening portrayal of Lincoln by Eustace Wyatt was very favorably done.

Molnar's "The Guardsman"—January 9.—Said to have been the best play of its kind ever seen in Kearney, the New York Theatre Guild's play "The Guardsman," was staged in the auditorium January 9. This troup, playing the greatest of the four plays which the Guild has, was on its first tour. With an open date between Chicago and Denver performances, the Theatre Arts League and the local Drama league prevailed upon them to stop for their only appearance in Nebraska.

Kearney people and students who attended were treated to a quality of acting not often seen in a city of this size. The play was intriguing, though slight of plot.

Zarrarismontessa (1881-1881) (1881-1884) (1881-1884) (1881-1884) (1881-1884) (1881-1884) (1881-1884) (1881-1884)

The players were finished in their characterizations, and had wonderful stage presence and acting personality. "The Guardsman" is probably the dramatic climax of the year.

THEATRE ARTS LEAGUE PLAY, "FASH-IONS"—MARCH 6.—This well acted play of the period of 1850 was reviewed on page 91.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY, "BELINDA"—APRIL 13.—For complete writeup of this production, see page 91.

PLAY DIRECTING CLASS.

The play directing class, under the supervision and direction of Mrs. Drake, has put on a number of interesting plays during the year. Each student must direct a play of his own choice; hence there has been a great variety produced. Some of the best, particularly the first three listed below, have been given before various social gatherings after the presentation in class. These three are:

Mary Schlitzkus, presented "Will o' the Wisp," by Doris Holman; "Columbine," by C. C. Clements, was directed by Genevieve Turner, and Theresa Grantham produced "Where But in America," by Oscar Wolfe.

Others include Andrews' "America Passes By," directed by Dorothy Craig; Walker's "The Very Naked Boy," by Helen Ewald; "Red Carnations," by Robert Huber; "Voices," by Mildred Kunz; "Trial by Jury," by Avis Lambert; "For Distinguished Service," by Lenore Norfleet; De Mille's "Fool," by Morine Nyquist; "Better Never Than Late," by Diesel, Helen L. Rumery, director; "The Robbery," by Kummer, directed by Lucille Cameron, and Fotharo's "In the Darkness," produced by Geraldine Hazlett.

The Alumni Association of the State Normal School and Teachers College at Kearney was organized in 1906. Since then it has greatly increased in size. It now consists of two thousand two hundred seventeen members who have received the Junior College Diploma, and two hundred ninetyfour who have been granted the Bachelor of Arts Degree.

In 1927 the Alumni Association adopted articles of incorporation. The general nature of the business to be transacted shall be the promotion of the influence of the Nebraska State Normal School and Teachers College at Kearney; the increase of the number of its students and graduates; the development of plans for the usefulness of the State Teachers College Placing Bureau and the welfare of alumni. Anyone can become a member by purchasing one or more shares of preferred stock having a par value of five dollars. An alumnus of this school may become a life member of the Association by purchasing one share of common

The Association is also sponsoring the Harriet Sutton Memorial Pipe Organ Fund. This fund has been steadily increasing and it will be but a very few years until the organ will be a reality.

As far as can be ascertained our Alumni are to be found in forty-six states of the Union and in five different foreign countries. Although this is a teachers college its graduates are to be found in nearly all the professions.

· In June of each year occurs the annual meeting, or Home Coming Day of the Association. At this time the classes graduating twenty years and ten years ago are special guests. The chief event is the alumni dinner where they can live over the good old days that were.

My Trust.

(Dedicated to the Teaching Profession)
I am a teacher—
And trusting, childish eyes
Look unto me confidingly,
Their little hands in mine,
To follow me, to anywhere.
Be my way on high or low or middle ground
They follow.
O let me feel
What mighty trust is mine!

I am a teacher—
And ardent, restless, longing youth
Look unto me expectantly,
Fulfillment of their dreams to aid.
As I lead, they follow.
Oh, let me take the upper road
Leading to the heights
And they must follow.
A mighty trust is mine!

One there was
Known throughout the ages
And over all the world—
The Great Teacher,
Who leads forever to the Light.
His name I bear.
Oh, wonderous thought
That challenges my highest, best:
I am a teacher.

