The Dedication..

TO AVIATION—

For the part which it will play in the progress of the future, for the opportunities which it affords the youth of today in the conquest of the air,—and above all, for that new spirit of chivalrous, tolerant idealism which we call "Air-Mindedness"—do we dedicate this volume.

ANNEX

The Foreword

This volume is intended to perpetuate the activities, associations, achievements, and, above all, the enduring spirit of Kearney College; not only through commemorating the past and present, but in building into the future.

Air-Minded.

The development of Aviation brings to us a new perspective, "Air-Mindedness." In youth this is demonstrated in the spirit of adventure reaching out across the sea to new goals and bright visions.

Youth stands on tiptoe
Stretching, straining, calling—
With arms outflung.
The glint of hope—questionings,
Eager, vital, relentless—
Crimson blood with power pulsating
Youth—air-minded!

This perspective throws new light when Wisdom engaged in the eternal search for Knowledge and Truth, sifts the grain from the chaff.

Wisdom scans the threshold
Clearing, judging, sifting—
With beacons lifted.
Truth of the ages—considering
Consummate, accurate, exacting—
Dynamic power through time unceasing
Wisdom—renewed!

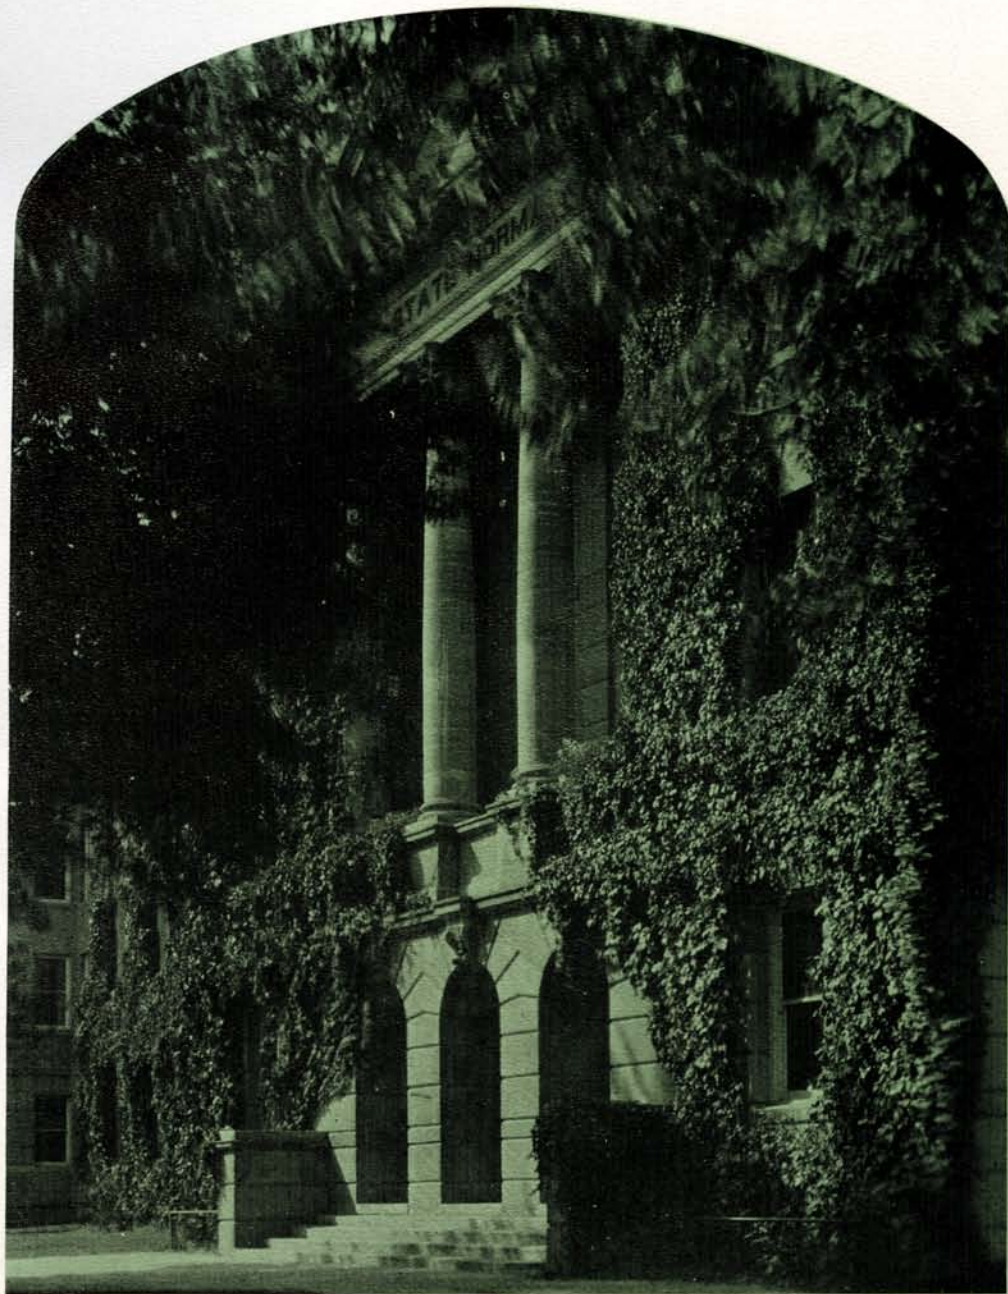

To the World it brings the vision of the brotherhood of man. Let us hope and pray—that the dreams of youth become reality.

Man awaits the coming
Expectant, hushed, and eager
With faults unanswered.
The era of good will,—brotherhood,
Faith, hope, and charity,
Undying trust in an unending love
The new dream!

—Kenneth Waterman.

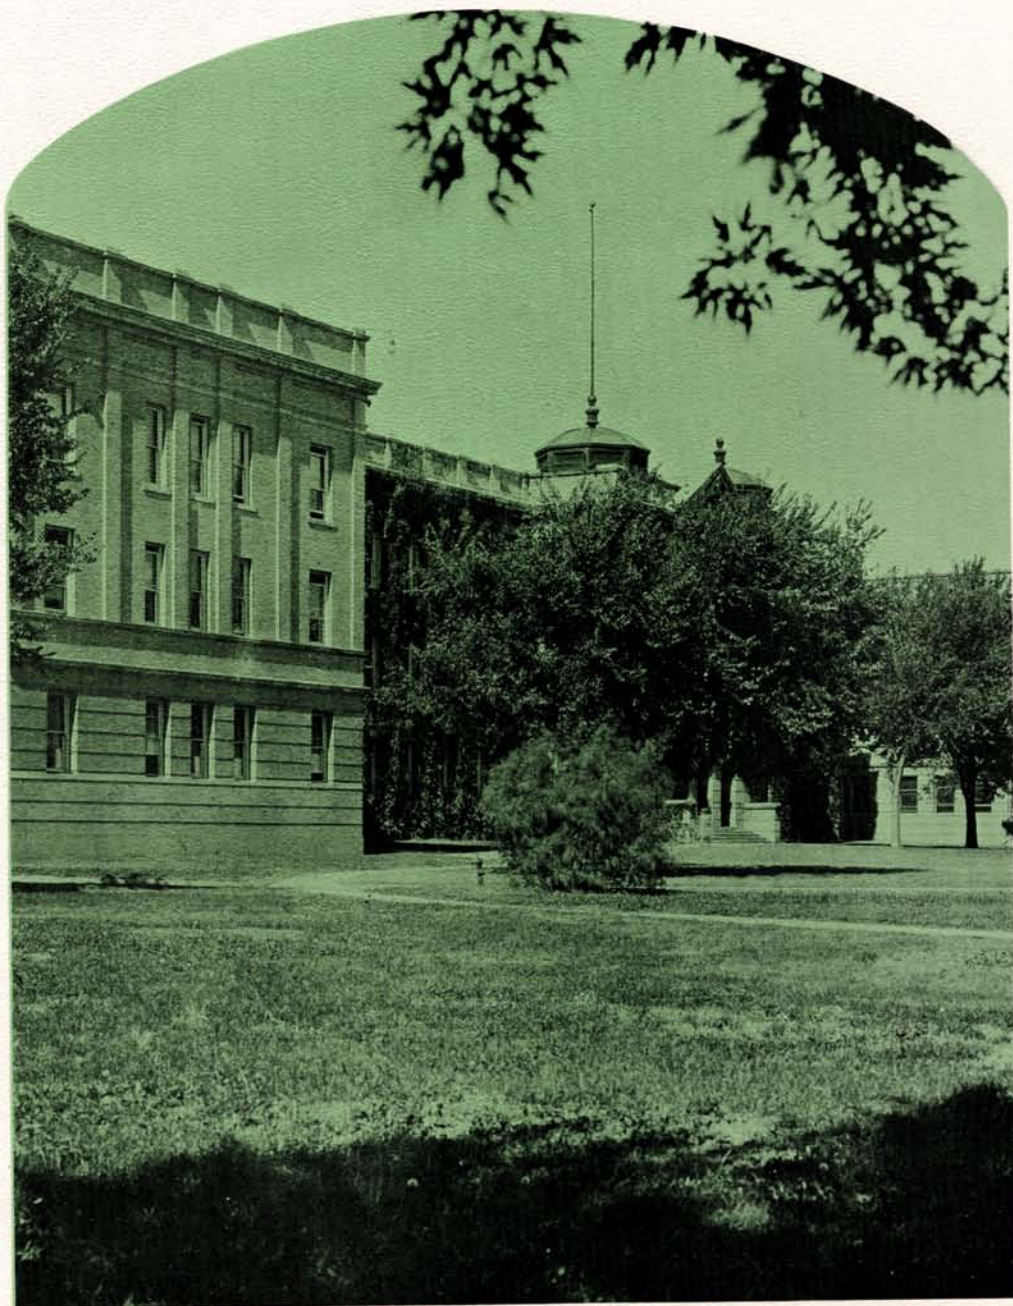

Book One
Kearney Days..

