dedication . . .

to those earnest students of kearney state college, who recognize the necessity for higher education and who realize the resulting opportunities, this book is sincerely dedicated.

progress . . .

. . . is the key word at kearney state college. the latest concrete expression of this is the new vocational arts building, built at a cost of $800,000 and completed last august. classes in commerce, industrial arts, and home economics are held in the new building, and the most modern of equipment is available to the students. formally dedicated on september 30, the new vocational arts building heralds the things to come.

administration

the administrators of nebraska state college at kearney have a personal interest in the welfare of the students. they endeavor to carry out a program as stated in the compiled statutes of nebraska, " . . . to prescribe for the . . . college such courses of instruction as will best fit such persons . . . and their instruction in the arts and sciences generally."

herbert l. cushing

this marks the twentieth year of service that president cushing has given the college. a graduate of grand island college and the university of nebraska, the president is ever interested in the individual welfare of kearney state students, and the progressive growth of the college.

president cushing pauses by a cluster of his favorite roses on a stroll through the campus.

the dean of instruction

dr. leo thomas is dean of instruction and professor of education. he received his b.s. from kearney state college, and his m.a. and doctor of education degree from the university of wyoming.

the board of education

members of the board of education of state normal schools are: inset, free-man b. decker, commissioner of education and ex-officio member of the board; main picture, left to right, a. d. majors, omaha; ralph m. carhart, wayne; e. albin larson, board secretary, lincoln; everett l. randall, 1955 president, kearney; mrs. haven smith, chappell; bernard spencer, nebraska city; and bruce hagemeister, hemingford.

bernhard f. stutheit is the dean of student personnel services. b.s., a.m., university of nebraska, graduate student university of colorado, university of nebraska.

jean m. petitt is associate dean of student personnel services. a.b., the university of chattanooga, m.a., middlebury college, ph.d., vanderbilt university.

the student council

the weekly meetings of the student council are held in the blue and gold room of the student union, with president dean wise presiding.

along with the honor of being a council member goes a great deal of responsibility. council members strive to strengthen the cordial relationship among students and between faculty and students. they study and attempt to solve, for the benefit of all students, the various problems that arise during the course of the school year. the council welcomes all students to present their problems at an actual meeting of the group.

the student council is responsible for numerous campus activities, including homecoming, the all-college dance, bronco days, and other activities.

each spring calls forth an election for membership in this top-ranking organization. the student body selects fifteen members from a list of petitioned candidates who have attained the rank of fifteen semester hours of college work.

miss dorothy klein and mr. del danker are faculty sponsors.

chic reicks, treasurer; mr. del danker, sponsor; doyle howitt, vice-president; dean wise, president; miss dorothy klein, sponsor; lucille anderson, secretary.

vocational arts

completed last august, the new $800,000 vocational arts building houses the industrial arts, vocational home economics, and commerce departments. the building is equipped with the newest and most modern equipment available. a large food laboratory, textile room, commerce classrooms, and shops for industrial arts are housed in the spacious new building, as well as a small auditorium and a child-development center. the home economics department is the most modern and completely equipped in the midwest. modern kitchens and the latest in homemaking equipment are available to the home economics students. centrally-located offices and separate labs are features of the commerce department.

improvements in the industrial arts department are better lighting, more room, and quieter working conditions.

the new building, with its latest equipment and the most modern of features, is on a par with any such building on any campus in the state.

students ed piskorski and marvin richardson visit a mobile machine shop, accompanied by vocational arts department head otto olsen, second from right, and mr. messman.

completed last summer, the vocational arts building houses the most modern equipment for industrial arts, vocational home economics, and commerce. among the many facilities included are an auditorium and a child development center.

courses in education are for all students who are planning to enter the various fields of teaching, so that they may go out into the communities of the state and apply the educational principles that have proved best throughout the development of the history of education.

the department strives to develop in each student the ability to make for himself a philosophy of education that will meet the needs in the teaching field of his choice.

there is an ever-increasing demand for well-prepared teachers. to meet this demand, the placement bureau gives gratis service to school officials seeking teachers.

a program of follow-up on teachers who have been placed is maintained by the bureau, to ascertain the success of students and to give them the benefit of whatever help the college can offer during their early teaching careers. all student teaching is assigned and supervised by the bureau.