By Way of Explanation.

Why Take Life Seriously? You Never Get Out of it Alive.

This article, dear reader, has no intention to eulogize soap and water; we're not writing ads for a laundry. This is simply a preface to the things which are to come. Have you got your listerine handy? Okay; read on.

We dedicate this choice assortment of plain and fancy humor to those helpful, considerate and thoughtful personages who have been kind enough to tell us just how an annual should be edited. Sorry though we are, admit it we must: the parts of this book that you don't like are those parts regarding which we failed to act upon somebody's advice. True, as we see how the various portions of this literary masterpiece are fitting together, our sins seem more glaring, our errors more grievous than we had supposed. Yet, we did listen to a lot of suggestions and accepted advice—some of it. Since we couldn't accept it all, we are prepared for a lot of post-dated criticism. We are also prepared to listen with great courtesy and concealed impatience to a detailed enumeration of our blunders, of which we are already fully aware, of which we are sorry, and of which nothing can be done—now. There was a lot to learn. We are (belated wisdom) wiser now.

Not only these things, but hours of painful typing, dozens of missed meals, rods of chewed pencils, watts of squandered Mazda, and scores of unexcused absences—not to mention the innumerable miles of chasing around after people, things, or both—leaves a high rancor still ranking. The temptation to go on a spree now that the pressure is relieved is irresistible. We are weakening.

The title of this weighty article should have warned that something was coming. It is. This something is half-and-half: half water and half earth. It is called mud. Congressmen and annual editors throw it; but they use different kinds. Ours is mixed thin enough to splash. If it doesn't splash, it may hurt; and we're not feeling quite mean enough, or low enough, to intentionally play rough. That isn't fun. But mud, earth-and-water mud, soft and splashy soil, doesn't hurt when it plops on the neck of your favorite enemy.

Sure, go ahead; laugh at him. That's what we started this game for. But watch out that your sense of humor doesn't suffer a relapse if some of the dirty socks we're handing out get hung on your own clothes line.

The Collegiate Ten Commandments.

- 1. Thou shalt not cross the Dormitory portal after ten o'clock, nor bring home thy date after the bell hath rung, unless thy pull with the Dean be sure and mighty.
- Thou shalt not chin with maidens in the Library, nor laugh audibly, nor behave such as a lady or gentleman doesn't, lest the wrath of Miss Jennings be upon thee.
- 3. Thou shalt honor thy paternal ancestors with frequent letters, lest they forget thy needs, and thy monthly allowance fail thee.
- 4. Thou shalt hearken unto the voice of the faculty, keeping thine eyes open, thy pencil ready, lest they mistake thy diligence and flunk thee.
- 5. Thou shalt purchase a Blue and Gold, for yea, verily, if thou failest, regret and shame will trail thee to the end of thy days.
- 6. Thou shalt not linger in the hall-ways, nor shalt perch upon the marble during convocation, for truly the student council may espy thee and much angry, chase thee away.
- 7. Thou shalt not skip classes, nor conferences with thy teachers, lest thy ability to invent plausible excuses should fail thee, and the powers that be cutteth thy credit.
- 8. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's answer, nor his paper, nor anything that is thy neighbor's, lest thy teacher see thee and bawleth thee out before the multitudes.
- Thou shalt take heed if thy adviser slippeth to thee the delinquency card, for truly that meaneth danger, and thou hadst best dig else thy grade suffer.
- 10. Thou shalt not take this too seriously, else thy sense of humor doth crack and our disgust be upon thee; for verily I say unto thee, he who smileth not hath great need of the Ten Commandments.

Poems Every Child Should Know.

She wore a dress. I laugh at it. For brevity's The soul of wit.

Little drops of water Frozen on the walk, Bring the naughty adjectives We hear in people's talk.

The lad was sent to College; And now Dad cries, "Alack! I've spent six hundred dollars And got a quarterback."

Flunk! Flunk! Flunk!
In that last exam, Oh gee!
And I would that I could use bad words
To express my thoughts to thee.