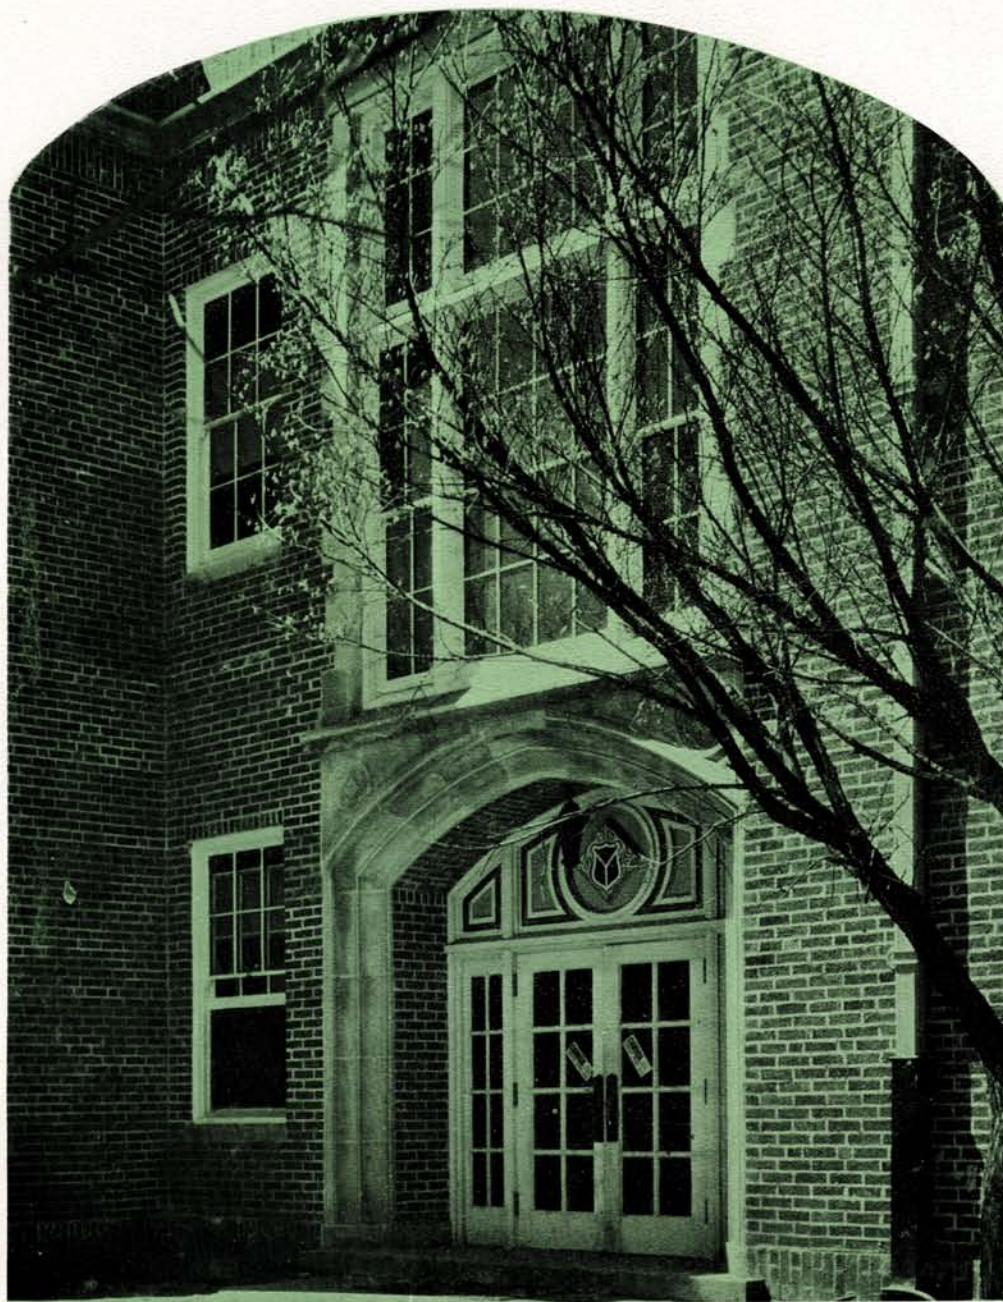

*Memories, the new entwined with old,
As vine-clad portals, mysteries could unfold.*

*The tears and laughter of a college day
Reflected in the dance that sunbeams play.*

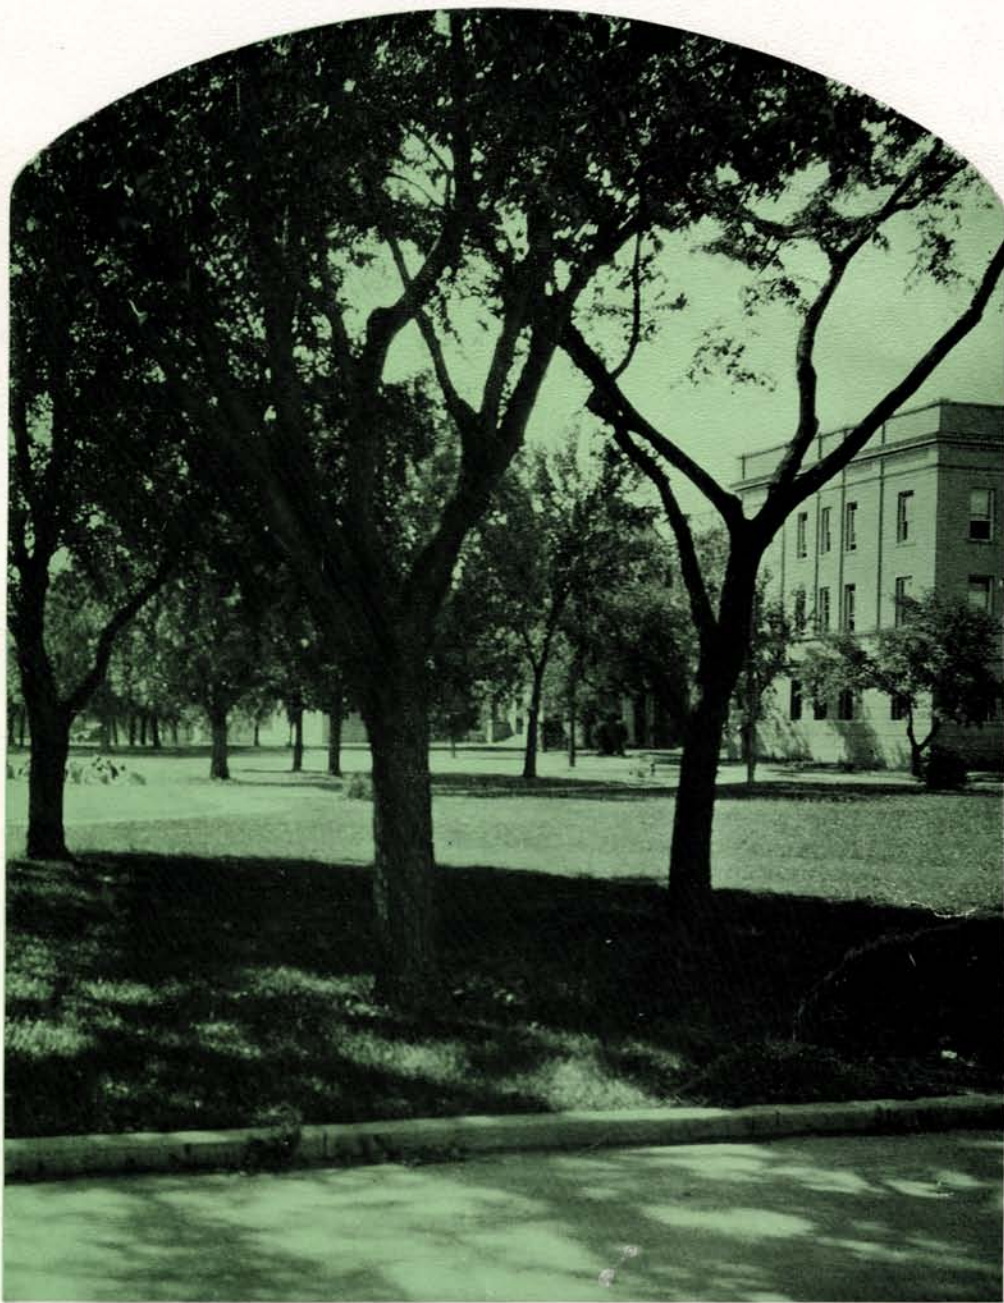

*In life's broad paths we'll turn afar
To do thee homage,—Alma Mater.*

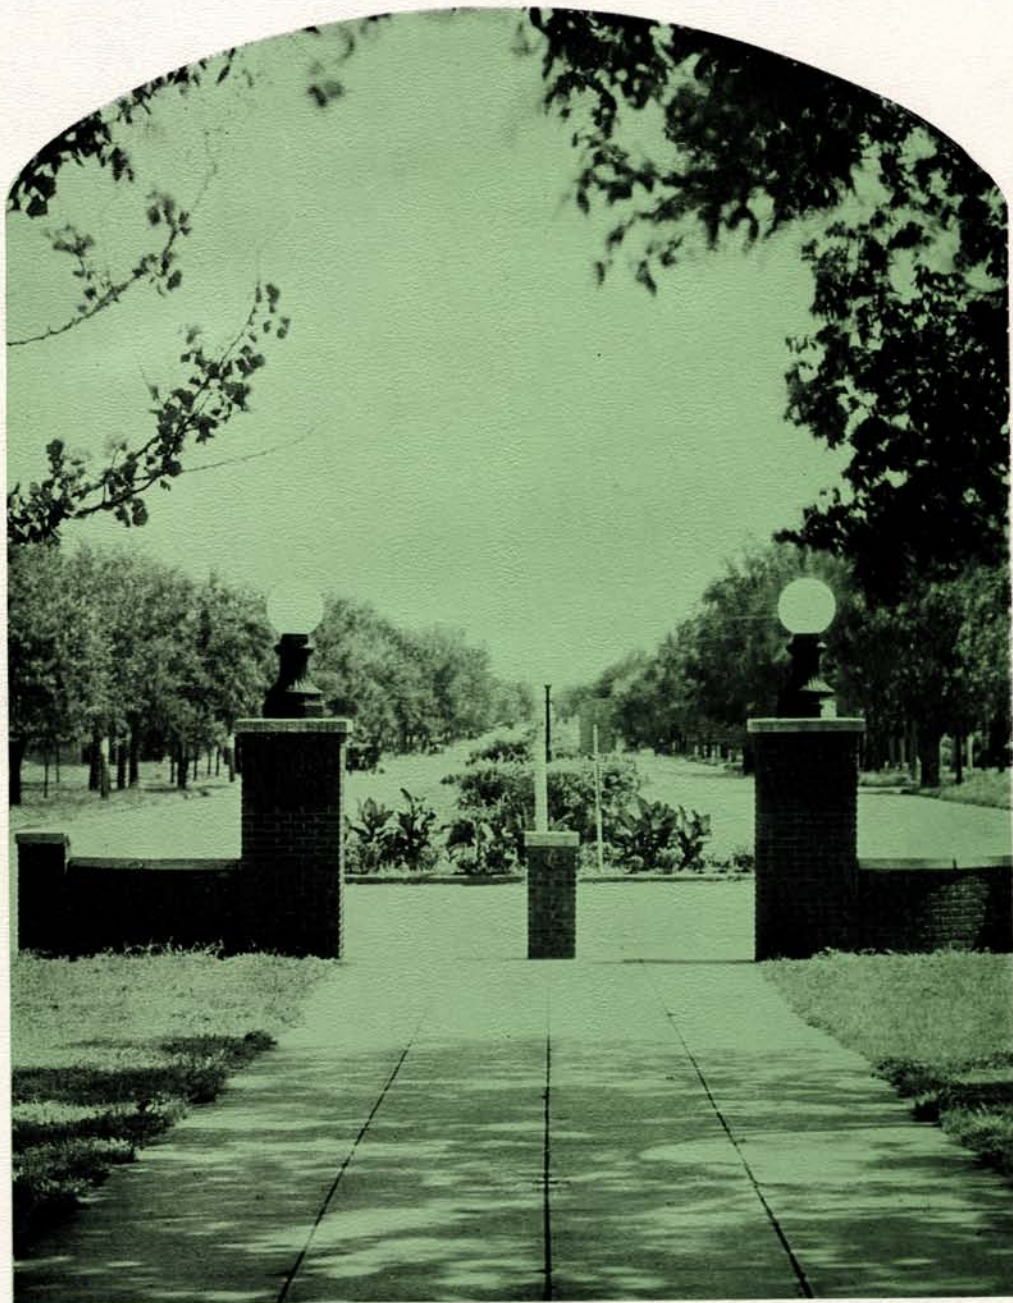

*Inside these walls, O wondrous laboratory
The laws of learning prove their final glory.*

*A medieval castle—camouflaged to hall
Oft holds the "sterner sex" in deepest awe.*

*The campus lures the many and the few.
Still chemistry lab must be my rendezvous.*

*The feet of youth have walked along this way—
Impatient feet, that welcomed each new day.*

Student Government Association.