each semester, the placement bureau offers many students teaching opportunities. shown discussing a position are anne underwood and del danker, head of the bureau.

prospective teachers, supervisors, and administrators receive the opportunity to study teaching under actual conditions in the a. o. thomas training school. the school is organized and conducted so as to provide the best educational opportunities for the girls and boys privileged to attend. a staff of highly trained and experienced supervisors, each of whom has demonstrated superior ability in his field, conduct the training school.

many important experiments are performed in the chemistry laboratory. here, dr. fox, department head, and jerry wetovick are shown considering such an experiment.

the physical science division prepares teachers in subject matter and in methods for the teaching of mathematics, physics, chemistry, and general science, in addition to giving a background for effective teaching in biology, home economics, geography, and music. the division also offers pre-professional work in mathematics, chemistry, and physics for those preparing for professional careers in medicine, dentistry, and nursing. in addition, the study of these courses serves students who plan to take up aviation or other phases of governmental service.

a buffalo-beef barbeque was part of homecoming festivities last october. "chefs" were faculty members elmer beckman, william king, bernhard stutheit, and donald fox. approximately 1,200 persons attended the barbeque, held north of the student union.

the golden anniversary of kstc was the theme for homecoming this year. held at an earlier date, october 1, the day was crowded with festivities. fraternal breakfasts were held in the morning, with a parade preceding the football game with wesleyan, and a dance at the 1733 ballroom in the evening. robin croissant was elected homecoming queen by the student body, and was crowned by president herbert l. cushing at half-time.

copping first place in the float parade was phi tau gamma fraternity, with their float depicting "gate to golden opportunity." delta pi beta won second place, and caledonian fraternity third.

sigma theta phi took second place in the display contest. first place went to women's athletic association, but the display was torn down before a picture could be taken.

coach zikmund is carried off the field by members of the football squad, after the 21-6 victory over wesleyan college. 52 men saw action in the exciting game.

the annual mardi gras festival opened with a variety of concessions and ended with a dance in the student union where dayne smith and ardyce carroll were crowned king and queen. candidates for royalty were chosen by the organizations that entered a concession in the ywca-sponsored carnival, and were then selected by popular student vote kappa pi art fraternity offered caricature sketches, ywca sold hats, phi tau gamma presented a stage show, the naiads held a water show, independent students association called their booth a candle squirt, zeta chi alpha sponsored a rose tree, and collecon ran a lunch cafe.

although costumes were not mandatory, prizes were awarded to the most original, comical and prettiest entries.

many hours are spent by students on the staffs of the blue and gold and the antelope, in order to produce superior student publications. the service given is often rewarded only by an occasional by-line, and the feeling of accomplishment.

the blue and gold

much careful planning and hard work has gone into this year's blue and gold, to make it a successful publication. efforts, such as the modernistic cover and the printing in lower case, were made to make the book different and interesting, and to reflect the mood of progress that is prevalent on the modern campus.

editor pat roucis and business manager larry johnson selected their staffs, which worked long and hard. dick abraham designed the cover and division layouts, donna brink served as assistant editor, and dean jelden was sports editor. freshman photographer bob moline took almost all the pictures in the book.

among the new features in the yearbook are sub-division pages, different division groupings, and the selection of a senior girl as blue and gold queen, by a board of faculty men.

dick abraham, left, works on art layouts. he also designed the modernistic cover. dean jelden worked hard as sports editor, assisted by donna brink.

editor pat roucis and assistant editor donna brink plan the general layout. they are shown in the new office location in the vocational arts building.

second semester editor, charlie jenkins, left, confers about makeup with first semester editor, bob fair. the two editors gave much time and hard work in publishing the antelope every week.