For those questions made me dizzy,
And pierced my brain like shot;
And oh, for the thought of credits earned,
Or the sight of a grade that is not.

Flunk! Flunk! Flunk!

At the end of my string, Oh me!

For the pleasant thoughts of a passing grade

Are ever denied to me.

THE LAST CREDIT
Seated one day in the class room
My fountain pen in hand,
I came across some questions
I did not understand.

My striving brain did fail me, An error which I rue, For when the grades were given My prof had failed me too.

Little words of wisdom, Little words of bluff Make the Profs all tell us, "Sit down, that's enough!"

Lives of some folks oft remind us, As the page of life is turned, That we often leave behind us Date notes which we should have burned.

I sit alone in the twilight
Forsaken by women and men,
And murmur over and over,
"I'll never eat onions again!"

Of all the words of tongue or pen
That ever came to college men
The best are these—I know, by heck—
"Enclosed, dear son, you'll find a check."

Note Found in the Library Dear:

Can't you understand that it is you that I love and not the rest of the fools? Won't you please take me back and let's be sweethearts again like we once were? You are the only boy I could ever like and I will promise that I will be true to you forever. Note forever is a darn long time when your only 15 or 16.

Won't you please try me again? Signed,

Frank Lydic—When I arrived in Milwaukee, I had only one dollar in my pocket. With that small amount I made my start.

John Roberts-What did you do with the dollar?

Frank-I wired home for money.

"Is your new girl very bright?"
"Well, she thinks that since you play golf on the golf links, you must box on the cuff links!"

Grandma—"Oh, Jenny, darling, I am surprised! Aren't you going to give your brother part of your apple?"

Jenny-"No, granny. Eve did that and she's been criticized ever since."

"You better have your hat blocked." "Why?"

"So it will fit your head."

Mother—Dorothy, you have disobeyed mother by racing around and making all the noise. Now you shan't have that piece of candy.

Father (entering a few minutes later)— Why so quiet, little one?

Dorothy-I've been fined for speedin'."

"My dreams are always broken."
"You shouldn't fall asleep so hard."

THE MATHEMATICAL KISS.

A kiss is geometrical, for it leads to the eternal triangle.

A kiss is curvilinear, for it leads one from the straight and narrow path.

A kiss is discontinuous, for there must always be a break.

A kiss is geometrical, for it parallels insanity.

A kiss is never algebraic, for letters can never be substituted for the real thing.

A kiss is a coefficient, for it always goes with a girl.

A kiss is an exponent, for it raises one to the seventh heaven.

Kisses are conjugate, where there's one, there's two. (This does not imply that kisses are imaginary).

Kisses are Naperian functions, for their derivative is always another kiss.

A kiss is a function with two variables.

A kiss is an eclipse, for the sum of the two distances is always the same—Zero.

A kiss is an Hyperbola, for it takes one to infinity and back again.

Kisses may be multiplied indefinitely, but they are divisible only by two.

But if you can, gentle reader, tell me how to obtain the zyzygy of a kiss.

A Letter to a Professor.

Dear Professor,

I am writing this letter in order to tell you what I think of the grades you gave me and to express my heartiest appreciation of you. Any person who would give me such an array of marks as those I received from you is wonderful, and the man who criticizes the ones that you gave me is a blamed fool through and through. I know well to what small extent my work warranted high grades. I do not think that I was entirely deserving of A's in all my subjects, but I find to my great surprise that nothing was ever further from the truth than that you helped to cause my undoing and to flunk me out of college. Accept my heartiest thanks for helping me so much in all of my work. I do not think that I am standing alone and separate in wishing you happiness. I am sure my feeling is shared even by those who have had the worst possible luck.

Of course, this is my personal opinion, but I think it is true. In fact, I think that if we all knew that you were to die tomorrow the general feeling of grief in all hearts would be so great that the whole college, including undergrads, faculty and myself, would get a terrible let-down and not even the worst drunkards would want to get together for a great celebration. I firmly believe that any man who is not, like you, generous, loving, impartial, firm, and always just, can thus secure the everlasting, never dying enmity of his students easily. He who does not live up to these principles which have led you must be without a particle of doubt deserving of all and any slams which any student expresses, and must have fully earned all criticisms that may be aimed at him.