Mr. L. E. Mantor, Miss Alice Robinson	Faculty Representatives
George West	President
Gladys Grantham	Vice President
Pearl Phillips	Secretary
Sherman Mulvaney, Josephine Martin	Senior Representatives
Bert Bergland, Edross Uehling	Junior Representatives
Bernarr Ptacek, Evangeline Travis	Sophomore Representatives
Allan Smith, Eunice Pedley	Freshman Representatives

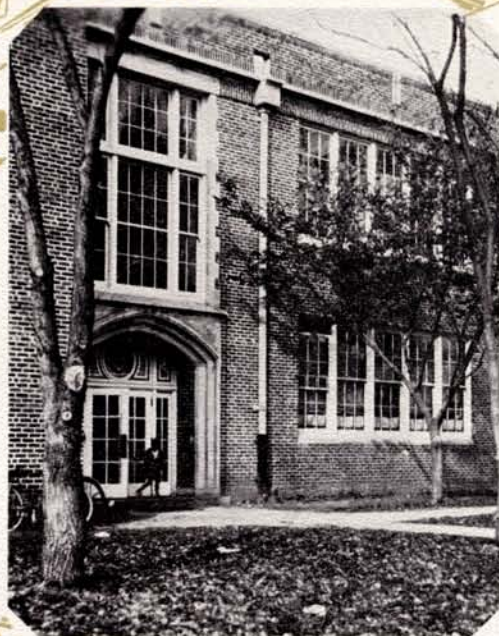

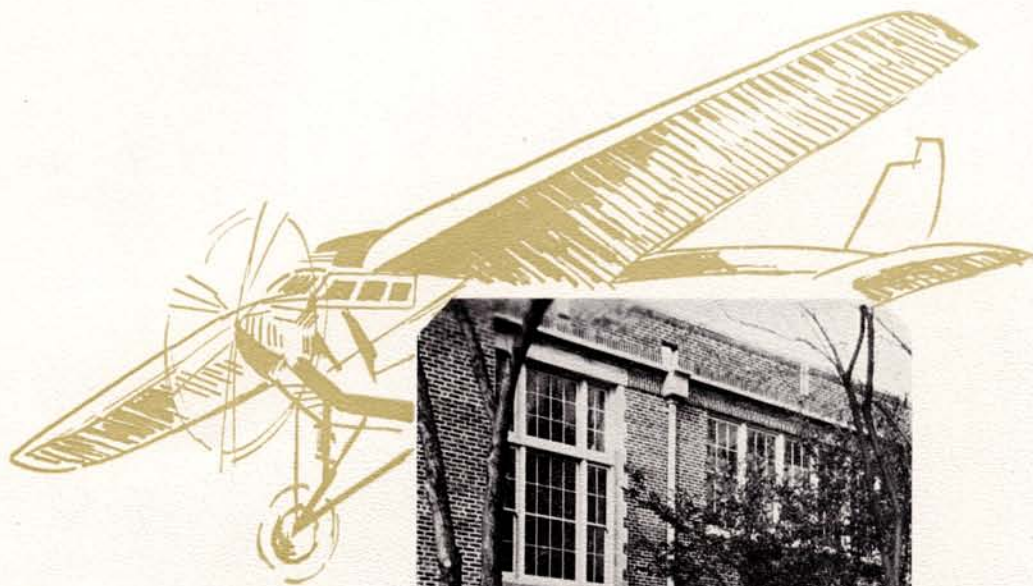

The purpose of the Student Government Association is to promote the scholastic and moral tone of the college; to maintain high standards of honor and loyalty; strengthen the cordial relations between the faculty and students; and to exercise delegated legislative, executive and judicial power over the conduct of the students on and off the campus.

The Student Government Association began in the fall of 1926 with Homer McConnell as president. The following year Clarence Lindahl was president. Last year Sidney Mosser headed that association, and this year George West is serving in that capacity.

The Council is composed of the president, vice president, secretary, and two representatives from each of the four classes and the faculty.

Each year the Council publishes a student handbook, a copy of which is placed in the hands of each student at the beginning of the fall term. This handbook contains the constitution of the Student Government Association, traditions of the school, school yells and songs, and a list of the organizations and extra-curricular activities.

A class which is continually changing with the coming of new students and retiring of old students is greatly in need of some influence to hold it together. The class of 1930 expresses its sincere appreciation for the help and guidance which Miss Hill and Mr. Hale have given throughout the four years of its existence.

Mr. J. H. Hale, who has been connected with the college for thirteen years, has charge of the shorthand and secretarial training classes. Aside from his work as instructor, Mr. Hale has taken an active part in sponsoring extra-curricular activities. He has always taken a great interest in athletics and commercial subjects, and has helped to promote commercial contests.

Miss Ethel Hill is head of the Department of Spanish. She holds the degree, Bachelor of Arts, from Hastings College, and the Master of Arts degree from Columbia University. She has also done graduate work in the University of Colorado and has studied abroad, receiving a certificate from Centro de Estudios Historicos, Madrid, Spain.

The Senior.

You will go out this June from cloistered halls
Of academic wisdom from quiet walks
Beneath the campus trees, from starlit talks
Of youth and life and God. Your future calls
You into the swirl of cities and of men;
You will not come this way again.

You touch my hand and speak sweet, awkward words
Of thanks and parting. You will remember me
As long as singing birds and stars shall be—
And yet—
You will forget.

I watch you go—
I who have trembled for you, hoped, rejoiced,
And stretched a careful finger forth to guide you.

Your soul is a clean, white book whose pages glow
Scarlet and gold and blue—I shall not know
The ending of the story therein voiced.
Your soul is a fragile moth with pale gold wings,
New-broken from its chrysalis, it clings
Vibrant upon youth's stem; I shall not see
The beauty of your flight, radiant and free.
Your soul is a delicate plant I have watched unfolding
Green leaf by clear green leaf;
But you will flower far from my beholding,
So frail remembrance is, so rare, so brief.
Your soul is a small brown bird whose hesitant flying
I follow anxiously; I cannot shield
You from rough winds and storm. You flutter on,
A gleam of sunlight round you prophesying
Your soaring strength. Across the ripening field
You drift, and lift above the wood—on—on—until
You flash beyond the hill—

And you are gone.

Mrs. Romaine Webster received her Bachelor of Science degree and Smith-Hughes certificate from the State Agricultural School at Ft. Collins in 1919. She came to Kearney in January, 1922, as an assistant to Mrs. Wellers. When Mrs. Wellers retired, she became head of the Home Economics Department. Since she came to Kearney, she has been president of the State Home Economics Association.

Mr. Verne C. Fryklund received his diploma from the Stout Institute in 1916.

He has taught in Houston, Texas, Denver, Colo., and in Greeley, Colo., as well as the State Teachers College at Greeley.

He came to Kearney from Denver, and has been here seven years.

During these years here at Kearney, Mr. Fryklund has continued his study in the field of vocational guidance, and has written several articles for current magazines, and has just completed a book, cooperating with Professor R. W. Selvidge of Missouri, on the methods and psychology of teaching industrial subjects.

The junior class feels fortunate in having these two wide-awake faculty members as sponsors. They have been enthusiastic in their work with the class, and have been responsible for its success.

Kearney Field Song.

Yes, we'll fight, fight, fight for the Blue and the Gold
 'Tis our colors we love so dear,
 And we'll win that game that we play today
 Come let's join in a lusty cheer—Rah! Rah!
 We will boost our team whether win or lose
 For we know that they've played on the square,
 So let's fight, fight, fight for the Blue and Gold,
 'Tis our college colors fair.

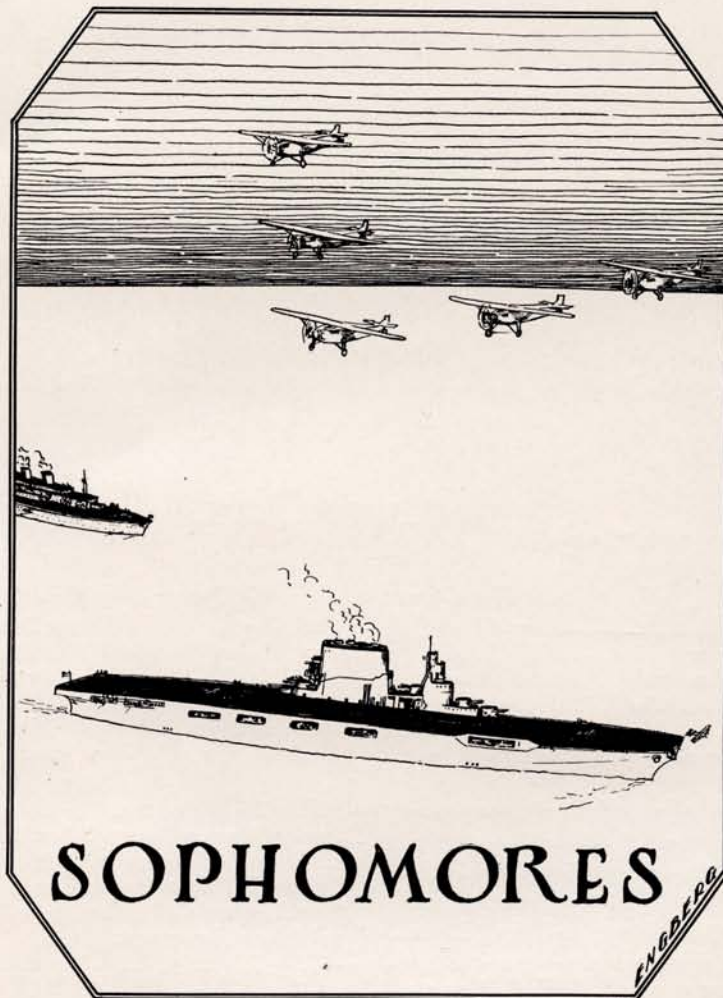

Youth Answers.

Yes—we have heard you!
Your words have reached us from the pulpit, hall and classroom.
Din upon din!
We have left the rapid slash of merciless critics.
It has left us heartless and a little proud.

Yet—you would cram us!
Full,—tight-breathing giants—of your wisdom, power and symbols
Time after time!
Don't blame us if we're cynical.
There is much to do, that you've left undone.

Still—we accept the task!
The motive, to still our questionings and fulfill our youth.
We'll grant to you your wisdom and your dreams.
But Oh Age!—leave us one thing more.
Let us find the way.

Now that we are older and more experienced in the ways of the world, we sophomores are able to appreciate the splendid advice and enthusiastic support which our sponsors, Miss Robinson and Mr. Mantor, have given us these past two years of our existence as a class in K. S. T. C. They are the primary reasons for the success of our class.

Mr. L. E. Mantor received his A. B. degree from the Iowa State Teachers College, and A. M. degree from the University of Iowa, and was a Roberts Fellow in History at Columbia University during 1926-27. This is Mr. Mantor's third year in Kearney State Teachers College as head of the Social Science department.

Miss Alice M. Robinson received her A. B. degree from the Nebraska State Teachers College at Kearney and her A. M. degree from the University of California at Berkeley. This is her third year as Latin instructor in Kearney State Teachers College.

The freshman class, numbering three hundred fifty-four, met for the first time, September 18, for organization.