"moved to the industrial arts building." that's how the sign read, and that's exactly what happened. the antelope office in the new building came to enjoy a never-before-heard-of spaciousness.

all the members of the antelope staff worked hard during the past year, but none knew the headaches of publishing the college newspaper better than the editors.

bob fair guided the weekly growth of each edition during the first semester. he was succeeded at the beginning of the second semester by his assistant editor, charles jenkins.

among the columnists for the paper were dee thiel, "ho, ho," charles jenkins, "look what i found," and clifford lowell, "next to nothing." bill hauff served as business manager. robert thorp, secretary of publicity, was advisor for the paper.

business manager for the year was bill hauff, shown doing part of his lengthy bookwork.

performance

excitement over a football game inspires fred kempf and ardyce carroll in this scene from the play.

time out for ginger

a broadway comedy success, "time out for ginger," was the first play of the season on the kearney stage. presented the first of december, the cast included both old and new actors.

fred kempf played the part of the harrassed father; ardyce carroll portrayed his long-suffering wife; lu tucker, barbara viren, and donna harris were the three daughters; and charles jenkins, bill boyd, valetta hunse, dale black, and paul peister added their bit to the comedy.

mr. richard welsbacher, with neva zimmerman assisting, produced and directed the comedy hit.

tense performers apply makeup opening night. the largest house in three years applauded the broadway hit.

"carousel," rogers and hammerstein's famous musical comedy, was a first of its kind for the departments of music and dramatics. the production ran for three successive nights in january on the stage of the college auditorium.

the cast of eighty and the orchestra were under the dual direction of william lynn and richard welsbacher. the major cast was supported by the choraleers and a pit orchestra.

linda larsen sang the soprano lead as julie jordan, opposite andy tetzlaff as billy bigelow. supplying the counter romance were doris davis as carrie piperidge, and her bespoken, don auble, as enoch snow. ardyce carroll played the role of mrs. mullen, the owner of the carousel. joyce bishop played the good-natured nettie, and larry collison portrayed the villainous jigger. the townsfolk who joined in the clambake were the entire group of choraleers.

linda larsen, andy tetzlaff, and ardyce carroll are shown in a poignant moment during "carousel."

the large cast of "carousel" are pictured below during the opening carnival scene. the major cast and the supporting choraleers were comprised of eighty persons.

the caine mutiny court martial an all-male cast of 19 acted in "the caine mutiny court martial," a dramatization of the pulitzer prize-winning novel by herman wouk. given in the college auditorium the nights of march 15 and 16, the cast contained seasoned actors as well as several newcomers.

the reluctant defense attorney, greenwald, was portrayed by mike moles, and richard welker had the part of maryk, the defendant. captain queeg was played by thane hascall, challee, the prosecuting attorney, by william siebke, and blakely, head of the prosecuting board, by william shiltz.

the choraleers, a select group of singers picked for their excellent voices, are pictured above. the group made the annual spring tour to surrounding nebraska towns.

members of the choraleers had the opportunity to be part of a "first" at kstc this year. the group was a major part of the rogers and hammerstein production, "carousel," which was given for three house-filling nights in january.

the annual spring tour is always looked forward to by the choraleers, and as usual was entertaining for both performers and audiences.

college band—shown above is the kearney state college band, with director dr. angelo cucci. the year included a full schedule of concert and other activities.

under the direction of new director dr. angelo cucci, the kearney state teachers college band collaborated with the wagoneers to present outstanding half-time shows during the football season. led by drum major don mason, the band provided excellent spirit-rousing routines set to music for every pigskin contest on the home field. in their flashy west point uniforms, the band represented a colorful as well as musical spectacle for all audiences whether at a game, during a parade, on tour, or at a formal concert.

concert activities included the regular agenda of concerts, and an informal sight-reading clinic for music teachers in the surrounding area. the annual spring tour climaxed the band's activities, with the home concert as a finale. this year's band officers who assisted with the many duties accompanying the maintenance of the band were bill larsen, business manager; ron peister and dewaine alcorn, student conductors; and arlene foster and joyce mitchell, librarians.

college choir

mr. william lynn is director of the college choir.

beginning immediately in the fall, the college acapella choir studied, rehearsed and listened to the music of handel's famed "messiah." under the direction of mr. william lynn, the choir and members of local church choirs presented the "messiah" as their annual christmas program.

because of the complications of moving such a large group, the choir was discontinued for second semester to give more rehearsal hours to the choraleers, who went on tour as a representative group.

kearney's symphony orchestra has taken great steps to provide the college, town, and surrounding area audience with very notable and worthwhile music by the great composers.