I will close, thanking you from the very bottom of my heart. The thing which precludes completely anything I could do to add to your happiness is the love of your friends. My only prophecy for your future is that you will very probably be carefully and thoroughly engraved in the memory of all. If I am wrong, I'll be willing to be hanged, drawn and quartered by some loving friend like myself.

Yours very truly, A Student.

P. S. Now, you imbecile, read it, skipping every other line, and see how it sounds.

Surgeon (to attendant)-Go and get the name of the accident victim so that we can inform his mother.

Attendant (three minutes later)-He says his mother knows his name.

Abie was broke. He made up his mind he would call Dude up on the phone and see if he could arrange for a loan of ten dollars. The following conversation took place:

"Hello Dude. Is that you?"

"Yes, this is Dude."

"It doesn't sound like Dude."

"Well, it is Dude."

"Are you sure this is Dude?"

"Yes, it's Dude."

"Say, Dude, listen. I'm broke. Can you loan me ten dollars?"

"All right, I'll tell him when he comes in."

"Worried? What's the matter?"

"Work, nothin' but work."

"How long have you been at this grind?"

"I begin tomorrow."

A question of etiquette: In case of an auto wreck, who should speak first? And should the man precede the lady through the windshield? Con—"The radio will never take the place of newspapers."

Denser-"Why?"

Con-"You can't start a fire with a radio

Effie—"Why hasn't daddy much hair?" Mother—"Because he thinks a lot, darling."

Effie (pause)—"But why have you got such a lot, mummie?"

Mother-"Get on with your breakfast!"

Immigration Agent—"Married or single?"
Raymond Pratt—"Married."

"Where were you married?"

"I don't know."

"Don't know where you were married?"
"Oh, I thought you said 'Why'."

An optimist is a ninety year old man who buys a two-pant suit.

"Gee, your car sounds like an old wreck."
"It isn't the car. It's the rumble seat."

"Young man, can I get into the park through that gate?"

"Guess so, lady, I just saw a load of hay go through."

Warnie (ardently)—"Have you never met a man whose touch seemed to thrill every fiber of your being?"

Ruth-"Oh, yes, once-a dentist."

Ruth Johnson—"Is my nose shiny, dear?"

Winsome Reed—"No, but your right knee is dusty."

Prof. Sutton (after lecture)—"Are there any questions?

Doc. Roadruck—Yes, sir; how do you calculate the horse power in a donkey engine?

Man—If I buy this car, what will I do with my old one?

Salesman—That's easy, just send your boy to college.

Father (of popular daughter)-That young man seems to take a deuce of a long time to say good night.

Mother (wearily) - Men haven't changed

Rastus-Dat baby of yours am de perfect image of his daddy.

Sambo-He shuah am. He am a regular carbon copy.

Prof. Bullock-"Why don't you answer

Luse-"I did shake my head."

Prof. B.-"Well, do you expect me to hear it rattle way up here?"

We men are so suspicious we never know when our wife kisses us when we come into the house whether it is done for affection or investigation.

"What animal lives on the least food?" asked Miss Ludden.

"The moth, it eats nothing but holes."

Squire Green-"Mandy, after I die, I wish you would marry Deacon Brown."

Mandy—"Why so, Hiram?" Squire—"Well, the deacon trimmed me on a hoss trade once."

Mother-"Helen, I want to know what you and Fritz were doing on the sofa until three o'clock this morning?"

Helen-"Oh, mamma, didn't your mother ever tell you?"

"How do you play hookey from cor-respondence school?"

"I send them an empty envelope."

"Say, Casey, did you ever make an idiot of yourself over women?"
"An idjut, is ut? Sure I've made mesilf an intoire asylum."

"How's business?" asked Pat of the undertaker.

"Oh, it's the buries," he replied. "It's the buries."

Over the Fence-in Bygone Years

We haven't suspicious natures ordinarily, but when we pick up two carpet tacks just in front of a wayside vulcanizing place we can't help wondering how much is accident and how much enterprise.