The first school party of the year, given by the freshman class, was a grand success.

The freshmen took charge of convocation Monday, November 18. This presentation, given as a challenge to upper classmen, showed that freshmen take pleasure in demonstrating their ability in various activities about the institution.

On January 31, the freshman class took pride and pleasure in presenting their edition of "The Antelope," edited by Allan Smith.

The class has furnished outstanding material and ability for football, basketball, track, debate, music, and other activities of the year.

We feel we owe a debt of gratitude to Miss Larson and Professor Ryan, sponsors of our class. We take this opportunity to speak a word of appreciation of the interest they have shown in us, and of the effort they have put forth to push freshman activities.

THE MASCOT OF K. S. T. C.

Book Four Athletics..

Coach Fred R. Fulmer.

Coach Fulmer of the K. S. T. C. Antelopes believes in high ideals, clean living and clean sports. He is the oldest coach in the conference. He has been here nine years, and is much loved by all who have worked under him or with him. Because of his fair treatment and kindly attitude, he can get more out of his men than any other coach.

Assistant Coach Dunlap.

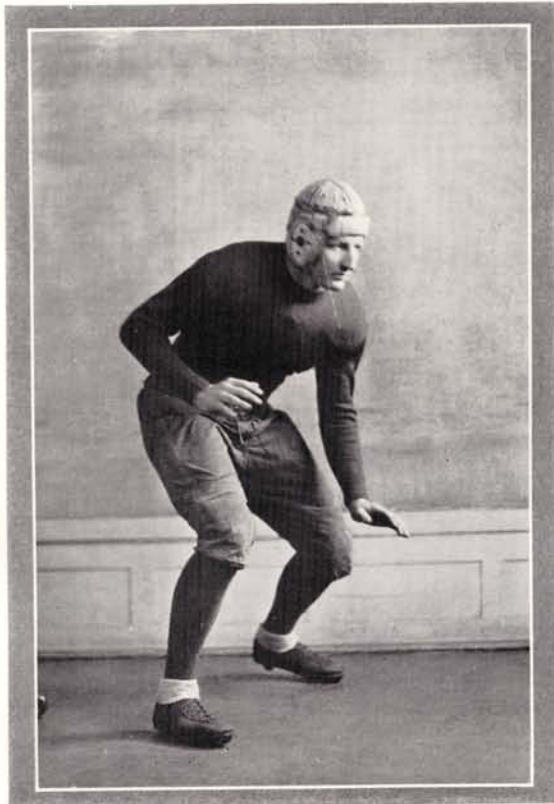

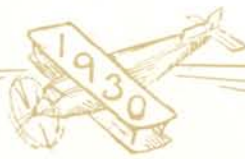

"Rusty" has played football in several schools, and has the honor of being an All-State Half in Oklahoma, and an All-Conference Half from Hastings College and Notre Dame. It was due to his efforts that the team developed some of the fundamentals that made the opponents sorry they tried a particular spot for their charge.

Archie Mason.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN 1929.

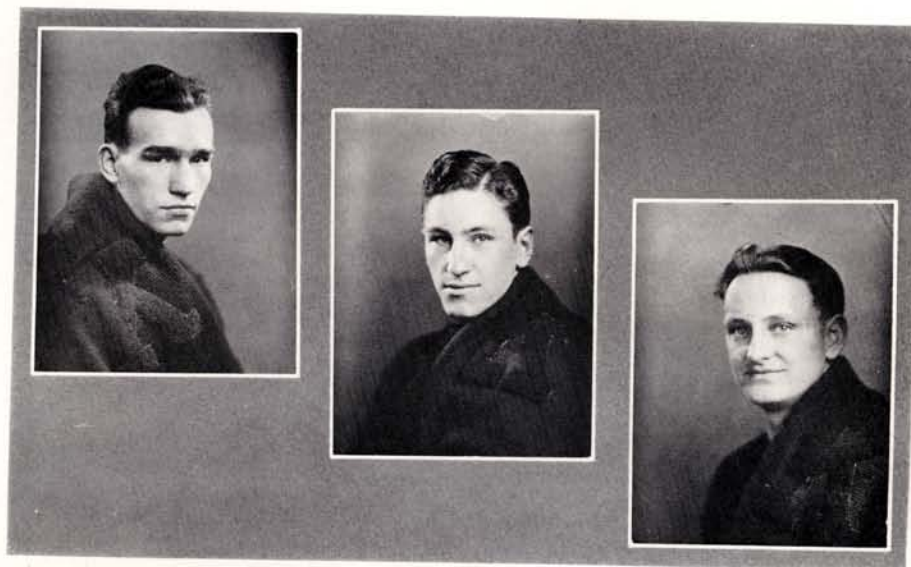

Archie used real head work and spilled many plays behind the opponents' lines. He is a real football man, and, as captain, all the men admired him.

LeRoss Williams.

CAPTAIN-ELECT 1930.

"Cap" plays an "up-and-at-'em" game all the time, and from the tackle position should be able to lead the Antelopes to victory. We wish him success in the 1930 season.

JAMES LOVELL, Hastings, 175 lb. Half-back.

"Jim" plays a consistent game all the time, never gets excited or worried, and knows just what to do all the time. He was valuable, especially for his long, sure passing and plowing.

MERLE TRAIL, Clarks, 198 lb. Tackle.

"Humie" received honorable mention for the conference team, and was an all conference man last year. When the opponents saw the white in his eye, they usually hit the other end of the line. He plays a clean, fast game.

MEADE WESTMAN, Clarks, 180 lb. Center.

The coach was undecided as to just where to play Meade, so he played every position on the team except end. The coach finally placed him at center, and he proved to be a very good pivot for the team to work from. He plays a cool game with his head working all the time.

EARL SHROVE, Loup City, 195 lb. Guard.

Shrove played a strong type of football and played all over the team, starting each play from the left guard position. His beef made a stonewall for every opposing team. He gave all he had, either to stop the opponents or to open a hole for his backfield men.

DALE OLESON, St. Paul, 175 lb. Quarterback.

"Ole" plays football in a business-like way and handled his position in a very efficient manner. Although he received a broken nose the first of the season, his determination kept him going, and he made his letter.

"FRITZ" MEYER, Hastings, 160 lb. End.

"Fritz" is small but pretty well spread out, which quality gave him a good opportunity of playing a real game at all times. He was always in the fight and fast on the punts and passes.

KENNETH DAGGETT, Kearney, 150 lb. Quarterback.

Daggett is only a freshman in name, but he plays football like a veteran. He received honorable mention in the all-conference write-up. He shows good headwork in his signals against opponents. When he gets some added weight and experience, the other teams better not let him get loose.

ARCHIE MASON, Captain '29, Ord, 180 lb. Fullback.

"Arch" is a man who plays the game hard and all the time. He can dope out the opponents' plays and is a real player for backing up the line on defense and going through the line on the offense.

CHARLES SNYDER, Clarks, 170 lb. End.

"Chick" is the only four year man on the team. His services will be greatly missed in the next year's team. He made his only touchdown in the last game this season, and oh! What a smile! "Chick" is noted for his fight and determination.

WAYNE NORMAN, Ord, 182 lb. Guard.

Norman plays the game as a matter of life and death and the opponents preferred life. He is a hard hitter and enjoyed himself most when on the bottom of the pile. He will make a very valuable man as guard in '30.
(No Picture)

HOWARD WILLIAMS, Kearney, 170 lb. End.

"Cal" started out slow, but came in at the end as a mighty fast player. He was by far the hardest of the men to lose his feet. He should be a real asset to the team in '30.

SHELDON WINGERD, Atlanta, 175 lb. Center.

"Shell" played his second year as pivot for the Antelopes this season. He really played because he could see a play ahead to block the opponents or to open a hole for his men.

CHARLES BLAZEK, St. Paul, 185 lb. Guard.

"Eagle" is one of the new men on the team, but plays the game like an old master. He is the one who kept the team playing the game at all times by his words and actions. He was valuable both as an offensive and defensive player.

LE ROSS WILLIAMS, Capt-elect '30, North Loup, 198 lb. Tackle.

"Cap" is a likeable sort and knows his football. He was our most consistent tackler this year, and earned a berth on the all conference team because of his clean playing and his determination to stop all plays.

FOOTBALL SQUAD 1929.

C. Blazek, E. Beck, A. Zum Brunnen, J. Schumacher, D. Bryant, C. Ralston, R. Wilson, M. Westman, J. Lovell, F. R. Fulmer, Coach, C. Miller, R. Heinemeyer, L. Zum Brunnen, F. Meyer, E. Stephens, V. Harsh, K. Daggett, H. Baxter, G. Wiseman.
E. Shrove, S. Wingerd, H. Boswell, W. Norman, L. Williams, A. Mason, Captain, D. Oleson, R. McNickle, C. Snider, M. McNickle.

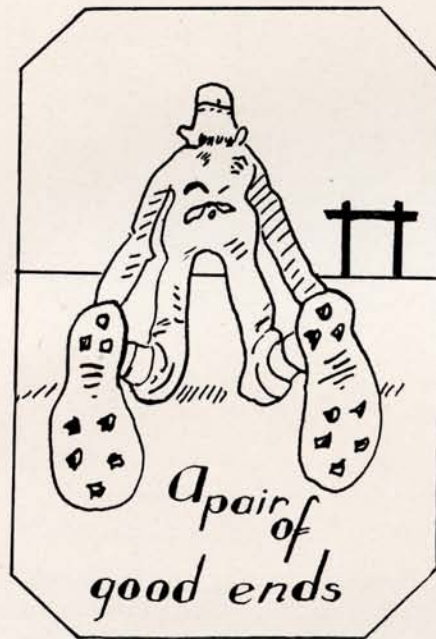

Football Season.

The season opened with the largest squad out for practice in the history of the school. There were nine letter men back, but several important positions were open for new men. Competition was keen for these openings and no one really knew who the lucky men would be. After the first few weeks the number for practice dwindled, but there were usually enough men on the field for three teams.

The games played were against strong, experienced teams, making it difficult for the Antelopes to make a good showing, but it gave valuable experience to the new men for next year.

The men on the first and second teams made two very nice trips, one to Cheyenne, Wyo., and Greeley, Colo., and the other to Marysville, Mo.

Frank Dusek.

CAPTAIN BASKETBALL TEAM 1930.

Frank was an outstanding player on his team. He was fast and sure, and high point man in the conference. He was elected all conference forward. This makes two years at this position for him.

FREDERICK MEYER, Hastings, Guard.

"Fritz" played a persistent game at all times and played the game for all that was in him. He was a part of the championship team two years ago.

JAMES LOVELL, Hastings, Guard.

James was an all conference man last year and this year. He is noted for his skill in dribbling and outwitting his opponents. He, too, played on the championship team two years ago.

LE ROSS WILLIAMS, North Loup, Guard.

"Cap" played his stationary guard position to perfection, and very few ever got away from him. He was also able to sink a few when it was necessary for him to do it.

FRANK DUSEK, Captain, Pleasanton, Forward.

Frank is one of the fastest men in the state with the ball, and is a sure shot. He makes a real leader and is able to read the other team. He was an all conference man last year and this year, and one of the championship players two years ago.

HAROLD NELSON, Brady, Forward.

"Nels" is one of those fellows who play the game easy but consistent. He uses good headwork and footwork. These two qualities in one person make him valuable.

WILLIS WOLCOTT, Kearney, Forward.

"Bill" was a most consistent player. He was always where he was needed, whether on defense or offense, and when he got the ball, it was another basket; that was all.