among its outstanding concerts was the midwinter concert with tenor soloist william mcgrath. since the symphony's all-french program was such a success, this year the orchestra presented an all-american concert as a tribute to the american composer and the winner of the annual young artist audition. under the direction of leroy bauer, the symphony, a member of the american symphony orchestra league, incorporated, consists of the finest local and surrounding area musicians.

any composer should be pleased with the handling of his symphony or any orchestration by the kearney symphony orchestra. these excellent concerts and guest soloists have lent an incentive for progress and growth, which applies to the growing audiences as well.

the wagoneers is an organization providing an opportunity for students to participate in a special activity emphasizing precision drills and popular dance routines. the organization helps to show the pep, vigor, and friendliness of kstc by serving as guides, pep squads, and by furnishing half-time entertainment for athletic functions and other special programs. this year's concert group consists of twenty-four, with a teaching staff of two. miss dorothy orcutt is sponsor. president is rosie berggren.

many organizations, both honorary and social, serve to promote participation in activities and a good social life among the students on campus. these organizations help to foster the friendly, informal atmosphere that makes kstc known as the "friendly college."

pi omega pi

highlighted by its annual commerce majors' dinner in december and a successful field trip to omaha in march, pi omega pi this year continued its activities for business education students. monthly meetings, sponsored by miss ockinga, mr. jester, and mr. welch, provided social activity and an opportunity to review and discuss current problems of business education.

sigma tau delta

the english fraternity recorded a successful year for 1955-56. three events occupied the agenda of sigma tau delta. the november meeting highlighted a lecture by miss clara johnson, who spoke to the group about thanksgiving origins and customs.

the annual formal christmas banquet concluded 1955. members enjoyed a folk program by mr. and mrs. richard welsbacher, and words of advice from mr. c. t. ryan, the fraternity sponsor.

sigma tau delta was host fraternity this year for the spring inter-honorary-fraternity banquet, held march 24 in the crystal room of the fort kearney hotel.

the delta arrow was aimed high as the girls in white planned for another successful year to add to their history.

the year was off to a good start when robin croissant was crowned homecoming queen. their huge, yellow birthday cake won the deltas second place in the float contest. the deltas also held their annual alumni homecoming brunch, which rounded out a successful golden anniversary homecoming.

the highlight of the year was the holly ball, one of the sorority's main events, which was attended by two-hundred and fifty guests. miss roberts, sorority sponsor, crowned shirley magette as holly queen.

making use of their outstanding dramatic abilities, the deltas presented a pantomime vaudeville show for the mardi gras, which included pantomimes of the most famous recording artists of the 1920's. ardyce carroll proudly reigned as mardi gras queen.

the deltas again participated in the crippled children's lily parade, an annual drive for aid to crippled children, and made their usual christmas contributions to the kearney homes for the aged.

twenty-three eager and enthusiastic girls chose delta pi beta as their sorority. ladonna peterson, a freshman delta pledge, was crowned sweetheart of the freshman class as a result of an election by the students.

other highlights of the year were a pledge tea given by mrs. dillo webster, the reception of the new members at a formal initiation, the annual mother-daughter tea, and the spring cotton ball, which brought the year to a very successful close.

delta pledges: karen lohnstein, ladonna peterson, carol shaffer, elva hermsen, lawanna morgan, donna harris, norma fiebig, marion polski, nancy dick, janet read, alyce sanderman, roselyn jamison. second row: rosemary mchargue, sandra acker, donna siebler, carolyn peterson, linda campbell, kendra winans, alice musil, karen kemptner, sharon ruebeck, sharon large, doris davis.

the "candles of the triangle" representing the sigma theta phi sorority glowed especially bright during the year, and revealed that the meaning of sigma theta phi continues to be an inspiration leading to achievement and success.

homecoming was celebrated with a brunch given by the alumni in honor of the actives. western decorations provided the setting for the annual ranch dance, the pre-rush party. sigmas were kept busy at the mardi gras with the traditional "sigma grams."

the highlight of the year was preference day. thirty-nine girls stated their preference for sigma theta phi. the sigma "sweetheart" was revealed at the butterfly ball in the spring. closing the activities for another year was the picnic, the mother's day tea at martin hall, and a breakfast given in the honor of seniors. officers for the year were: shirley johnson, president; lexie clark, first semester vice-president; donna brink, second semester vice-president; shirley denman, secretary; alice johnson, treasurer; zoe tucker, rush chairman; genevieve graff, news reporter; berneice ecklund, historian, linda larsen, chaplain, leora rippen, chorister, jane king choir director. miss clara ockinga is sponsor.