Kisling—"Sing another stanza. The shoe's my size."

RUTER'S---The Fashion

Spring just around the corner. And that means new and charming styles just ahead. Women may lose interest in fashion at other seasons of the year, but there's not a woman living who doesn't want a new dress when all nature dolls up in the spring of the year. Realizing this fundamental need of all humanity Ruter's The Fashion, Ladies Outfitting Store, 2123 Central Ave., has made extensive preparations for pleasing its clientele in the 1928 spring season. With a view to matching the particular individualities of particular people, their buyers have selected models of the utmost variety and distinction. If you select your spring costume at Ruter's there will be no danger of your "meeting yourself" when you turn the corner. Nothing so upsets a woman of taste as to meet the duplicate of her gown on the street. Distinction is the watchword of Ruter's The Fashion and we are glad to recommend them to our readers.

"I don't know what to make of that girl," said a young fellow to another at the dance, "she acts very cold towards me." "Cheer up," was the reply, "remember that chills are followed by fever."

Rastus—"I done read in the paper yistiddy where dey has found Columbus's bones."

Sambo—"Oh, my lawdy. Ah never knew dat he was a gamblin' man!"

The church was packed. All society was there. The blushing bride and the manly groom were at the altar. "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," said the groom.

"Gosh," said a former suitor, "there goes his flivver."

"I hear that you and Bill are on the outs again."

"He's too fresh! I told him my father had locomotive ataxia and the brute wanted to know if he whistled at crossings."

Mrs.-"The $15.00, dear."

"Do you think it's unlucky to wed on Friday?"

"Sure. Why should Friday be an exception?"

Doctor—"Your husband must have absolute quiet. Here is a sleeping draught."

Wife—"When shall I give it to him?" Doctor—"You don't give it to him—you take it yourself."

"I 'spects I'se pamperin' mah wife too much."

"Huh?"

"Yassuh, I done bought her a washin' machine."

He—I hear that you Vassar girls have evolved a wonderful new cheer.

She-Yes, my dear, it's a scream.

The End of a Perfect Daze

And now before we lovingly put the covers back on the gallant Underwood, and sort over the pile of crumpled paper in the corner for the last time hunting for mislaid copy, and go wearily forth into the treacherous darkness of the radiator-infested aisle of the auditorium trying to find our way out, we must say something for ourselves. We, the pup and I, have together slunk home at scandalous hours after wrestling with photos and paste; we have missed meals, skipped classes; deserted friends and forgotten romance; we have blistered heels and calloused thumbs trying to think up and write down new ideas for the other 167 pages of this literary wonder.

Our stock of heavy-duty alibis has been worn ragged with overuse on the delinquent excuse cards; plain and fancy bluffing had to be resorted to in last desperate efforts to head off threatening flunks; and even the blessed luxury of radiatorology had to be curtailed since we became the unfortunate editor.

The little task of herding faculty members and freshmen into the studio; of conserving space and filling space; of keeping tab on thirteen assistants whose efforts had to be synchronized and directed toward a common goal; of spending dollars and saving dimes; and of trying to keep seventeen hours from ruination, has indeed been a rosy one—aye, indeed, a rose-bushy one, without the roses. Obstacles appeared at every turn. Some were overcome; some lack of time, money or originality prevented us from overcoming.

We admit it; there are mistakes. We, the pup and I, can find a lot of places where we wish things had been done differently. But there is only the two of us, and the nights are only so long, and one can't miss all of his classes—and so, if you find a period where a dot ought to be, hesitate to apologize.

We have tried throughout to make this book representative of the student body of Kearney College. We have tried to build a volume that will reflect the true Kearney spirit. We have tried to assemble here facts and fancies which would make enduring the pleasantries of this year of college. We have tried.

And before we lock the door and brave again the terrors of midnight in the cold outdoors; before we, weary-eyed, shuffle for the blessed last time to our respective kennels, we, the pup and I, take this opportunity to wish the class of '28 Godspeed, with the hope that in the future this volume will be of assistance when you wish to reminisce over "the good old days"—

"Our loved Alma Mater for ever and aye, Here's to the Blue and Gold!"