CHARLES BLAZEK, St. Paul, Center.

Charlie is a good pivot for the team, as he is good on both defense and offense. His height helps him on the tip-off. He received the second team center assignment this year in the all conference line-up.

Basketball.

With several lettermen out for practice, and many as yet inexperienced players all suited up and ready for the whistle, Kearney's basketball season opened auspiciously.

Frank Dusek, in combination with Blazek and Lovell, formed a nucleus for the forging of a peerless quintette, which was completed by the promising expert basketballers, Wolcott and Williams. Nor was Kearney's scoring dependent entirely upon the teamwork and accurate tossing of the first team five, for ever watchful were Fritz Meyer, Harold Nelson and Marcus Morse who, at an instant's notice, were eager and ready to go into the game and, by their brainy teamwork, augment the score of the Blue and Gold.

The hopes Kearney had and the faith she placed in her team was well justified by the outcome of the long-to-be-remembered western trip, which showed, as perhaps nothing else could, the ability of Kearney men when they were "under fire," and they returned to Kearney more than pleased with the hospitality shown them, the unforgettable things they saw, the experiences they had, and the scores they "piled up" against the professional teams from Chicago and Lincoln, and the others they played.

As the season progressed and the scores piled up, it seemed but a matter of time until another championship would be Kearney's, and the silver basketball would be weighting down a shelf of the Antelope trophy case. As to why the first Chadron game came out as it did, who can say? We beat the champions-to-be by a decisive score of forty-two to thirty, only to have the performance at Chadron repeated on our own floor, this second defeat by the Eagles losing to us the chance at the crown. Alibis could be given, but they are superfluous; our quintette played gamely, cleanly and fair; we beat the champion team, in fact were the only team that did; and showed the other teams what we were capable of when on the maple floor. K. S. T. C. is still game, and other seasons are coming, and we wonder whether Dusek will again be high-point man of the conference with Blazek next, or will other basketballers have that honor. Who can tell? Here's to the team of '31 and those who may follow them.

Frank Lydic.

CAPTAIN TRACK TEAM, 1929.

Lydic is the long distance man, and holds two records here, one in the two-mile and the other in the mile. He represented us at Drake and placed fourth. He runs easy but fast, and we expect much of him in the future.

TRACK SQUAD, 1929.

G. Burger, S. Mosser, D. Peterson, P. Carlson, W. Richards, R. Wilson, F. R. Fulmer, Coach.
J. Lucas, O. Watts, W. Gall, R. Harmon, H. Williams, M. Tschabrun, M. Morse.
R. Dickerson, M. Samek, R. Pollard, F. Lydic, Captain, M. Trail, V. Kirste.

Track Season.

The season was quite successful from the standpoint of winners in the various meets.

The Antelope's first contest was with the Grand Island Zebras. Every Antelope placed in this meet, giving us a total of 89 2-3 points. Dickerson placed high with three firsts.

The Hastings Bronchos won from the Antelopes on a muddy field, but some of the races were very closely contested.

The Wayne meet was the turning point in history, for twelve records were broken, and some by our own men.

Hays College failed to come due to heavy rains and mud.

Lydic entered the races at Drake, and placed as a winner.

O. Watts, Captain, L. Swenson, F. Lydic, C. Phillips, D. Peterson, J. Schumacher.

Cross Country Team.

The Cross Country Team was composed of Captain Orlie Watts, Frank Lydic, Jim Schumacher, Leland Swenson, and Claire Phillips. They cleaned up on all contenders for the championship.

The first meet was at Doane. We came out with a first, second, fifth, sixth and seventh.

At Wayne, the next meet, there were only three runners, Watts, Lydic and Schumacher. We took an easy first, by Lydic, and third and fourth, by Schumacher and Watts.

The next meet was with Hastings on our home field, and included a real race between Lydic and Hammel. Lydic took second, and we placed fifth, sixth, eighth, and tenth. This was the only race that we lost.

The A. A. U. was run here. It was to include the four states, that is, the colleges and universities of both Dakotas, Iowa and Nebraska, but only Hastings, Wayne, and Kearney entered.

L. Bush, W. Hickenbottom, Coach Wingerd, W. Widener, Captain E. Snowden.
J. Soares, M. Widener, M. Tappan, E. Allen.

Training High School Basketball.

The 1929-30 basketball season was most successful for the Trainers. During the regular season the Trainers played twenty-six games and won nineteen. The Trainers were runners-up in the Sectional Tournament and were entered in the Regional. The season's climax came when the Junior Antelopes held the fast Kearney High team 12 to 7 in a game which served notice to all that hereafter the Maroons are not to be taken lightly. The Trainers boast of wins over Riverdale, Amherst, Pleasanton, Miller, Oconto, Eddyville, Elmcreek, Gibbon, Shelton, Axtell and Greenjackets. With exception of Kearney High School, the Trainers won over every opponent at some time during the year. Letter men are Captain Walter Widener, Melvin Widener, Eugene Allen, Lynn Bush, Marvin Tappan, Lester Tappan, Eldridge Snowden, Joseph Soares and William Hickenbottom.

The team was coached by "Shell" Wingerd, former athlete of Kearney State Teachers' College.

This spring the Trainers have entered a newly organized conference, to be known as the "Tri-Valley Conference." The member schools are: Amherst, Gibbon, Kearney Trainers, Overton, Pleasanton, Riverdale, Shelton, and Wood River. It is planned to select conference champions in basketball, football and track each year.

The Trainers have about fifteen men out for track, which give them a good chance for a fine showing in the conference meet this spring.

O. Myers, G. Eckhardt, H. Panek.

Yell Leaders.

George Eckhardt, our Wisconsin Bolshevik, king of the Antelope rooters, kept the K. S. T. C. spirit burning at a high flame throughout the football season and on through the winter season of basketball games. He was assisted by Hazel Panek and Orva Myers.

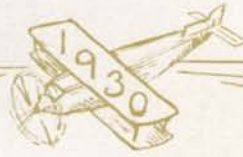

George was graduated from Viroqua, Wisconsin, high school, in 1929. He was drum major in the all-state band, and state champion orator the same year. He has done work in debating in both high school and college.

Hazel Panek, a 1925 graduate of Kearney High School, is a major in the physical education department. She was, for three years, a yell leader in high school. In the years 1926 to 1928 she was on the team at K. S. T. C.

Orva Myers, also a major in physical education, is from the Broken Bow High School, class of 1927. She was a yell leader there and for the past two years has been on the K. S. T. C. team.

At football and basketball games this trio of cheer leaders led the Kearney fans in yells and songs until the team drove to victory.

The Academy of Science and Mathematics.

OFFICERS.

Leo Baisinger President
 Mrs. Vera Bate Vice President
 Frances E. Corning Secretary-Treasurer

The Academy of Science and Mathematics was organized and held its first meeting on March 14, 1916.

The members of this organization consist of students recommended from the Biology, Earth Science, Physical Science, Home Economics, and Mathematics Departments, as well as each faculty member in these respective departments.

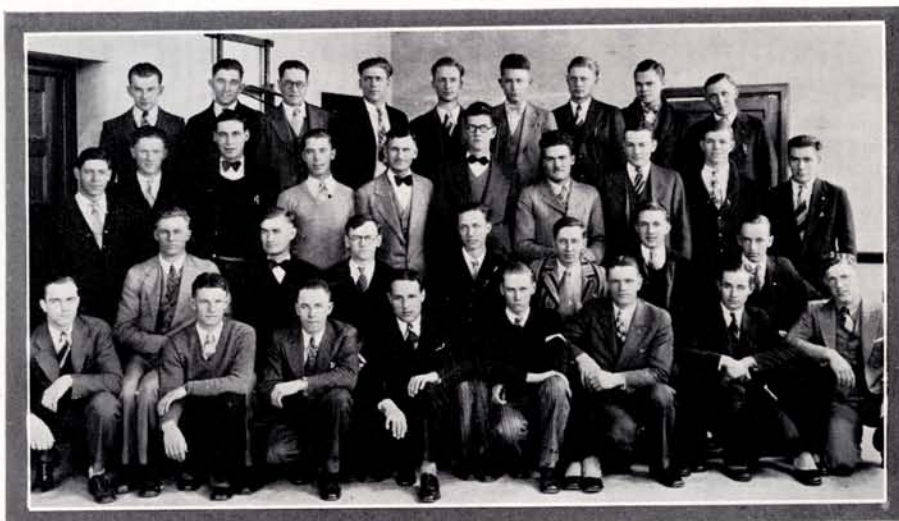

Seventy-one new members were admitted into the organization this year.

The purpose of the academy is to create and propose any intelligent interest in science and mathematics by way of the opportunities afforded by the study of scientific advancement.

The programs this year have been very interesting as may be seen from the following resume of the lectures:

Diet and Nutrition Dr. J. H. Farrell

Under the leadership of Mr. Otto Olsen as sponsor and Harold Teter as president, the Y. M. C. A. enjoyed a very successful year and proved to be one of the most influential organizations in the college. The purpose of the "Y" has been to help students find themselves; to aid the freshmen in the difficult task of orientation which faces them on entering college. To do this, the Y. M. C. A. has sponsored a great many wholesome activities.

One of the outstanding events of the year was the coming of A. J. "Dad" Elliott on December 10 to 12. This was sponsored by the three Christian organizations of the college. "Dad" is a nationally known specialist in students' religious problems and his talks at K. S. T. C will long be remembered by all who heard him.

Another thing which the "Y" sponsored was the "Acmy" Athletic Carnival. This was held in the gymnasium and consisted of boxing, wrestling, basketball, and other athletic events. The contestants were students of the college and, therefore, a great deal of interest was created.

Mr. Raymond N. Nazer	Sponsor

The Zip Club was organized six years ago and since that time has become one of the outstanding organizations on the campus. It is the clearing house for all extra curricular school activities. The aim of the club is to promote loyalty, school spirit and to cooperate at all times with the other organizations. Among its members are many of the officers of the other clubs. The personnel of the club is limited to forty members chosen from the student body and only those people who have shown themselves able and willing to work for the best interests of the college are selected.

This year the Zip Club again purchased the sweater awards for the letter men in football, basketball and track. Money for this purpose was raised by an entertainment this summer, "The Spazfest," and by several school dances. The club has had charge of the pep rallies and several convocation programs during the year. Its annual "Boner" well merited the acclamation of the entire school. The Zip Club took care of the financing of Victor Herbert's comic opera, "The Red Mill," which was given by the music department.

This institution may well be proud of this organization and the good work which it is doing.

The Xi Phi Fraternity was founded at the Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia, in February, 1923. On December 13, 1924 the Gamma chapter was organized in Kearney State Teachers College.

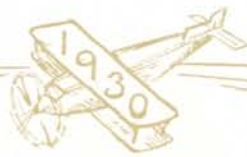

The purpose of the organization is to promote leadership and scholarship among college students, and to sponsor any movement which the fraternity feels would benefit the cause of education.

The membership is limited to twenty-four active members, chosen from the Senior College, and four honorary members who are affiliated with the college as faculty members.

This year the fraternity sponsored an editorial contest, offering prizes to three students writing the best editorials on suggested topics.

The Annual Birthday Dinner was held December 14, 1929, in the Italian room of the Fort Kearney Hotel. This annual dinner serves as a reunion of all active, associate and honorary members.