members of the zeta chi alpha sorority once more exemplified the meaning of their chain-friendship, leadership, and knowledge.

homecoming events for all zeta actives and returning alumni were inaugurated by the breakfast given by the sorority at the hotel fort kearney. the zeta float, "horn of plenty," in the fiftieth anniversary homecoming parade depicted the fruitful products of the college during the past half century.

the sharing spirit of christmas prompted the members of the sorority to donate gifts to a needy family in the city as a yuletide project of good will.

the climax of the year was the annual cinderella ball, attended by about one hundred and fifty guests. dr. failor, sponsor of the sorority, crowned carol rathe as "cinderella of 1956."

thirty-nine girls showed their preference for the zeta sorority at the end of rush festivities. new pledges and actives alike became busy publishing the annual zeta chatter, a semester publication of the organization. the slumber party also ranked high as an enjoyable event in the zeta schedule.

the spring formal dance with the crowning of the "chi guy" and the mother-daughter tea brought to a close the successful year.

the past year has been one filled with successful activity for the members of the caledonian fraternity. one of the first semester highlights was homecoming. the cals had a winning float built around the theme, "the golden past prepares for the future." the annual homecoming banquet held at the kearney country club was attended by almost two hundred active caledonians and alumni members. the pre-rush dance was the last social function of the first semester. more than one hundred couples were present at the crystal ballroom of the fort kearney hotel. miss nadia williams was crowned during intermission as caledonian sweetheart of 1955.

officers for the first semester were: burdette farm, president; jerry meyer, vice-president; burdette moor, secretary; and jack nellson, treasurer.

caledonian activities during the second semester included the annual preference dinner and the bowery ball. twenty-seven men were pledged to the caledonian fraternity at the preference dinner held at brook's steak house. two new sponsors, dr. angello cucci and mr. william king, were made honorary members of the fraternity. guest speaker for this occasion was mr. james knapp, a caledonian alumnus. the bowery ball was an important event for caledonians and their dates.

officers for the second semester were: dewaine alcorn, president; george morgan, vice-president; don jardon, secretary; and harry gross, treasurer.

the year 1955-56 was historic and busy for the phi phi phi fraternity. it was historic in that it was the beginning of the third fraternity on the college campus. sixteen charter members worked hard and long to make sure that their brotherhood would be one of great significance.

president for this first year was duane wolfe, dale falter was elected vice-president, richard harrington secretary, and gene armstrong treasurer.

the pre-rush dance was held january 6 in the college cafeteria. the theme of the dance was a hobo hop and those attending dressed accordingly. clark yanda was crowned king ho and sharon darling was queen bo.

after the tri phi smoker, held at cotton mill lake lodge, nineteen men pledged phi phi phi at the preference dinner held at brookes steak house. pledgeship began immediately after the dinner and ended with the pledges going through "help" week activities.

other activities included, hay rides, serenades, hour dances and the last big social function of the year, the tri phi spring formal. at this formal the sweetheart of phi phi phi was crowned.

pledges: dave faussett, tom carlson, leo wax, verle nelson, bob rassmussen, rex radford, don eversoll, jim titterington, al lewandowski. second row: gary sinnen, roger denney, dick beattie, jim smith, bill gabbert, ray ozane, cliff trump, bob ewald, duane jones, darwin galloway

the golden year of 1955-56 proved to be one of major importance in the history of phi tau gamma. many honors came to the fraternity, the first being announced as the winner of the homecoming float during the golden anniversary celebration.

eight members of the fraternity were elected to the student council during the course of the year.

at the annual rush dance, held in the crystal ballroom of the fort kearney hotel, miss nancy wise was announced as phi tau sweetheart for the year of 1955-56.

thirty-seven pledges took the oath second semester to uphold the traditions, scholarship, and brotherhood which have been the trademark of the fraternity, which is the oldest fraternal organization on the campus.

officers of the fraternity for the year 1955-56 were: gene maxey and charles reicks, chancellor; robert miller and jack king, vice-chancellor; duane shackelford and dayne smith, treasurer; and norris augustine and jim mitchell, secretary; first and second semester in order of placement.

the inter-fraternity-sorority council meets once each month. this year the officers were: president, dwaine alcorn; vice-president, shirley johnson; secretary-treasurer, colleen aspegren; and sponsor, mr. roland welch. the inter-fraternity-sorority council has three main objectives. they are: to promote better feeling between the social fraternities and sororities of the college; to improve and elevate the social life of the campus; and to raise the scholarship of the members of the social fraternities and sororities affiliated with the council. rush week and the entire pledge period are also supervised by the council.

independent student association the independent student association, an organization for all unaffiliated students, began a year of activity on homecoming day. a series of automobiles depicting the progress of fifty years were entered in the parade, winning honorable mention. an alumni banquet was held during homecoming.

a christmas party with gifts preceded the annual christmas crunch, a reception sponsored for freshmen and new students.

the big event of the year was the gypsy trail party, held in february. a leap year party was held in march.

the kearney chapter of the national isa sent two delegates to the regional convention at the university of wyoming in october. a delegation also attended the national convention at austin, texas, in april.

womens league

womens league is the only organization on campus in which all women are participants. the league held its monthly meetings, which featured programs including a picnic for freshman girls, a christmas style show, discussion groups, talks, a surprise package party, a spring picnic, and a mother-daughter tea.

the league offers a scholarship to a woman student who will teach in the secondary field. a student loan fund is also part of the benefits given by the league. the officers for the year were: president, zoe tucker; vice-president, arlene foster; secretary, carole anderson; and treasurer, betty lees.

under the able direction of bob rademacher as president, bill boyd as vice-president, charles jenkins as secretary, and jim crowley as treasurer, mens league sponsored many events during the year.

starting the year off with a watermelon feed and party during freshman week, the mens league joined forces with womens league to make it a huge success. as usual, the mens league loan fund furnished some ready cash for some of the men on the campus. in the second semester $100 was added to give it a greater coverage.

containing a membership of all men on campus, mens league, under the sponsorship of dean stutheit, took an active part in campus events. several medals were given to inter-mural leaders in the school athletic scene.

seated: bob rademacher, president; bill boyd, vice-president; back row: jim crowley, treasurer; charles jenkins, secretary; and dean bernhard stutheit, sponsor.

since the close of world war II, this college has been one of the few colleges or universities in the state to offer housing for married veteran students. vets village, now nearly a decade old, has made it possible for married students to find suitable housing facilities at the college.

the vets village council is dedicated to the service of married veteran students. the council is responsible for nearly all the functions and activities of the village.

council members for the year were: doyle howitt, mayor; nick patsios, secretary; martin piskorski; hank amend; gayle johnson; clark reeves; and lewis wright.

womens athletic association this year the womens athletic association provided recreational sports every tuesday night for the members. besides having tournaments in volleyball, such sports as badminton, tennis, softball, swimming and basketball were played.

at the close of the first semester, class tournaments in volleyball were held. in october, waa sponsored a halloween party.

the waa is a member of the athletic federation of college women, along with other state colleges in nebraska. members from kstc attended the all-sports day at wayne state last fall.

in the kstc homecoming display contest, the waa won first prize with the theme "time marches on."

the organization is sponsored by miss dorothy orcutt.

vets organization

the vets organization, although new on campus, has shown a steady growth since its inception in january, 1955. the purpose of the organization is primarily social, but its other functions are a scholarship for a deserving student, and a loan fund for veterans.

several dances are held throughout the year, and one of the social activities of the season is the emerald ball, a dinner dance that will be an annual affair.

members of the group furnished the color guard for each football game, and for the homecoming parade.

the young women's christian association is a society organized to provide opportunities for the study of christian principles, for the development of christian ideals in personal living, for the expression of christian love through service to others, and for the enjoyment of christian fellowship in recreational activities.

the officers for the year were: president, colleene cline; vice-president, ella douglas; secretary, joan thurman; treasurer, marilyn steward.

the ywca sponsors the big-little sister tea during freshman week in september to help the new girls get acquainted.

in december the society presented a special christmas program on the "college half-hour" over station kgfw, from the college radio studio.