A few years ago a group of students who pursued dramatics as a hobby organized a club known as the Theater Arts League. Only those students who showed distinctive dramatic ability were accepted. From the time of the founding of the organization it has grown steadily in popularity, and this year the league presented two three-act plays that were of unusual merit.

The first of those productions was Elliott Lester's clever comedy, "Take My Advice." The casting of this play was new and decidedly unique. Each act had a separate cast. In this manner twenty-four members of the league were enabled to take an active part in the play. The play was presented two weeks after the cast had been chosen. In the middle of the second quarter a group of the club members presented Ibsen's "A Doll's House."

The club held its two social functions during the first and third quarters. In the fall quarter the league held a waffle supper and dance in the Y. W. C. A. room and in the spring quarter a St. Patrick's Day dance in the Highlander Hall.

Dramatically, financially, and socially the members of Theater Arts League feel that the year 1929-30 was a decided success.

The Xi Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, was organized in Kearney State Teachers College, November, 1928, and since that time has made creditable showing. It is sponsored by Calvin T. Ryan, national historian of the organization.

The purpose of Sigma Tau Delta is to stimulate a desire on the part of our members to seek to express life in terms of truth and beauty, and to make first hand acquaintanceship with the chief literary masterpieces of our language.

Fraternity rulings limit the membership to twelve active members. Active membership is limited to upperclassmen majoring in English who have completed a minimum of two college courses in literature in addition to the usual requirements in freshman English, and to graduates meeting the preceding standard who are professionally engaged in the study or teaching of our language or its literature. The honorary members are President Martin and Miss Augusta Kibler.

Xi Beta held a formal Christmas banquet and initiation in the Italian Room of the Fort Kearney Hotel on December 17.

A contest sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta, was held at the beginning of the third quarter for the purpose of stimulating creative writing among freshmen. Allen Smith was awarded first prize for his essay, "Blessed Home," the prize being the National Freshman Medal of Sigma Tau Delta. The second prize was won by Verla Trueman. Miss Trueman received the medal awarded by Professor Ryan.

A formal spring dinner which was well attended by the alumni closed the sparkling year for Xi Beta.

The Young Women's Christian Association, the largest organization in the college having voluntary membership, sponsors social activities that embody high ideals of life that make a growing knowledge of God possible to all students who would follow Him.

After the membership campaign last fall, during which time almost two hundred members were secured, the annual membership banquet was held. The banquet established a feeling of good will and fellowship among the girls and helped them to find their places in our Y. W. C. A. organization.

Other activities that were sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. during the year were the Annual Holiday Festival on December 15; an informal tea for "Dad" Elliott and Miss Gwinn, our regional secretary, on March 18; and our house warming and informal reception for new cabinet members on March 6.

"Dad" Elliott's visit was distinctly inspirational to the student body and Miss Gwinn, during her visit to our campus, helped the new cabinet members materially in their organization for the coming year.

Our secondary goal of redecorating and refurnishing the Y. W. C. A. rooms has been realized. Due to the careful management of our finance committees, we were able to turn fifty dollars over to the World Student Christian Federation Fund, place fifty dollars in the Estes Park budget, and make a donation to the Pipe Organ Fund of two hundred dollars.

These accomplishments were made possible through the untiring efforts of the association and the loyalty of K. S. T. C. students.

The Home Economics Club, sponsored by Mrs. Romaine Webster and Miss Louise Enochs, was organized November 11, 1926. The purpose of this club is to broaden and improve the lives of other young women.

Each year the club puts on a style show in convocation, displaying the work which the students have been doing in their classes. Discussions are given by a reader as to the suitability of these costumes for school wear, for dining out, for making applications, and for attending formal teas.

This winter bake sales were conducted to raise funds for the improvement of the department. A doll project was very successfully carried out. The dolls were dressed to represent styles of different countries. The dolls were then given to the children at the state hospital.

From time to time talks are given by the members and by outside speakers. Music and refreshments are added at the monthly meetings. The club plans a petition for nationalization into a professional sorority of home economics in the near future.

La Sociedad Espanola, organized in 1923, has made the 1929-30 school year one of the most successful ones of its existence. The club has made remarkable progress in its purpose of promoting interest in and knowledge of the Spanish language and people.

Led by a sponsor who has studied the Spanish people in their own country, and a president who has lived several years in Mexico, the members of La Sociedad Espanola, numbering almost fifty, were able to create a real Spanish atmosphere in their club meetings. Other first hand information came from two students, Pauline Jove, a native of Central America, and Loudy Knezek, a Bohemian boy who has traveled in Spain and speaks the language fluently.

Among the most interesting Spanish Club programs were the talks given by Mr. Knezek concerning his travels in Europe and Africa and by Mrs. Ruby Beaty concerning her former home in Mexico. A one act Spanish play, stories told in Spanish, Spanish songs and reports about the Mexican beet farmer in the United States furnished material for other programs. However, Spanish Club meetings aroused interest in Spanish life not only through its programs, but also by means of the games and social time which followed the regular meeting. Familiar games were especially appealing when played in Spanish, and the members also learned new games which are typically Spanish.

La Sociedad Espanola is proud of its year's work because it has accomplished a difficult thing. It has made meetings which are primarily educational, entertaining.

The Antelope debate squad won ten out of twelve conference debates this year, which is the best record for some time. The victories were two each over York College, Grand Island College, Nebraska Central College, and one victory each over Nebraska Wesleyan University and Midland College. The win over Wesleyan was a signal victory in that it broke the "Indian sign" the Coyotes seemed to hold over K. S. T. C. It had been many years since the Antelope had defeated the Lincolniters.

Those speakers lost to the squad by graduation are Raymond Jones, three year debater; George West, two year debater and orator; Sheldon Wingerd, two year debater and extempore speaker, from the affirmative; and from the negative, Leonard Christensen, two year orator and debater, and Leo Baisinger, one year debater. Coach John Matthews will have Henry Waltemade and Oliver DeWolf left as a nucleus for the 1931 team. These two debaters did not participate in a single losing debate.

The question for debate was "Resolved that the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament except such forces as are needed for police purposes." A squad of about fifteen worked the entire second quarter on the question.

"The Red Mill."

In the land of Zeeland, near the village of Katwyk-ann-zee, there stands an old and famous inn, known as the "Red Mill Inn," its name being taken from that supposedly haunted mill in which a certain young princess disappeared on the eve of her wedding. Far and wide, the fame of this inn spread. And it was in this old mill that history nearly repeated itself.

This mysterious inn in this even more mysterious land formed the nucleus for the most clever and intriguing comic opera that has ever been produced at the music department of K. S. T. C. "The Red Mill" was written by Victor Herbert, the most noted of American light opera composers.

The scene opened in the court yard of the Red Mill Inn, with the old mill itself standing prominently in the foreground. The place was teeming with life and merriment, the artists, the flower girls, the peasants, and all the rest of the villagers were gathered there, enjoying life as it was meant to be enjoyed. Staying at the inn were two Americans, Con Kidder and Kid Conner, who were somewhat financially embarrassed at the time. Around these two clever comedians, the plot began to unfold.

The plot itself reads like a fairy tale. A beautiful girl, the daughter of the burgomaster, was to have married the governor of the province, at the request of her father. However, she was in love with a sailor. Her father, becoming enraged on hearing this, locked the girl in the mill, and imprisoned her lover. She disappeared—exactly as had the princess a century ago. The burgomaster employed the services of Sherlock Holmes and Doctor Watson, who turned out to be none other than the two Americans. Of course everything ended in the conventional manner with everybody happy.

The clever lines and pleasing melodies of "The Red Mill" together with superb acting of the cast, made "The Red Mill" the outstanding musical production of this year, and of years gone by. The costumes and scenery were strikingly worked out, and to make a long story brief, "The Red Mill" will serve as a model for future productions in K. S. T. C. for years to come.

The production of "The Red Mill" was under the direction of Professor L. H. Diercks. The music department received valuable aid from the Zip Club in the business management.

Kearney Symphony Orchestra.

During the absence of Mr. Raymond C. Rogers, Mr. Raymond N. Nazer took charge of the Kearney Symphony Orchestra, and during the year gave a series of concerts of a high order. This organization includes many people of both the student body and the community. It is truly a community organization. The orchestra meets every Thursday evening for rehearsals which prepare it for the concerts held during the year.

A number of the members were selected to play for the Choral Union's first concert when they gave the memorable "Messiah." The orchestra for "The Red Mill" was drawn from the symphony. On both occasions the orchestra did its bit toward making the events successful.

The dates of its concerts are as follows: September 27, October 30, April 13, May 2 and May 29.

On the first two dates the orchestra gave concerts from one-half to three-quarters of an hour in length. The concert on April 13 was an hour and a half long. In this concert were played Mozart's "E Flat Symphony," two numbers of "Minuet Farandole" from the "L'Arseliene Suite," and "Lustpiel Overture." Mrs. Webster played one harp solo and accompanied Herald Stark's vocal solo.

A special combination has been brought together to supply the orchestral music for the Silver Jubilee on June 19 and 20, 1930. They are rehearsing music arranged by the Music 202 class, under Mr. Raymond N. Nazer.

Kearney State Teachers College Band.

An organization that was begun in the fall of the school year as a pep organization, it now supplies music for all athletic events. Starting with a group of six valiant souls, it has now increased its membership to thirty. The organization has played for many convocations and its programs were well received.

In the group are a number of instrumental soloists, such as Archie Wheeler, trumpet, George Eckhardt, baritone, Lo Desca Nyquist, piccolo, and Leonard Wilkie, sousaphone.

Inasmuch, as we had quite a cold winter, the band thought it advisable to buy as its athletic event uniform, "Parkas," a sweat-shirt affair, with a hood. At our first appearance in these uniforms, the student body was struck with our similarity to our northern brother, the eskimo. Thus, during the early part of our career we were known as "The Eskimos."

On October 12 the band and two hundred of the student body accompanied the football team to Omaha for our annual game with Omaha University. Our parade through the streets was a memorable occasion.

Upon reaching the status of a concert band, we made arrangements for uniforms which are worthy of the school and the organization.

On April 5 the entire band went to Ravenna to broadcast, and gave a one hour program, of concert numbers and marches.

The band is sponsored and directed by Mr. Raymond N. Nazer.

R. Burman, R. Albright, H. Williams, L. Lucas.
G. Munson, B. Bergland, P. Shovlain.

The Collegians.

This organization is an outgrowth of the Kearney State Teachers College band, and plays for all the school dances. These dances are held once a month in the school gymnasium.

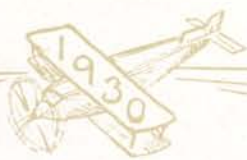

The social life of the school has been greatly enriched since the beginning of the dances. The dance orchestra has served as a unifying force in keeping the social life of the student body centered on the campus.

The Kearney State Teachers College band draws its income from the weekly sunset dances and the monthly school dances. This income is growing slowly, but steadily. This fund is used to defray expenses, such as repairing of instruments and the buying of new music.

The dance orchestra gave a convocation program, assisted by Jay Lucas, which was handsomely received.

This organization is in charge of Howard Williams, and sponsored by Mr. Raymond N. Nazer.

“You and I.”

“After marriage absolute independence is impossible. You no longer have freedom—freedom to think only—I and my work. From then on it’s you and I—with the You first every time.” These words express the theme of Philip Barry’s prize play which was produced by the senior class, April 16.

The problem of deciding between marriage and a career is not a new one, but this time it is a boy who must make the decision. Twenty-one years ago his father had had to make the same decision. In spite of his happy marriage, the father has always cherished a longing to paint. His son’s desire to become an architect awakens old memories. Has he been happy all these years? Nancy, his wife, recognizing the seriousness of the situation, persuades him to give up business and devote his time to painting.