because of the scarcity of classrooms, the association found it necessary to sell the furniture in the ywca room, and it was converted into a classroom for handicapped children.

one of the biggest events of the year for the group was the third annual mardi gras, held in february. dayne smith and ardyce carroll were crowned king and queen at the mardi gras dance.

a special award system was set up, whereby all members attending meetings regularly and participating in the programs and projects received a ywca pin, the blue triangle.

front row: donna lee brown, marilyn ricketts, janette hallett, delia garrett, sponsor, arla carlson, winifred linnerson, jean brown, merlyn rahmann. second row: vicki banks, deanna ronne, sheila johnson, shirley abernathy, janet conger, marilyn weber, glenda calvin, karen van camp, delores ronner, janice palmer, pat olson, and jean schepler. third row: maxine caspers, janet lowe, nadine hinton, patricia forell, leota kyes, carmen laguna, sandra spath, janice shaffer, arlene volgamore, marlene peterson, joan miller, and barbara hart. back row: barbara mcroberts, beverly kennedy, lavonne wagner, pat boyer, kathryn mcconnell, donna nickerson, marilyn brodine, shirley woodruff, marilyn jackson, and susan day.

antelopes win first ncc championship the 1955 football season was climaxed when the antelopes defeated midland 21-7, clinching their first ncc championship since the conference was organized in 1946. the ability of the antelopes to score, when the chips were down, against midland, characterized the antelope plays all season. they played like champions when they broke a 7-7 deadlock late in the final half that stemmed from a 70 yard play from scrimmage by fullback bill bowers. the antelopes had a 6-1 record in conference play, losing only to hastings on the latter's field.

ray adams goes for 17 yards against northern teachers for antelopes' first big gain. teammate jim patsios lays a key block.

kearney made its bowl game debut a success by stunning northern teachers of south dakota, 34-13 in the first annual botany bowl. the win snapped the northern teachers' 16 game winning streak and ended a terrific season for coach allen zikmund's team. the win was typical of the antelopes all season, the secret being the all out team spirit and effort.

zik is carried off the field as antelopes ended a successful season by winning botany bowl.

head football coach allen zikmund was named "nebraska college coach of the year" by the lincoln journal. zikmund (zik) earned this award after guiding the antelopes to their first ncc conference championship and a victory in their post-season bowl game, the botany bowl, in his first year at the helm of the kstc squad. zik guided the antelopes to an 8-2 record and to their first victory over doane on the opponent's field in 21 years and inflicted the first loss to peru on their home field in 5 years. before coming to kearney, zikmund coached at grand island and alliance, producing championship teams at both places.

Ieland copeland, line coach, was one of the main factors in the excellent line displayed by this year's championship football team.

assistant coaches, ed staab and bill shaffer, deserve much credit for the building of kearney's team this year, running their b squad against the varsity in preparation for each game.

kearney opened the '55 season by sneaking by mcpherson, 13-6. the game turned out to be a tight defensive battle, neither team showing much offensive power. the antelopes tasted defeat in their first conference outing at the hands of hastings. the broncos opened their title defense successfully in a game marked by ragged play.

back on the victory trail again the antelopes rose up and smacked down wayne by the score of 75 to 72, in an overtime victory. with the count 70 to 70 at the end of regulation play the antelopes out-scored wayne in the overtime to post the victory.

kearney kept up its winning ways by downing peru 79 to 66. after trailing the first half kearney poured on the coal and steamed to victory.

the antelopes avenged a bitter defeat earlier in the year by stopping midland 86 to 79.

on the road the antelopes ran into a determined wesleyan club and tasted a 50 to 67 defeat. the plainsmen were defending conference champions.

playing heads up ball, kearney downed the high flying chadron eagles 77 to 69. the defeat upset chadron's conference title hopes.

chadron bounced back the next night to defeat the let-down antelopes by the margin of 61-70. the long trip to chadron seemed to show on the antelopes, and they couldn't seem to get going.

intramural basketball

another fine intramural season was climaxed this year by a double elimination tournament. the teams were divided into two leagues due to the large number of entries this year. the top four teams in each league participated in the post-season tournaments. the teams that competed were: american league: no sweats, knights, platters, and saints. national league: jokers, alley cats, crew cuts and loup valley boys. the no sweats defeated the jokers in the finals.