After nine months Matey discovers the artistic life to have financial disadvantages and often disappointments, especially when his portraits prove to have merely commercial “human interest appeal” rather than artistic value. Soon he realizes that “Love is a weakness—in an artist” when Ricky’s career and happiness are at stake. Matey returns to business as a triumphant failure. “The happiness of a man’s family,” thus Matey philosophizes, “can mean much more to him than painting. Habit has a way of changing destinies,” even for You and I.

One of the outstanding dramatic productions of the year was the Theatre Arts League's presentation of Henrik Ibsen's "A Doll's House." Marking one of the heaviest pieces of work attempted in Kearney College for a number of years, the drama was enthusiastically received by an unusually appreciative audience. Those theatre-goers who attended the performance praised highly the skillful interpretation of the actors, all of whom were enrolled in the Junior College.

Many interesting features added to the splendid characterizations of the actors in making the play a finished piece of stage work. Chief among these will be remembered the beautiful lighting effects back stage and the charm of Nora's three small children.

The theme and development of "A Doll's House" attracts all lovers of good drama. Nora—the doll, the plaything—realizes that living in a doll's house may be care-free, but that it does not satisfy. Why shouldn't she be allowed to think, to realize that higher "duty to herself?" Her final decision to leave children, home, husband in an effort to discover whether she or the world is right, aroused the sympathy of her audience just as it did of those audiences who first heard this cry for woman's freedom.

Central Nebraska Choral Union.

Mrs. L. M. Stearns	President

PROFESSOR LOUIS H. DIERCKS, instructor of voice at Kearney State Teachers College and acting head of the music department of that institution, has during his several years residence in Kearney, worked unceasingly toward a higher standard of music not only in the college, but in the entire community.

For some time Professor Diercks has visioned the organization of a community chorus, and early in the fall of 1929, presented his plan to representatives of Kearney civic clubs and officials of the city schools, Kearney State Teachers College and the Kearney Drama League.

The plan was well received, and immediate steps were taken to perfect a permanent organization. By-laws were adopted, officers were elected and the Central Nebraska Choral Union took its place in the community during the month of October.

A Board of Managers, consisting of representatives of all civic clubs, the city schools, the local drama league, the college and seven members elected at large from the active membership, has charge of all business pertaining to the activities of the organization.

The Choral Union is composed of musical clubs in Central Nebraska and has a large active and sustaining membership. It arranges programs during the year for the communities represented, both musical and dramatic, and each spring conducts a musical competition between church choirs, musical clubs and glee clubs. It has its own little symphony orchestra.

Professor Diercks is very ably directing the chorus of two hundred and fifty voices, which requires a great deal of time and effort—compensated only by his desire to promote good music.

There are eight rural schools affiliated with the college. These schools afford observation and practice teaching opportunities for prospective teachers of rural schools. Few teachers colleges have as complete a system for the purpose, for here almost every small community situation in Nebraska is represented both as to the day school and as to community activities.

These schools are administered jointly by the school boards and the director of rural education of the college. In this way model standards are obtained; that is, proper curriculum, proper child management, first class instructors, and proper environment are all maintained. It naturally follows that these schools afford the very best of situations in which to train teachers, for they are both natural and efficient situations. One doing his practice teaching in one of these schools proceeds in matters of management and instruction just as he will when he goes out into the field and into his own school.

Approximately one hundred twenty-five prospective rural teachers have done practice teaching in these schools, as well as much observation, during the present school year. To have done so must surely give a feeling of confidence to many, if not all. Many of the young ladies were never in a rural school until such time as they appeared to do this practice teaching or observation. To give experiences so greatly lacking and so much needed seems to be answering the challenge of specialization in training, and proper placement of teachers through training.

The above facts are not presented so much in a spirit of justification for this system of rural teacher training schools, but as a matter of information to those who may be interested.

The Women's League was organized in the autumn of 1921. This organization consists of all women students enrolled in the college. The dues paid by each member form a loan fund. This fund benefits many young women by making it possible for them to attend college. In addition, seventy-five dollars has been contributed to the Harriet Sutton Memorial Organ Fund. The Women's League endeavors to promote the larger social activities throughout the year.

Each year the Women's League makes some contribution to the school. These gifts have been attractive pictures, the tea service, drapes for the office of the dean of women, linen, furnishings for the "Stexy," seats for the lawn, and one hundred dollars for the stage curtains.

At the programs each month interesting problems are discussed.

The Council of the Women's League consists of the four executive officers and representatives from various organizations of the school. This council meets with the dean of women each month to help plan the monthly meetings and the all-school social events of the quarter.

Alumni Association.

OFFICERS.

Alice M. Robinson	President
William L. Nicholas	Vice President
Dorothy Williams	Corresponding Secretary
Carrie E. Ludden	Recording Secretary
Katherine Major	Treasurer

The Alumni Association of the State Normal School and Teachers College at Kearney was organized in 1906. It consists of two thousand four hundred thirty-eight members who have received the Junior College Diploma, and four hundred thirty-four who have been granted the Bachelor of Arts Degree.

In 1927 the Alumni Association adopted articles of incorporation. The general nature of the business to be transacted shall be the promotion of the influence of the Nebraska State Normal School and Teachers College at Kearney; the increase of the number of its students and graduates; the development of plans for the usefulness of the State Teachers College Placing Bureau and the welfare of alumni. Any one can become a member by purchasing one or more shares of preferred stock having a par value of five dollars. An alumnus of this school may become a life member of the Association by purchasing one share of common stock.

For a number of years the Association has been sponsoring the Harriet Sutton Memorial Pipe Organ Fund. This fund has been steadily increasing and the members of the Association have been working hard and faithfully until now, we are happy to say, the organ has become a reality. The organ will be installed for the Annual Home Coming and Silver Jubilee Celebration, June 19 and 20, 1930. This year marks a milestone in the history of the life and development of Kearney State Teachers College, for it was on June 5, 1905, a quarter of a century ago, that our college opened her doors as the Nebraska State Normal School at Kearney. The faculty and students of the college, the Alumni and the citizens of Kearney are uniting to make these two glorious days long to be remembered by everyone.

To Honor Sophomores 1929-1930

We, the Alumni of K. S. T. C., take pleasure in giving to the four classes of 1929 and 1930 this recognition for their contributions to the Alumni Memorial Organ Fund.

Special recognition is given to the Sophomore class which had the largest percentage of its membership contributing to the organ fund.

We recommend their loyal efforts and hope that the members of this class will extend their leadership throughout their senior college and Alumni days.

Resolved: That, to Afford Stability, the Leg of Nations be Multiplied by Four.

Knowing that this will never be published, and that no eye other than mine will ever see what I write, I find that I have an advantage over other writers and that I am at liberty here to say things that would be unthinkable, if anyone were to read them. If you expect this to be an essay, you are not incorrect; it is one, but in the event you thought it wasn't, there are two of us of the same opinion. You probably never saw another write-up just like it, for I've heard it said (by whom, I wonder?) that Nature never repeats. I am curious, however, as to whether she ever tried writing essays. Too, if you think I'm rather slow getting started, and that I could evidence more dexterity in the handling of my subject, read on and you'll probably find, (although I guarantee no goods after it has been out twenty-four hours) that my intention will "unravel," slowly but surely, even though at times pulling may be necessary. My thread of thought must be got, you see, or there would be no comprehending of my "long line" when my ideas did unravel.

Not denying the foregoing, it's a well known fact that writing, to be really worth while, must have unity, (whatever that is) "so" if you should find, in reading this that there is one of those creatures lurking about, treat it kindly and, wagging its tail before it, the best will come back to you. It's your own fault, however, for you must remember that I said at the beginning I was certain everyone would be reading this, and praising it to the chimney-sweeps. Just see what you've brought on yourself? It reminds me of the Arabian Knights, who charged everything, including enemies and hotel bills. (I fail to remember whether or not there were hotels in those days.) The Arabians' feat smacks, however, of the charge of the Light Brigade, only there were just about six-tenths as many of the Tennysonian Horsemen, if I remember my arithmetic. It may not be to you, but to me it's interesting to compare the leg-length of the Arabian Knights' steed with that on a Nebraska farmer's Dobbin, which is a Detroit Innovation, and seems to furnish a lot to enjoyment to the Earth-earthies while they wrestle it all over our beautifully (?) paved highways. On the foreign animal I find fore feet for the front legs, and that two seems to be the average for the rear ones. Now for the comparison with the Middle-Western Wonder. You will find a detailed comment on that in the October issue, page 431, of the Kearney Afternoon Wasp.

But, to come back to the subject of whether Arnold Bennett will ever succeed Mussolini on the throne of Japan, I never will forget those good old times in Senior Essay. We always attended that hour with pleasure, and went to class habitually with a copy of Minerva's Counsel in one hand, a volume of "Eddie" Neversaydie, the People's Pollyanna Poet, in the other, and in between these, higher up, energetically being toothed, was a package of the slightly-advertised after-dinner mint, Wrigley's. After the instructor had ceased complimenting us upon our discriminating taste in things literary, and we had agreed with him that, as to chewables, perhaps two packages were better than none, we settled down in earnest to a consideration of the most soporific bromides familiar to us. (Not to mention the scratch-paper resulting, we were gratified to receive the voluminous mail from the crowned heads of Europe, telling us how much they enjoyed our program.)

Remembering, furthermore, that variety of sentence is one requisite of a good essay, I have decided that I agree with the Soul of Honesty, when he said that you could tell the distance a man was from the ground if you knew how long his legs were.

One just must use transitional expressions, so please do not be surprised, astonished, astounded, or appalled if you fail to find, somewhere in this essay, one of those peculiar things. As my most enduring contribution to the educative field, I have compiled a list of the best ones and you will find them listed alphabetically in any good dictionary, but here I wish to add a word of warning that, although the New Standard will do in a "pinch," the best results are to be had from one given free with two weeks subscription to Scribner's Magazine. It is rumored, too that this periodical can be had in used condition at any fruit stand, especially after Italians take up Senior Essay.

And then too, just to add to the general informative value, (for you must take something away to be remembered, if it's only the table-service) it is reported that we'll have rain next Thursday morning at three P. M. Nudge me if I forgot to date this essay, for you might want to know when to get that "bumbershoot" "cold-patched." (Or do they have hail-stones in Scandinavia?) Speaking of the weather, did you ever ride over the south end of the Platte River bridge, while at the wheel of a Chevrolet coupe? Neither have I.* Some people aver, however, that there is good fishing in that old river, if you can find a place deep enough to keep the fish from dying of thirst while he takes time to nibble. Not being familiar with such a place, I must refuse to answer, but they do "rear" hawks and corn in Iowa.

As things stand now, mostly on their own feet, I think I'll put at the last, my reason being different "than" for leaving until the first my most "lovely" and "delicious" connectives, such as: Charles, cookie, and yes. 'Most all Freshmen, having a very elementary idea of what a connective is, immediately think of their torso as the bond between the head and feet, and when told to "put themselves into their writing," they imagine that the instructor is emphasizing connectives. Seriously, though, since the antecedent of a pronoun must always be an idea, I don't agree with Mr. Ripley who said that, believe it or not, he could balance nine oranges on one afternoon, his statement being made even more misleading since he failed to specify whether it was A. M. or P. M.

Oh, yes. I use the short paragraph very artistically, for it is always best to use brief ones in an essay, one of seven-hundred words being entirely too short. And then again, I took my pen in hand, (note the figure of speech, for I actually used a pencil) and wrote a "hunnerd 'n six," and "couldn't help but" express my dismay the following Sunday morning when I noticed the empty pew. Since then I have just "loved" olives. "Imagine my embarrassment," furthermore, when I gazed into that "sea of upturned faces" only to discover that whereas I had intended sitting down to a piano, it was in reality a kitchen cabinet before me. There was one remaining thing to comfort me and that was the presence of a flour for my button-hole.

Knowing that, in daze to come, when present-day Freshmen have risen to the eminence of senior English and have "taken the grade with flying colors," they will appreciate what I have attempted myself to write here, and will with many fond and pleasant thoughts read these solemn sentences again, knowing as they do so, that there is priceless truth here recorded and that it must all be taken with an inverted salt-shaker in one hand, and in the other, a Blue and Gold.

PSYCHOLOGISTS TAKE NOTICE.

It is interesting to notice body parts in their relation,

When one part begins to falter, how its mate makes compensation.

When one ear gives way to deafness and its messages grow mute,

Then the other ear, you'll notice, gives one hearing more acute.

If an eye, by chance, gets weaker, then its mate at once is stronger;

When a leg by chance, gets shorter, then the other one is longer.

MIGHTY GOOD GRAIN, THOUGH.

Mr. Olsen—"Boys, we're going to make some wooden beds, the three season kind, you know."

Merle T.—"What are those, Mr. Olsen?"

Mr. O.—"No spring."

Turning Over a New Page in the History of Thrift.

Years ago "economy" had only one meaning—doing without! Today the values you will find in our store have turned over a new page in the history of Thrift, emphasizing Wise Spending as well as Money Savings!

Over a million shoppers pass through our 1,213 stores every week. They place in our hands a purchasing power that enables us to demand the very lowest price the manufacturer is able to make.

Giving you just a little more Style and Wear, without increasing the cost, is our practical application of the Golden Rule.

"Save" is a Little Word
But it Built a Big Business!

Saving our customers money, and yet offering them really good merchandise is the policy that built up our business. It is a question of mountain volume and mole-hill profit.

RUTER'S---The Fashion

Spring just around the corner. And that means new and charming styles just ahead. Women may lose interest in fashion at other seasons of the year, but there's not a woman living who doesn't want a new dress when all nature dolls up in the spring of the year. Realizing this fundamental need of all humanity Ruter's The Fashion, Ladies Outfitting Store, 2123 Central Ave., has made extensive preparations for pleasing its clientele in the 1930 spring season. With a view to matching the particular individualities of particular people, their buyers have selected models of the utmost variety and distinction. If you select your spring costume at Ruter's there will be no danger of your "meeting yourself" when you turn the corner. Nothing so upsets a woman of taste as to meet the duplicate of her gown on the street. Distinction is the watchword of Ruter's The Fashion and we are glad to recommend them to our readers.

NEAT JOB.

A man saw an advertisement of a safety razor with an automatic attachment for resharpening blades. He wrote to the company: Gentlemen—Enclosed find check for which please send me one of your new scientific safety razors.

Very respectfully yours,

P. S. I forgot to enclose the check, but I presume that it will make no difference to a company of your standing.

Company's reply: Dear Mr. Blank—Enclosed find your safety razor. We hope it will give you good service.

Very truly yours,

P. S. We forgot to enclose the razor, but we presume that a man with your cheek won't need one.

He called his wife Bon Ami. They had been married only three days, and she had not even scratched him yet.

Jones—"Did you hear about the murder?"

Slim G.—"No, who was killed?"

Ray—"The paper hanger hung a border and when they tried to investigate they found it was only a rumor."

Nazer to Foster (Foster on the other end of an oboe)—"What key are you playing in, Darrell?"

Darrell F.—"Skeleton key."

Darrell—"Sure, fits anything."

MODERN PROGRESS.

Miss Beuter—"What are you working for?" What does "X" represent?"

Sidney B.—"It stands for the spot where the body was found."

Kenneth B.—"Easy. Lower it from the top by a string and measure the string."

"Because," replied the youngster, "Whenever I ask dad to get me anything, he always says, 'Wait 'til your uncle croaks, Tommy'."

NOT THE KIND WE GET.

"That's Bill Fligh, the aviator. He's the guy that used to write ads in the sky in smoke."

"Isn't he doing that any more?"

"No, had to give it up. He got writer's cramp."

KEEP A STIFF UPPER LIP.

Stage Hand (to manager)—"Shall I lower the curtain, sir? One of the livin' statues has the hiccups."

Ptacek—"And what kind of an egg is that?"

Stark—"A base, cowardly egg, Jones, is one that hits you—and then runs."

EFFICIENCY.

A new safety bumper for motor cars consists of a pliable guard-rail so arranged that when a pedestrian is struck, two arms draw the person on to a canvass stretcher, thus saving time for the undertakers, and not jarring the motorist at all.

Two friends, after many years, met in mid-air.

"Fancy meeting you here, A. J. I'm falling from my little two-seater."

"Zat so?" Well, I'm just rising from my gas tank!"

HOT STUFF.

A shipwrecked mariner had just arrived on the cannibal island of Compah, and was making some rather nervous inquiries.

"Was that last missionary you had here a good man?" he asked.

"Pretty good," replied the chief, picking his teeth reflectively.

IMAGINE THAT.

Mr. Apel—"I'm letting you out ten minutes early today. Please go out quietly so as not to wake the other classes."

"How did you get to know your second husband?"

"Oh, it was he who ran over my first one in his motor."

Young Woman—"Could I see the captain?"

Quiggle—"He's forward, miss."

Young Woman—"Oh, I don't mind; I've been out with college boys."

Dear Miss Fairfacts—"I snore so that I wake myself up. What shall I do?"

Newspaper Oracle—"Try sleeping in the next room."

COWSLIP.

Miss O'C.—"Take this sentence: 'Take the cow out of this lot.' What mood?"

Witty—"The cow."

Miss Stromquist—"Did you pick your teeth?"

One of Miss Ludden's Students—"No, they came by themselves."

Another Scotchman was editor of a magazine. He was so tight he wouldn't even give a writer a rejection slip.

Don't care about books,
Just care about my looks,
Gotta' see my man,
For I love him all I can.

A fairer girl is hard to find
"A singing lark," "A playful squirrel."
The wisest one, with dearest ways,
A charming, vivid, Beadle girl.

If he grins from ear to ear,
If his Mildred's always near,
That's Chick!
If he's blonde as blonde can be,
If he knows all whom you see,
That's Chick.
If his line is always gay
If you give him his own way,
Why you know Chick.

AND THEN HE TOOK SENIOR ESSAY.

Garage Man—"Whatcha tryin' to do, wean it?"

HIS NOM DE GUERRE.

The man who is taking statistics for the new city directory approaches a movers' home in the suburbs. At the doorway stands a stout, determined-looking lady.

"Madam," he says, "my call is official. I am compiling statistics on the inhabitants in this part of our city. Might I ask what your name is?"

"Duffy—Honorio Duffy."

"And your husband's name?"

"Naturally it's the same as me own—Duffy."

"I mean his full name."

"Well, when he's full he thinks it's Jack Dempsey, but when I lay me hands on him it's still Duffy."

TOO CLOSE.

A negro went into a bank down South to get a check cashed. He stood in line a long time, and finally his turn came. Just as he got to the window the teller put up a sign: "The Bank is Busted."

Chocolate—"What do you mean, the bank is busted?"

Teller—"Well, it is, that's all; it's busted—didn't you ever hear of a bank being busted?"

THE SCOTCH WOULDN'T BE THAT WAY.

Several Americans and an Englishman were touring the Pacific coast in an automobile. The Americans were much amused at a road-side sign which read:

"Three miles to San Francisco. If you can't read, ask the blacksmith."

When nearing San Francisco, the Englishman burst out laughing, saying that he had just caught the joke. When the American asked what it was, he said: "Suppose the blacksmith wasn't at home?"

WHERE THEY GO.

The head of the firm caught the office boy telling falsehoods.

"I'm surprised at you!" he said. "Do you know what they do with boys who tell lies?"

"Yes, sir," was the reply, "When they get old enough the firm sends them out as traveling salesmen."

FAIR ENOUGH.

Optimistic Hubby—"Your bread is all right, dear, but it's not as light as mother's."

The Other Half—"Well, if it comes to that, I might add that your roll is lighter than dad's."

NOT UNUSUAL.

Mrs. T.—"Self help! He doesn't need any instructions in that line—you ought to see him at a party."

HIGH PRAISE.

"Pretty! Say, when she gets on a street car, the advertising is a total loss."

SPEAKING OF ADS.

Jonah's whale had a streak of luck and pulled in a customer without publicity, but it is recorded that he couldn't hold the trade.

A HINT TO THE HENS.

Abbie, the little girl of the family, was seated at the breakfast table one morning. As usual, eggs were served.

Either she was not hungry or had grown tired of the bill-of-fare, for very earnestly and soberly she remarked:

"I do wish hens would lay something besides eggs."

STARTING RIGHT.

Student—"And what is that lad of yours going to be when he grows up?"

Mr. Arnold—"I rather fancy he'll be a golf caddy."

Student—"Really?"

IN PRETTY DEEP.

A small negro boy went to a physician to be treated for a painful sensation in one of his ears. Upon examination, the ear was found to be full of water.

"How did it happen?" He was asked, after his ear had been drained.

"Been going in swimming?"

"Naw, suh," said the little fellow, "Been eatin' watermelon!"

ANOTHER ROMANCE BLASTED.

Little Miss Gwendolyn was discoursing affably with the rich widower who was quite interested in her mother.

"If I send you a doll," said Mr. Richingdon, "should it have golden hair like yours?"

Gwendolyn—"Oh, no; the next doll I get must have hair like mama's—to take off and put on."

WHAT WAS IT? A MYSTERY.

SPRING CLEANING.

As the rich man was motoring through a country district, he noticed an old man seated outside a cottage with all his furniture around him.

"Poor old soul," the visitor said, stopping his car and giving the old gentleman a bank-note. "What's the trouble, evicted I suppose?"

"No, sir," was the mournful reply, "it's just my old woman whitewashing."

When Homer smote his bloomin' lyre
 He smote his way to fame,
 But many million simple souls
 Have never heard his name.

 And smites it o'er the fence,
 His homer makes the Grecian one
 Resemble thirty cents.

"Water has killed more people than liquor ever did."
"You are raving," declared the teetotaler.
"How do you make that out?"
"Well, to begin with there was the flood!"

DID YOU KNOW?
While a shooting party was out for a day's sport a raw young sportsman was observed taking aim at a pheasant running along the ground.

As it is unsportsmanlike to shoot a bird while it is on the ground, a companion shouted: "Hi, there, never shoot a running bird!"

"What do you take me for, you idiot?" came the reply. "Can't you see I'm waiting till it stops?"

Flight.

Fly on,—O Bird-Men!
With the vivid vastness overhead
And the dark world beneath.
The gray sea beckons, cold siren of fate
Luring to her triumph, or to yours.
And though the fate of Icarus befall thee,
Turn not,—but fly for glory of the flight
And flying!

Fly on—O Young Men!
Though all the path lies dim before
And the fruitful past behind.
The long years beckon, their flight is on;
The future brings the gain.
Though oft you'll sometimes count the loss
Cringe not,—but fight for glory of your life
And living!
